LAUNCH DRIVE TO 'STOP NITTI'

WILLKIE BALKS AT ANY DEAL ON FOREIGN POLICY

Declines to Commit Self in Advance.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 9 [Special].—The tremendous drive to get public opinion back of a move to release United States destroyers to England, or support other governmental action which might lead to war, washed up against the inhospitable rocks of Wendell L. Willkie's mountain retreat here today.

The Republican Presidential nominee for a second time found it necessary to advise the White House indirectly and interventionists directly that he would enter into no advance commitments or understandings regarding specific acts of foreign policy.

Willkie's latest statement followed a report which he received by telephone today from a Washington friend that a new effort was being made or had been made to commit him to a specific question of foreign policy.

He coupled with this the effort made a week ago to get him to give the President a "clearance" on criticism in the matter of disposing of the destroyers. This effort was made by Archibald MacLeish, librarian of congress, thru a telephone talk with Russell Davenport, Willkie adviser here.

Willkie let MacLeish know that he could assume no responsibility for an act of government which must be decided on information known only to the President.

Nominee Clarifies Position.

In his statement today Willkie said:

"During the course of the last couple of weeks several different persons have communicated with me, some frankly stating that they did not represent the administration, while others left their status in doubt. It was suggested by some of these that it was desired that I enter into certain commitments on specific proposals concerned with the foreign policy of the United States, provided the administration would take certain position with reference thereto. On at least one occasion there were press reports about such communications and I have just learned of another press report on the same subject.

"In order that there may be no possible misinterpretation, I want to make my position quite clear. First of all, my general views on the foreign policy and the vital interests of the United States in the present international situation are well known, having been stated by me publicly several times. As to specific executive or legislative proposals, I do not think it appropriate for me to enter into advance commitments and understandings. If the national administration, thru any of its accredited representatives, publicly takes any given position with reference to our foreign policy, I may on appropriate public occasions comment thereon.

Recalls Roosevelt Action.

"President Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt said to President Herbert Hoover in November, 1932: 'The immediate questions raised create a responsibility which rests upon those now vested with executive and legislative authority.' Much doubt was expressed as to the wisdom of that statement by a President-elect. None can doubt its correctness when taken by a candidate for President.

"May I add at this time in the world's history when democratic government and method is in test, we should be especially careful to keep alive the democratic processes in arriving at governmental policies and acts. The chief executive and congress must bear their appropriate responsibilities and the candidate for President of the United States should reserve to himself an unhampered right of public discussion."

Gives Frank Answers.

To a group of Kansas editors who called on him today Willkie made frank statements on several subjects, and in answer to a question, one on his Wall street connections, he said:

"I occupy no business position and have no business connection of any kind in Wall street or any place else. I do have a small investment in the company of which I was formerly the head. Without boasting, I think I am one of the few men ever nominated for President of the United States without a promise or obligation of any kind with anybody either direct or indirect, contingent, remote or otherwise."

WHITE SOX BEAT TIGERS IN NINTH, 3 TO 2; CUBS LOSE

The White Sox scored in the ninth inning to defeat the Tigers, 3 to 2, before 36,713 in Comiskey park last night. Edgar Smith held Detroit to five hits and struck out 11.

The Pittsburgh Pirates made it eight straight last night when they defeated the Cubs, 6 to 2, before 29,978 in Pittsburgh.

MAYOR KELLY, COURTNEY AID FIGHT ON GANGS

Business Chiefs Tell of Syndicate's Grab.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

A group of modern vigilantes met yesterday in the office of Mayor Kelly. State's Attorney Courtney was present.

Leaders of commerce and industry visited the mayor and the state's attorney for the avowed purpose of cutting the tentacles of the criminal gang which is now squeezing money out of Chicago labor unions and reaching for other unions to squeeze.

The business leaders sought the coöperation of public officials, the former said, primarily to prevent the syndicate composed of former Capone satellites and now headed by Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti from grabbing control of the 25 unions in the labor empire of Mike Carrozzo, who died last Sunday.

Levy Tribute on Industry.

The business men were aroused, they said, over disclosures of the inroads into union labor made by the racketeers who formerly dealt in bootleg beer and whisky, vice, and gambling. These gangsters now are levying tribute on legitimate industry, as well as on gambling, they declared.

The business chiefs stated in blunt language their alarm over the increasing power wielded in union circles by the gangsters. They called upon the elected officials to "stop the Nitti syndicate now."

The mayor's callers charged:

1. That the criminal syndicate is able to exert pressure on several judges.

2. That Chicago contractors have been subjected to extortion by the Nitti gang operating thru the late Mike Carrozzo, who boasted dictatorship over 15,000 union workmen.

3. That Danny Stanton, lieutenant of Nitti, reigns over several unions, gives orders to ward committeemen, and defies police to close any of his chain of gambling houses.

4. That the Nitti gang's shotgun control of gambling houses has served to increase their contempt for law and order.

5. That the Nitti-Stanton gang was responsible for bribing juries in vote stealing cases and that Stanton was a prime mover in the defense of accused jury fixers in a recent trial. The votes supplied by the Nitti-Stanton forces formed the trading material that cemented an alliance between politics and crime, the mayor was told.

Coöperation Is Pledged.

After the meeting the business men reported that Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Courtney offered hearty coöperation and promised immediate "action." It was learned that the action agreed upon by all the conferees includes the following:

City and county authorities are to be asked to refuse to transact any business with any union officials believed to be in alliance with or under orders of the Nitti-Stanton group.

The city council is to be asked to pass an ordinance preventing the recognition of any alleged union leader who has not come up from the ranks of labor. The county board is to be asked to do the same.

Seek to Halt Shakedowns.

The council is to be asked to pass an ordinance requiring all unions composed of city employés to keep books and submit them to public audits.

A police detail which would devote its time and energy to the activities of Nitti, Stanton, Murray Humphreys, Johnnie Moore, alias Claude Maddox, and other known members of the syndicate was recommended to the mayor.

"These leaders met with me as the result of a long standing invitation," Mayor Kelly said.

"When the public starts talking about bad conditions, the public wins."

Among those who called on Mayor Kelly were Oscar Mayer, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce; W. Homer Hartz, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association; Bertram J. Cahn, president of the Chicago Crime commission; Gordon Hostetter, executive director of the Employers' association; Leverett Lyon, executive director of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Crime commission.

U. S. Plane Purchasing Bogs Down

WHEN WINTER COMES

ONLY 33 CRAFT ORDERED DESPITE FUNDS FOR 4,081

Tax Fears Blamed; Defense Heads Urge Action.

2,900 Planes to Britain

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—The British purchasing commission disclosed today that 2,900 American airplanes already had been delivered to Great Britain. The commission estimated at $2,000,000,000 the value of war orders already placed by Great Britain in the United States. It said the figure might even exceed that amount with orders filed for 11,000 airplanes, including the 2,900 already delivered, amounting to nearly $1,200,000,000.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson admitted before a joint congressional tax hearing today that only 33 military airplanes have been contracted for after seven weeks of national defense activity.

During June congress appropriated approximately 400 million dollars for 4,081 army airplanes, engines, and accessories.

[How federal red tape has snarled airplane makers' production, was disclosed by a Curtiss-Wright accounting expert yesterday. Story on page 19.]

Face New Debt Boost.

A joint hearing of the house ways and means and senate finance committees considering excess profits tax legislation which affects the national defense program, also heard these other startling developments:

1. William S. Knudsen, production coördinator on the national defense advisory commission, said that the present program to equip a potential army of 2,000,000 men will not be completed before the middle of 1944.

2. The nation faces another debt increase of 9 billion dollars or more to finance the 14.7 billion dollar defense program. This does not cover the costs entailed in the compulsory military training and National Guard bills now before congress.

3. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. again revised the budget estimate for 1941 to predict a deficit of 5.7 billion dollars, compared with the 2.9 billion dollar deficit forecast by President Roosevelt last January in his budget message. Expenditures are now estimated at more than 12 billions for the year against an earlier estimate of 8.4 billions.

Seek Tax Solution.

Stimson, Morgenthau, Knudsen, and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Lewis Compton appeared before the combined committees. They were supporting legislation, backed by the treasury and the congressional tax committees, to impose a tax of 25 to 40 per cent on excess profits, allow amortization of defense plant expansion costs over a period of five years or less, and lift the profit limitations of the Vinson-Trammell act as regards warplane and warship contracts.

Stimson's admission that the defense program has bogged down was tied in with a plea for prompt enactment of the pending tax legislation. The 33 planes which the army has bought compare with President Roosevelt's stated goal of 50,000 military planes, and the army's hope of getting at least 24,591 planes by Oct. 1, 1941. The army now has only 2,700 planes, of which only a few are modern.

The secretary of war, an interventionist who supported the sale of United States military and naval equipment to the allies, claimed neither the army, the defense commission, nor industry was at fault in the delays in signing contracts.

Blames Tax Uncertainty.

"It is this element of uncertainty in respect to the industry's right quickly to amortize its investments in expanded construction, and also the uncertainty as to the amount and character of taxation which will be levied during the period of the contract which have chiefly prevented the execution of these contracts," Stimson said as he read from a prepared statement.

ALARMISTS OPEN UP WAR ORATORY IN DRAFT DEBATE

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—A picture of the United States in imminent peril of invasion was conjured by administration leaders as the senate began formal debate today on the New Deal's compulsory military service bill. The senate is expected to devote at least two or three weeks to the first proposal of peace time conscription in the history of the republic.

Senator Sheppard.

Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], chairman of the military affairs committee and manager of the bill; Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, and Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.], all spoke of the danger of an imminent attack upon the United States and asked the senate noninterventionists why they had voted for billions upon billions of dollars for armaments if they did not entertain such fears.

Stock Administration Reply.

This is the stock administration answer to charges that the possibility of an attack upon this country is being exaggerated to foment war hysteria for political purposes.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], one of the leaders in the fight against peace time conscription, told the New Dealers that if they are sincere in their expressed fears of an imminent invasion of the United States they ought to have the political courage to advocate an immediate declaration of war against Germany.

As the senate formally began consideration of the conscription bill, there was increasing talk among administration supporters of the probable necessity of a drastic compromise before a bill can be passed. The compromise most frequently mentioned by administration supporters is the substitute bill offered by Senator Francis T. Maloney [D., Conn.].

Proposes to Defer Draft.

Whereas the Burke-Wadsworth bill in its pending form subjects the 12,000,000 men between the ages of 21 and 31 to registration and possible induction into service at the will of the President and the war department wants to draft 400,000 by Oct. 1 and another 400,000 next April 1, Senator Maloney's bill would postpone the application of conscription until Jan. 1.

In the meantime, the President would be required to issue a proclamation calling for 400,000 volunteers. If by Jan. 1 the number of volunteers should not equal 400,000, the President would be authorized to draft a number equal to the deficiency. The same process would be followed with respect to the next batch of 400,000.

Administration leaders privately indicate their willingness to accept the

The East Talks War, but Lags in Recruiting

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 [Special].—The contention that the war-talking east is a poor recruiting ground for soldiers and that the western and southern parts of the country produce the army's volunteers was supported today by the latest reports on enlistments in the United States army. The report was made by the army.

The Northeastern states were at the tail end of the list showing the rapidity with which army corps areas obtained their enlistment quotas. In last place was the 1st corps, comprising the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, and Massachusetts, while the 2d corps states of New York, Delaware, and New Jersey pressed them for the dubious distinction.

Ranking of Other Areas.

The various other corps areas were ranked in the following order:

4th—North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Florida.

8th—Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Colorado.

5th—Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, and Indiana.

6th—Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin.

3d—Pennsylvania, Maryland, District of Columbia, and Virginia.

9th—California, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, and Washington.

7th—North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, and Minnesota.

The army's report, made in the midst of congressional controversies over its recruiting methods, showed that a new peace time record for three year enlistments had been established during June and again during July.

31,958 Enlist in July.

Volunteer enlistments in June totaled 23,442 and in July, 31,958. May enlistments were only 9,492, but they were low, officials explained, because during part of that month the army's manpower was above the strength then authorized by congress.

Having attained a strength of 270,183 men on July 31, the recruiting service has now been ordered to bring the army to 322,922 men as soon as possible. Officials said the difference between this goal and the 375,000 strength authorized by congress is accounted for largely by men to be enlisted later for the air corps. These need not be recruited now, they said, because the equipment to train them is not yet available.

The 375,000 force ultimately to be raised by voluntary three year enlistments is regarded by the army as a nucleus and training group for the force of 1,200,000 proposed for creation by the compulsory one year training program now before congress.

GLADYS HANDS FRED A PAIR OF FIGHTING WORDS: PANTY WAIST

Gladys thinks Fred is a panty waist because he objects to being drafted. Fred is the fellow who ran a notice yesterday in the personals column of the classified advertising section of THE TRIBUNE, saying:

GLADYS: Conscription passes—you lose me for a yr., prot. to your senator now. FRED.

Here's Gladys' answer in today's personals column:

FRED: Are you man or mouse? A country worth living in is worth fighting for. Don't be a panty waist. GLADYS.

THE TRIBUNE understands no more than anybody else why this discussion is not carried on in Gladys' parlor.

$57,887 IS RAISED FOR PROPAGANDA TO BOOST DRAFT

New York, Aug. 9 [Special].—The national emergency committee of the Military Training Camps association has raised a total of $57,887 for the purpose of disseminating information concerning selective compulsory military training and service, the committee announced today.

"The funds were raised by voluntary subscription, the result of two luncheons, and a few personal letters. Most of the money has been expended for office rent, printing, postage, and clerical help," said a statement by the committee.

Columbia Dean Deserts Democrats for Willkie

New York, Aug. 9 [Special].—Young B. Smith, dean of the Columbia university law school, a lifelong Democrat who voted for President Roosevelt in 1932 and 1936, today announced that he would work for the election of Wendell L. Willkie, Republican nominee. Dean Young declared the best interests of the country demand a change of administration.

Gunmen Slay Woman; Battle Police; Seized

Oilton, Okla., Aug. 9 (AP).—Two gunmen who authorities said tossed the body of a red haired young woman out of their automobile after wounding Police Chief Ben D. Clark were captured tonight at nearby Perkins.

Highway Patrolmen Ralph Boyd and J. R. Butler said one of the bandits had been shot two or three times, apparently in a gun duel with Oilton police, and was in a critical condition. The other, not wounded, was jailed at Stillwater.

Boyd said the men gave their names as Bud Lovelace of Lincoln, Neb., and Bill Hall, a fugitive from the Oklahoma state penitentiary at McAlester. Hall was shot five times and is in a critical condition.

Fled From Nebraska Prison.

Sheriff L. L. Fisher identified Lovelace as Joe Lovelace, 24 years old, a fugitive from the Nebraska state prison farm at Genoa. Nebraska prison records showed he escaped July 26 while serving a five year sentence for forgery.

Fisher said Lovelace identified the dead woman as Jeanne Culp, 30, Asher, Okla., but refused to say by whom she was shot.

With the fugitives was Bill Glimp of Drumright, whom they abducted near Oilton. Officers said Glimp was taken to a hospital, but it could not be learned immediately whether he had been shot or beaten.

Police Chief Jack Ary of Drumright said there were three men in the car during the fight with officers.

The woman's body was found near the business district of Oilton, a half hour after Police Chief Clark was felled by buckshot blasts into the face and chest. He and Constable C. L. Erwin had sought to arrest the men as robbery suspects.

Officers Armed with Pistols.

The officers answered the bandits' shotgun fire with pistol bullets. But as Clark fell, seriously wounded, the gunmen sped away.

J. D., Hurley, Oilton undertaker, said the woman was shot twice at close range with a shotgun.

A short distance from the scene of the shooting the gunmen took a car from Earl Williams of Oilton. East of Drumright, they abducted Glimp in his car and forced him to drive them eastward.

representatives on the committees, Stimson also said that the profit limitations of the Vinson-Trammell act were reduced from 12 to 8 per cent on the same day that appropriations were made available for airplane contracts. Compton later voiced the navy's complaint on this same congressional action. Stimson added that the airplane situation also applied to industries which produce guns, tanks, artillery, and ammunition.

Tells Navy's Troubles.

In telling of the many difficulties encountered by the navy department under the Vinson-Trammell act, Compton said that many industries have undertaken to finance their own plant expansion for the 1 billion 250 million dollars in navy contracts now outstanding. He suggested that amortization features of the legislation under discussion be made retroactive; else those industries would be penalized. Present plans call for the five-year amortization allowance only on contracts awarded after July 10, 1940. The congressmen expressed interest, however, in Compton's suggestion.

Knudsen, who took a leave of absence as head of General Motors corporation to direct the national defense production program, told the committee that the industrial expansion program got under way only by awarding contracts on a fixed fee basis and no assurances could be given on amortization allowances.

Tank Program Held Up.

"How soon will you have the full equipment for an army of 750,000 men—guns, tanks, everything?" asked Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. [R., Mass.].

"The tanks will be slow in coming," said Knudsen. "The medium tank design has had to be changed in the light of experience in the battle of Flanders. The drawings will be finished Aug. 26 or 27. The tooling will take 8 or 10 months. On guns, only the new 105 mm. is behind. The others will be taken care of."

Then Lodge asked Knudsen when the total equipment for an army of 2,000,000 men, as now contemplated, could be ready.

"It seems to me, senator, that the entire amount could be handled by the middle of 1944—everything," replied Knudsen.

Asks About Plant Locations.

Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] wanted to know what the plan was on locating new defense plants between the Mississippi river and the Rocky mountains, pointing out that only 1 per cent of recent contracts had been awarded to companies in this area.

Knudsen replied that in dealing with the plant question they are just expanding existing plants and when the question of new factories arises the middle west area will be given first consideration. The army, he said, has prepared a map showing the boundaries within which new plants should be located. These boundaries are at least 300 miles from any seaboard, Knudsen said.

Representative Raymond S. McKeough [D., Ill.] put in a bid for Chicago, saying: "I hope you won't think it facetious when I say that I hope that the commission and the war department will remember that there is a place called Chicago where there is a fine labor supply, excellent facilities, and a fine city government administering its affairs."

Morgenthau, who has been quizzed severely in most congressional finance hearings, slid thru this one. He read a prepared statement in which he supported the purposes of the pending legislation and urged quick enactment. He presented the committee with the following breakdown on the national defense costs up to Aug. 5:

[Figures in millions of dollars.]

	Army.	Navy.	Total.
Appropriations made	2,320	1,867	4,187
Appropriations pending	1,662	601	2,263
Contract authoriz. appr.	577	312	889
Contract author. pending	2,250	498	2,748
	6,809	3,278	10,087
Two-ocean navy and other construction previously authorized		4,615	4,615
	6,809	7,893	14,702

No estimate has been made yet on the costs, if enacted, of the pending bills for compulsory military training and calling out of the National Guard.

DEBT SAFEGUARD CLAUSE WRITTEN INTO GUARD BILL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 (AP).—The bill empowering President Roosevelt to call out the National Guard contains an amendment designed to protect guardsmen and reserves against the eviction of their families or the loss of real or personal property which they are buying on the instalment plan.

The provision was adopted in the form of an amendment at the urging of Senator John H. Overton [D., La.].

Special court action must be undertaken by the service man's creditor or landlord to obtain either eviction or the repossession of the property involved. In such cases the court would be given wide discretion to bring about a settlement, or to refuse the appeal of the creditor.

The Guard bill, as it now stands, does not grant any relief for Guardsmen unable to make payment on insurance policies.

Chairman Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.] of the senate military committee said today the same provision applied to the guard would be extended to trainees under the proposed conscription program.

PRESIDENT COLD TO WILLKIE PLAN TO BARE INCOME

Leaves to Visit Naval Bases in East.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard Presidential Special, Aug. 9.—President Roosevelt was en route tonight on a "nonpolitical" inspection tour of northeastern naval defenses after he had sidestepped a challenge by his Republican opponent, Wendell Willkie, to add teeth to the Hatch clean politics bill.

Last Wednesday Willkie came out for amending the act, which restricts political activity of Federal pay rollers, to require that a President and his family—both official and private—list their assets on taking and leaving office. Willkie promised he will do so voluntarily if elected.

Asked to comment on the Willkie challenge at his semiweekly press conference in his family home at Hyde Park, N. Y., Mr. Roosevelt said that speaking for himself he was poorer and wiser than when he went to Albany in 1928 as governor of New York state. He did not offer to prove his statement by registering his assets with the secretary of state as his opponent suggested.

At the time Mr. Roosevelt went to Albany he had a small income from his father's estate and meager earnings from his law practice. He was a youth of about 17 years when his father died and left his estate in trust to his wife, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, the President's mother.

Today Mr. Roosevelt has an income of $75,000 a year and a $25,000 salary and expense account as President. In eight years in office he has purchased hundreds of acres of land in New York and Georgia and made huge additions to his stamp collection and library. He also has extensive stock holdings in the General Electric company.

At the press conference, held as he was packing for his inspection trip to New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island, Mr. Roosevelt announced that his running mate, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, will accept the Democratic Vice Presidential nomination at Des Moines, Ia.

Advisers on Train.

At his conference Mr. Roosepelt declared the chances are 100 to 1 that the National Guard ever will be called to go out of the United States or its possessions in commenting upon senate passage of the bill authorizing him to call the guard to the colors.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox and Col. William J. [Wild Bill] Donovan, who made a secret trip to London for the new navy head, boarded the President's special train at Hyde Park tonight for Portsmouth, N. H., where Mr. Roosevelt will begin his defense inspection.

The inspection trip will carry Mr. Roosevelt to Boston, Watertown, Mass., Newport, R. I., and New London, Conn. He will leave New London Monday night for Washington.

Suspect Election Strategy.

They suspect that a primary purpose of the Maloney proposal is to postpone the application of conscription until after the Presidential and congressional elections in November. They would be willing, they assert, to accept a modification of the Maloney plan that would postpone the effective date of conscription to next April 1 and make its application at that time contingent upon approval in some manner by the new congress which will assemble in January.

The opposition leaders insist that the next congress, which will be freshly representative of the people after a campaign in which conscription will be a paramount issue, should have an opportunity to pass upon the question.

Leading off the Senate debate, Senator Sheppard declared that compulsion must be added to the existing voluntary enlistment system "to meet an immediate emergency in which the time element is a tragic necessity."

Foresees Growing Emergency.

"We want to start 400,000 in training in October, 400,000 in April, and additional increments from time to time of a size demanded by what may be the increasing emergency each year until the bill ceases to operate in 1945," Sheppard said.

"The doctrines and aggressions of certain dictator controled nations become every day more menacing toward free and independent democratic countries, and the bloody conflicts they have imposed on many such countries outside the United States and are still imposing on those they have not conquered in a crusade which evidently they do not propose to end until all democracy and freedom shall have been blasted from the earth call for the immediate establishment by us of a nucleus of armed forces in air, on sea, and on land, properly equipped and capable of expansion, within adequate time, into proportions sufficient to overcome attack on the United States or the western hemisphere.

Wants Permanent Policy.

"Aside from the existence of present dictatorships and the existing world situation, we need a permanent defense policy to protect us against any aggression and from all war until that day shall come for which we most fervently pray when 'the blast of war's great organ shall no longer shake the skies.'"

In response to a question by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], Sheppard said it would be impossible to get 400,000 men under the voluntary enlistment system by Oct. 1.

"I call the attention of the senator to innumerable recruiting stations which have declined to receive recruits because the quotas have been filled," Senator Vandenberg continued.

"With a regular army of 375,000 men authorized and in prospect and a National Guard of 250,000, which has now been made available, at least so far as senate action is concerned, and the other reserves, we already have a potential total of 750,000.

Cites Lack of Equipment.

"I heard Mr. [William S.] Knudsen [member of the President's national defense advisory commission] testify this morning that it will be 1942 before there will be complete equipment for any army of 750,000 men. If it takes until 1942 to equip an army of 750,000 men, and we already have potentially 750,000 men, why is it necessary to resort to extraordinary peace time methods for additional men?"

Sheppard at first replied that the army would have enough equipment for the conscripts proposed to be called, but when Vandenberg undertook to demonstrate that this would not be possible Sheppard intimated that the men would be trained without full equipment.

"In peace time we will not have 750,000 men," Sheppard said, without explaining the statement, "and if such an emergency exists that we have to gather men together in larger numbers than we have the equipment or the housing to supply, we will have to do the best we can, as we did during the world war, with temporary housing, and get the equipment in any way we can possibly get it in."

Barkley Offers Opinion.

Majority Leader Barkley attempted to rescue Sheppard.

"Of course," Barkley said, "they would have to have a certain amount of equipment while they were training, but training does not require the same equipment per man as is involved in the equipment for the regular army, or certainly not for an army which expects to engage in warefare."

Senator John A. Danaher [R., Conn.] next engaged Senator Sheppard, and the Texan became piqued.

"The senator has told us that there is an immediate emergency which creates a tragic necessity for conscription of American youth," Danaher said. "Will the senator tell us whether or not there was any evidence before the senate committee on military affairs of what the nature of the immediate emergency is?"

"We do not have to have any evidence," Sheppard snapped, his face turning red. "I know that myself, and I think everybody in the United States knows it. It is this onslaught of dictatorial powers against democracy thruout the world."

Mentions French Islands.

When Danaher demanded to know technically and specifically just what emergency is confronting the country, Sheppard replied: "Right now, in the islands adjacent to the United States, Germany has announced her claim to them because France owns them."

Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] told Sheppard he was entirely mistaken and asked whether he could produce any such statement made by Germany.

"I think I can, by implication, anyway," Sheppard said.

Danaher, resuming, asked Sheppard whether there was any evidence as to the number of men "it would take to establish a beachhead, a landing, in the event that our navy is attempting to repel an invasion."

Sheppard replied that the Germans would not need to establish a beachhead on the American coast if they obtained a base nearby. When Danaher wanted to know what the United States fleet would be doing, Sheppard advanced the possibility of an attack by Japan on British Maylaysia and the Dutch East Indies as another reason for adoption of conscription.

Sees Danger in Pacific.

"The fleet is needed now in the Pacific ocean, where an attack is already imminent from Japan," he said. "Within the past few days, Japan has made assertions, thru her military department, that she is about to assert claim to the tin and rubber in Malaysia. That would be a very serious injury to the United States."

"Does the senator consider the United States navy adequate for our defense?" Danaher inquired.

"I do not," said Sheppard.

"Does the senator think that our navy will be required to be kept in the South Sea Islands and those waters?"

"I am afraid it will."

"Then we need all the ships we have in our navy?"

"We need twice as many."

"We cannot spare even 50, can we?" Danaher concluded, referring to the Roosevelt administration's project to release 50 destroyers to Great Britain. Sheppard did not answer.

Lucas Asks a Question.

Senator Lucas then asked Danaher whether he believed the United States was in danger of attack and why, if he did not believe so, he voted for billions upon billions of dollars for the army and the navy.

"There may be no danger, and the senator from Connecticut can question the senator from Texas and other senators here from now on till doomsday, but he is not going to convince very many people in America that there is no real danger or threat in this world today, so far as the future peace and security of our nation is concerned," Lucas said.

Danaher said he voted for the billions for defense because President Roosevelt had spent 6 or 7 billion dollars on the army and navy and left the country in a hopeless state of unpreparedness, and had incurred the hostility of other nations by repeatedly making threatening and warlike statements about them.

Wheeler Replies to Lucas.

Senator Wheeler, replying to Lucas and the other New Dealers, said:

"I am one of those who voted for these billions of dollars. I voted for them because the President said it was necessary that we should have these defenses and because I am not in a position to know specifically just what is needed as a defense.

"But I wish to say to the senator, if he will permit me, that I did not vote for them because of the fact that I was afraid that Mr. Hitler or Mr. Mussolini or the Japanese government was going to come over here and take over the United States of America.

"If I believed that, and if I believed, as the senator from Texas has said, that he felt that Germany was going to attack us, then I would not simply vote for these appropriations, and I would not simply vote to call out men for training or to conscript them. I would vote for a declaration of war, because if the fact is that if England is defeated we are going to be attacked by Germany, then of course we ought to vote for a declaration of war.

"Those who stand on the senate floor and are so afraid that Germany is going to come over here and attack us tomorrow, or the next day, or in the next three months—why do they not have the courage to go to the people of the country and say, 'Let's vote for a declaration of war?'"

Fascist Threats Told

[Acme Photo.]

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD DAHL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 9.—Claiming she had been "hounded" for months by Nazi and Fascist sympathizers in the United States, Edith Rogers Dahl, the night club singer who sent her picture to Gen. Francisco Franco during the Spanish civil war and saved her pilot husband from a firing squad, is now in Montreal. She plans to live in Canada for the duration of the war.

"The G-men provided me with a bodyguard because of the threats I was getting by letter and in person," Mrs. Dahl said today.

Her husband, Harold Dahl of Champaign, Ill., who was captured by Franco's men while flying for the Republicans [Loyalists] was released last March. He is acting as instructor for the Canadian air force at Camp Borden, Ont.

50 GIANT TANKS TO BE BUILT BY BALDWIN WORKS

U. S. Superfighters Will Weigh 70 to 80 Tons.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 9 [Special].—The Baldwin Locomotive works will build for the American army 50 giant tanks similar to the German 70-ton land battleships which broke thru allied lines in France, the national defense advisory commission announced today. A $5,689,725 contract for the first 50 of 400 such tanks was cleared in Washington today.

William H. Harman, vice president of the Baldwin works, asserted the company will be able to build the tanks with present facilities. He said there is much similarity between building locomotives and tanks.

"It will take about six months to clear up the engineering details and then we can start turning them out rapidly," Harman said.

Big as Trolley Cars.

The tanks will weigh between 70 and 80 tons, the exact weight being a closely guarded secret. They will be approximately 46 feet long, and will mount 75-millimeter cannon, the smallest weapon, allied experts revealed, which could pierce the heavily-armored German tanks.

A tank of this size is approximately as long as a trolley car and weighs four times as much.

The defense commission, it was learned, has agreed to underwrite the cost of adapting the Baldwin plants to the manufacture of heavy tanks.

The cost of each of the 50 heavy tanks will be approximately $113,794, Baldwin officials said, explaining that much of the cost will be for engineering and mechanical expenses.

Later Cost to Be Cut.

If the tentative plan to build at least 400 of the tanks is carried out, it was said, the cost of the other 350 tanks will be considerably less.

The German tanks, military experts say, each mounted one three inch field gun, three 1½ inch guns, several machine guns, flame throwers, and smoke bombers. Each tank has a crew of 14 men.

The Baldwin Locomotive works played a large part in the munitions industry in the last world war. As early as 1915 it had obtained $100,000,000 of war orders from foreign nations for rifles and shells. When the United States entered the war the company expanded rapidly.

BALTIC MINISTER ASKS VATICAN TO CLARIFY STATUS

ROME, Italy, Aug. 9 (AP).—Diplomatic circles tonight heard Russia had taken control of the Latvian, Estonian, and Lithuanian legations with consent of the Italian government which thus tacitly recognized Russian absorption of the three Baltic states. Secretaries were said to have surrendered the Lithuanian and Estonian legations to Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Gorelchin after the ministers refused to yield their posts.

The question of the status of Baltic diplomats to the Vatican was raised after Pope Pius XII. received Stanislav Girdvainis, Lithuanian minister to the Holy See, in private audience. A diplomatic source said the minister asked continued recognition.

A Soviet Retreat in Berlin.

BERLIN, Aug. 9 (AP).—Russian officials who sought to take over the Lithuanian legation were turned away by the Lithuanians today. The Russians protested, at first cajolingly and then sharply, but eventually retreated. Russians took over the Latvian and Estonian legations.

RAISE AGE LIMIT TO GET MEN FOR JOBS AT ARSENAL

A shortage of skilled machinists in the Rock Island arsenal caused federal civil service commissioners here to raise maximum age limits for workers from 55 to 62 years yesterday. J. V. Swanson, manager of the Chicago district of the civil service, said that 75 machinists and at least five tool and gauge designers will be needed at the arsenal within the next 20 days.

"Qualified applicants for these jobs have been disappointingly few," Swanson said. "We are hopeful that by raising the age limits we can fill the jobs more rapidly. It will make available to us a large group of men whose ability to work is not past altho they can seldom find employment in private industry."

Salaries for the positions are graduated down from $2,300 a year to $1,260. Extension of the age limit applies only to machinists in the army and navy services, and the minimum age remains 18 years.

HUGHES' FLYING LABORATORY OFF FOR WAR SERVICE

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—Howard Hughes' famous "flying laboratory" in which he flashed around the world two years ago to set a globe encircling record, left Los Angeles tonight heading for a wartime mission of courier service between London and Egypt.

The machine was bought several days ago by the British purchasing commission and is expected to land at Floyd Bennett airport tomorrow.

The young, wealthy film producer set his round-the-world mark of 3 days 19 hours and 17 minutes in July, 1938.

ADM. GHORMLEY SENT TO WATCH WAR ON ENGLAND

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 [Special].—Rear Admiral Robert L. Ghormley, who has just completed a tour as assistant chief of naval operations, and two junior officers have been appointed special observers at the United States embassy in London, the navy department announced today.

Altho the navy said the matter was routine, observers took it to indicate that the President and his advisers look for new techniques to be tried in the expected German assault on England, calling for expert reports.

Admiral Ghormley was accompanied by Lieut. Com. B. L. Austin and Lieut. Donald T. J. MacDonald. They will report to Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

It was assumed the three sailed on a British vessel. No announcement was made of their departure until they were well at sea. The navy has made it a practice to send observers to the scene of interesting naval developments. It was the first time, however, that such a highranking officer has been detailed to observer duty when the United States was at peace.

STOP BICKERING, A GERMAN PAPER TELLS BALKANS

Warns Nations to Act in Land Revisions.

BERLIN, Aug. 9 (AP).—The German radio quoted tonight an authoritative admonition to southeastern European countries, but clearly addressed to Rumania, to talk less and act more quickly in territorial revisions.

The article, to be published tomorrow in the periodical Southeast Echo and described as emanating from an authoritative German source, said public agitation in the affected countries, Rumania, Bulgaria, and Hungary, was useless.

Demands Deeds, Not Words.

Such tactics, it said, certainly would not impress Germany.

The Southeast Echo said Germany values deeds more than words, and "lip service to the principles of our foreign policy can therefore not influence our conception of matters."

[Rumania, under German orders to settle the territorial claims of Bulgaria and Hungary, has not yet begun negotiations with Bulgaria and has suggested that Hungary be content with only a small portion of the claimed territory of Transylvania and with a transfer of populations.]

Bulgarian Troops Move.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 9.—Bulgarian troops have been moved into the northern district of the country, presumably in preparation for the anticipated occupation fo southern Dobruja territory as soon as negotiations with Rumania are ended. A temporary administrative system also has been arranged.

However, there were no further steps tonight toward a final settlement of the problem. Rumors continued to fly between Sofia and Bucharest. There was talk of secret negotiations going on in an unknown spot.

Hear Army Enters Today.

Some persons claimed Bulgaria's army would enter the claimed territory tomorrow. Others asserted a national holiday was granted for three days beginning Sunday to celebrate the return of the lost lands.

As far as can be ascertained, these reports are without foundation. Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff, who was said to be a participant in secret talks, lunched with the Jugo-Slav minister today.

Official sources here claim no further talks will be held until a formal Rumanian invitation to joint conversations is extended.

Report Week-End Parley.

CRAIOVA, Rumania, Aug. 9 (AP).—Official quarters said today Rumanian-Bulgarian negotiations for the cession of Dobruja to Bulgaria would begin this week-end in King Carol's country palace at Segarces, a village 20 miles from here.

Report Jugo-Slav Ship Sunk by Sub Off Africa

BERLIN, Aug. 9 (AP).—The German radio reported tonight from Belgrade that the 4,201 ton Jugo-Slav freighter Rad had been sunk by an unidentified submarine off the west coast of Africa. The information was attributed to a Jugo-Slav newspaper.

Divorces Actress

Lois January and Abraham Meyer.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 9 (AP).—Abraham Meyer, song writer's agent, won a divorce today from Lois January, screen actress, on his testimony that she deserted him two years after their marriage in 1937. "She said her career was more important than our marriage," he said, "and that she was going to New York to appear in a show. She is still there, altho I implored her to come back on several occasions."

SEEK RECRUITS FOR CRUISES BY NAVAL RESERVE

Recruiting is now under way for the third, fourth, and fifth cruises of the navy's reserve officers' training corps, officials of the 9th naval district announced yesterday.

The first cruise, which is the first one since the world war, is now in progress aboard the U. S. S. Wyoming. Fifteen hundred cadets are expected to embark on the second cruise Aug. 19. Four hundred fifty cadets for the second cruise were enlisted from this district, which includes 13 states. No announcement of the number of men to be recruited for the three new cruises has been made.

Recruits for the corps must be between 19 and 26 years old and have at least two years' college training. If they qualify on the 30 day cruise they will be commissioned midshipmen in the reserve and be given three months' training ashore, after which they will be commissioned ensigns in the reserve.

Forbids Belgians to Tune In on English Broadcasts

BERLIN, Aug. 9 (AP).—Gen. Baron Alexander von Falkenhausen, German military commander for Belgium and northern France, today forbade the population to listen to English radio broadcasts. Another decree prohibited the unauthorized wearing or possession of uniforms and insignia of the German army, the Nazi party, or its various formations.

FORT SHERIDAN WILL HURRY UP NEW BUILDINGS

$300,000 Structures to Relieve Overcrowding.

Bids are being taken on a $300,000 hurry up biulding program at Fort Sheridan, designed to relieve overcrowded conditions. The bids are to be opened Aug. 21 and the construction is to be completed in three months.

The contracts will call for the erection of 29 structures including 20 two story wooden barracks, 80 by 29 feet, which will accommodate a total of 1,200 men. There will also be a wooden building to house 14 officers, a fire station, infirmary, post exchange, recreation building, guard house, warehouse, and administration building.

3,890 Now on Roster.

From the construction quartermaster's office it was learned that the present roster of regular army forces at the fort is 3,690 enlisted men and 200 officers. A year ago the comparable figures were 1,469 enlisted men and 90 officers. The present accommodations were designed for 2,000 me nand 94 officers.

Most of the regular personnel is now at Camp McCoy, Wis., engaged in summer war maneuvers. Without the new buildings many would have to placed in tents on their return.

N Build Motor Vehicle Sheds.

In addition to the new program, a WPA project is being carried on at the fort. In April the workers on nine motor vehicle sheds, but halted in June because of lack of funds. Work on these sheds and on a double concrete block warehouse was resumed last Monday. The WPA work is to cost about $200,000 and is not scheduled for completion until June, 1941.

About $1,000,000 was expended on permanent buildings at Fort Sheridan in a year beginning in August, 1938. The fort has been in use by troops since Nov. 8, 1887.

FALLS FROM SCAFFOLD; INJURED.

Bernard Bollman, 38 years old, 5454 Barry avenue, was seriously injured yesterday when he fell from a scaffold while cleaning a building at 757 West 79th street. He was taken to St. George's hospital.

ENVOY CUDAHY STICKS TO GUNS DESPITE REBUKE

Declines to Retract His Remarks on Belgium.

LONDON, Aug. 10, Saturday (AP).—The Daily Mail today quoted John Cudahy, United States ambassador to Belgium, as saying "I do not retract one word from what I said" in the interview which resulted in his censure by the American state department.

Ambassador Cudahy.

The Mail said Cudahy declared "undue publicity has been given to my speech of the other day." He was criticized for his remarks on conditions in Nazi held Belgium.

"I have done my job, and I return to the United States with reports of great efforts being made by Great Britain that should inspire my countrymen," Cudahy told the Mail.

"I leave confident that this little country of yours will defend itself to the last man and woman and will never be conquered.

"The President knows that I am on my way home back to the United States. I received certain instructions from him when I left and I am carrying them out."

Earlier Cudahy told newspaper men he had no comment to make on the state department action.

He left by plane late today for Lisbon, Portugal, where he will board a clipper plane for home.

Expected to Resign.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 (AP).—Censured and called home for remarks he made about conditions in German occupied Belgium, Ambassador John Cudahy was expected by his friends tonight to resign from the diplomatic service.

The state department, in a public statement, declared the remarks were made in "violation of standing instructions" and disclosed that President Roosevelt had "requested" the diplomat to return for "consultation."

Cudahy, ambassador to Belgium until foreign diplomatic missions were ordered out of there last month by Germany, drew sharp criticism in the British press for an interview in London in which he asserted that Belgium faced near famine conditions by mid-September unless it received American food supplies.

Viewed as Blockade Rap.

This was widely interpreted as a hint that American food should be permitted to go thru the British blockade.

In commenting on the German occupation Cudahy also was quoted as saying he thought German soldiers behave possibly "better than United States soldiers would have done."

Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles said he was sure "no one will question the sincerity of the ambassador's sympathetic interest in the future well being of the Belgian people, an interest which is shared by the people of the United States."

But he declared that "certain of the views expressed by the ambassador are not to be construed as representing the views of this government."

British Give Rejoinder.

Cudahy's assertion about food conditions in Belgium drew a rejoinder from the British ministry of economic warfare.

"Any coming European shortages or famine," it said in a statement, "will be due to Germany's providing better for the reich than for the peoples it has conquered."

This indicated that Britain would refuse to relax the blockade to permit food shipments to Belgium.

The Presidentially approved censure raised again the question of Cudahy's future.

Before his departure from Belgium there were reports he might resign to run for governor of Wisconsin.

Cudahy has served abroad since shortly after President Roosevelt took office, first as ambassador to Poland, then minister to Eire, and since last January as ambassador to Belgium.

He is 52, a member of the Cudahy meat packing family, and a resident of Milwaukee, where he was a lawyer and head of real estate companies until he became a diplomat.

CHINA TO FIGHT TO BAR JAPAN FROM INDO-CHINA

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 10, Saturday (AP).—The Central Daily News, official organ of the Chinese government, today declared China would take "adequate steps to back French Indo-China with force" if Japanese aggression undermines that colony's territorial or political integrity. The declaration followed unofficial reports that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek had moved some of his best divisions to support Yunnan and Kwangsi provincial troops near Indo-China.

Chinese language papers reported the Japanese were heavily reenforcing their units operating adjacent to Indo-China, but a military spokesman said such movements might mean only that the Japanese were sending back to the south the units which they withdrew for Yangtze valley operations.

EGYPT PREPARES TO AID BRITISH IF ITALIANS ATTACK

Warns Duce: 'Desert Is Terrible Enemy.'

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 9 (AP).—Egypt, a neutral thus far in the developing desert war of the near east, prepared tonight to join forces with the outnumbered British at the moment that Italy's African armies make their expected attack upon this ancient land.

The nation's press chorused a warning to Premier Mussolini's forces as the British claimed an overwhelming victory over the Italians in an air battle fought over Italian Libya yesterday. Fifteen Italian planes were downed against a loss of only two of their own craft, the British asserted.

Egyptian newspapers, in warning Italy against an attack, said, "The desert is a terrible enemy! It is the tomb of those who traverse it!"

An Italian invasion, the newspapers added, would end as did the first Napoleon's costly retreat on the plains of Russia.

Prepare 200,000 Troops.

Abdel Rahman Azzam Bey, commandant of Egypt's territorial army, disclosed that 200,000 men were being hurriedly trained.

Egypt is tied to Britain by a purely defensive alliance which does not require her to fight alongside the British. However, Egypt has given Britain supply and communication help, has broken off diplomatic relations with both Germany and Italy, and has warned Italy that she will fight if she is invaded or her cities bombed.

In describing yesterday's big air battle with the Italians "some distance west of Sidi Omar" in Libya, the British said their pilots shot down the 15 Italian planes despite a two to one disadvantage in the size of the two squadrons.

[The Italian version was that five British planes and two Italian planes were shot down and that the Italian fighters were outnumbered 27 to 16.]

Advance in Somaliland.

Far to the southeast in British Somaliland, the Italians—who already had occupied Zeila, Hargeisa, and Oadweina—called a brief halt in their drive toward the important port of Berbera and then moved on again.

A British communique announcing that the Italians were advancing on Berbera told also of new Italian air raids on Gebeit in the Sudan, where it was said "a few civilians" were slightly injured; and in the western desert on the British Egyptian base at Mersa Matruh. There was no damage at Mersa Matruh.

Berbera is about 150 miles across the Gulf of Aden from the British protectorate of Aden, and is strategically important in the Italian effort to interrupt British Red sea communications.

Italians Tell of Battle.

ROME, Aug. 9 (AP).—Telling of the big air battle with the British in North Africa yesterday, the Italian high command today said:

"On the Cirenaican [Egyptian-Libyan] border, 16 of our fighting planes engaged in furious combat against 27 British planes. Altho outnumbered, our brave pilots succeeded in shooting down five enemy planes. Two of ours failed to return to their base. In British Somaliland our troops occupied Hargeisa."

Italians Bomb Warships.

LONDON, Aug. 9 (AP).—Italian airplanes bombed British warships in the Gulf of Aden yesterday, but caused no damage, the admiralty announced tonight.

Report Gibraltar Bombed.

BERLIN, Aug. 9 (AP)—The German wireless reported tonight from La Linea, Spain, that a bombing plane of unidentified nationality had bombarded the rock of Gibraltar and British warships anchored in the port last night. It added that the extent of damage was not known.

BRITISH PLANES PLANT MINES IN GERMAN WATERS

LONDON, Aug. 9 (AP).—Aerial mine laying has become standard practice for both sides and "continues to cause serious damage to Germany's shipping and to dislocate its coastal traffic," the British said tonight.

In combatting German mine warfare the British now have devices for protection against magnetic mines which are reported highly effective.

The Germans are using troop transport airplanes to plant such mines along Britain's coastline—but it was said authoritatively today that no port of material importance had been closed by this campaign for longer than 14 hours. The big planes each carry two mines. They are dropped by parachute into the shallow water of shipping lanes.

GERMANS RANGE OVER BRITAIN IN BOMB ASSAULTS

Vivid Flashes Light Sky in One Sector.

LONDON, Aug. 10, Saturday (AP).—German bombing planes dropped their deadly explosives on southeast, northeast, and northwest England early today and were heard over Scotland and Wales in wide ranging attacks. Two men were killed and several persons were injured in one raid on a northwest England town. Several houses were damaged.

Thruout the embattled areas, anti-aircraft batteries pumped projectiles into the sky.

When raiders dropped several bombs in northwest England, vivid flashes lit the sky from at least three separate points. In the northeast, there was a succession of loud explosions as the raiders rumbled over several cities.

Hear Tremendous Explosions.

Tremendous explosions were heard as bombs fell in two places ashore and at several spots just out to sea from a southeast coast town.

The attackers earlier had veered off in the face of hot antiaircraft fire, but circled back to deposit their loads despite renewed big scale antiaircraft fire from the ground.

At another place in southeast England, one German plane made a "hit-skip" raid, dropping four large bombs and skipping out to sea.

Several bombs were dropped last night in a residential district in southwest England, severely damaging a number of homes. It was reported that no serious casualties were "believed" suffered and that people trapped in two houses were rescued.

At least three German bombers were reported shot down in the region of the northeast coast yesterday.

British observers spent much of yesterday summing up the results of the great German air attack of Thursday, and reached the conclusion that such raids cost the Nazis a great deal more—in money, morale, and Messerschmitts—than they do the British defenders.

Shipping Destroyed.

The claim that air invasion is thus far a bankrupt strategy was put forward on the basis of an official checkup of the results of the vast raid by 400 German planes on English channel shipping. For this, said the air ministry, was the score:

German planes destroyed—60.

British planes lost—16.

British shipping destroyed, both by air and the torpedo boat attack that ushered in the air assault, 5,039 tons. Seven ships in a convoy were acknowledged damaged, but all were declared taken to port.

[The German score sheet was far different. Berlin claimed that 49 British planes were shot down and 72,000 tons of British shipping sunk.]

From all this, unofficial commentators reached the conclusion that the net German loss in money was some $2,000,000—aside from the far heavier German casualities reported here.

Heavy Loss in Personnel.

This is the way these observers cast up the balance sheet:

German losses in planes $3,072,000—24 dive bombers at $80,000 apiece and 36 Messerschmitt fighter planes at $32,000 apiece.

British losses in planes $512,000—16 fighters at $32,000 apiece.

British losses in ships sunk or damaged, $500,000.

Net German loss, $2,060,000.

In addition, the British claimed at least 106 German air men died, against 13 British flyers.

29 Per Cent of French Air Force Lost Against Nazis

VICHY, France, Aug. 9 (AP).—The French air force lost 29 per cent of its effectives in the 46 days of the German western offensive, it was stated today by the newspaper Le Petit Parisien. The paper in a special article said the German air material had been distinctly superior in quality to the French until the arrival of the American made Curtiss pursuit planes. French pilots generally fought against German flyers in the ratio of 1 to 10, it added.

HOW HUMANS ACT IN CONSTANT AIR RAIDS ON BRITAIN

Citizens Go Sleepless in Jittery Times.

BY GODFREY ANDERSON.

A PORT OF WESTERN ENGLAND, Aug. 9 (AP).—Despite the magnetic mines strewn by low flying German planes and the harassment of aerial bombardment, Bristol channel, England's great maritme gateway to the west, still is open to ships of the seven seas bearing cargoes to embattled Britain.

The aim of the mine-laying planes is not always good. One mine fell on land, damaging a farm and blowing out the window of a 17th century village church.

Sometimes this port is closed while mine sweepers clean up after the aerial visitors, but interruption of normal trade is slight and life ashore, while bound up in a new set of rules for self-preservation, goes on pretty much as usual.

Count Raidless Nights.

Here they count the nights when there are no air raid alarms—and there have been just four since June 24.

Many bombs have dropped in the open country. One farmer threw open his damaged home to sightseers—and charged them a small fee which he gave to the Red Cross.

On one occasion bombs fell near the village where Queen Mother Mary spends much of her time.

One night a bomb blew a signalman out of his box and damaged a railway siding at the docks, but work soon was resumed.

Rips Walls off Building.

When a bomb fell near a group of several hospitals it tore a wall off a building, leaving its floors exposed like a doll's house and bringing the adjoining house down on the heads of an old couple in the cellar. Tarpaulin covers across the open side of the hospital made it usable again.

Some people sleep all night in public shelters. Others relax downstairs in their homes. And there are some who wait up, playing cards or chatting until about three or four in the morning and then, "if Jerry is not coming tonight," they go to bed reasonably sure of unbroken sleep. Afternoon naps are popular.

It's a Game to Children.

Hotels serve a "late air raid breakfast" for nervous guests who have spent the night in the cellars.

Children make a game of the air raids. Many may be seen wearing "tin hats" made of cardboard, bearing the words "Junior Warden"—just like daddy wears when he goes to his ARP post.

"It is hard to keep the kids out of the shelters," said one mother. "They play wardens all day. Then they are not frightened when they have to go to the shelters at night."

REPORT BRITISH BAR ARGENTINE FOOD FOR FRANCE

New York, Aug. 9 [Special].—Three steamships laden with wheat purchased by the French government have been refused permission to sail from Buenos Aires by the British minister of blockade, according to a Berlin broadcast picked up here today by the National Broadcasting company. The report stated that altho France had notified England that the wheat was to be used solely to feed the French the local British consul general gave notice the ships would be confiscated if they sailed.

NAZIS SAY CHUTE MINES BLOCKADE PORTS OF BRITAIN

Relate Their Side of Big Air-Sea Battle.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—With hundreds of German bombers, pursuit ships, and "air destroyers" operating over the British Isles, the battle of England is gathering force.

Today's German war communique said the British air force yesterday lost 51 airplanes and 72,000 tons of shipping. Of the 51 planes 49 were said to have been shot down in fighting over England and the English channel. The other two were brought down over Germany by antiaircraft batteries.

The Germans denied British assertions that 60 German planes were shot down in yesterday's fighting. Nazis admitted the loss of 12 planes, 2 of which, they said, were compelled to make forced landings.

Report 42 Fighters Downed.

The Germans attached special importance to the heavy loss of the British pursuit ships in recent air fights, especially in the attempt to ward off attacks on British convoys. It was announced that 33 British fighters of the Spitfire type and 9 of the Hurricane type were destroyed yesterday alone. This was regarded as a heavy blow to the British air force since it was estimated that the total number of first line pursuit ships the British can muster and man with first rate crews does not exceed 600.

Stukas [dive bombers] also participated in the German raids on British convoys. The Germans said that Stuka squadrons of the type Junkers 87, sank 12 merchantmen and damaged seven others seriously off the Isle of Wight. The loss of seven Stukas in this fight was admitted. The dive bombers were under orders to concentrate their attack on the British merchantmen. Messerschmitt pursuit ships were instructed to ward off the British fighters.

Attack Balloon Barrage.

German air destroyers of the type Messerschmitt 110 attacked a balloon barrage at Dover. Twelve balloons were reported to have been destroyed. Flyers said that during yesterday's fighting the glaring sun proved a disadvantage to both sides.

The Germans said the blockading of British ports thru parachute magnetic mines dropped from planes was being continued.

[The mines reportedly are so constructed that they float below the surface at a depth not reached by ordinary mine sweeping, and so that passage of a steel hull causes them to bob up, striking the bottom at its most vulnerable spot.]

Air raids were said to have been made on airplane factories near Liverpool and Bristol as well as on ports, air fields, and antiaircraft batteries in south England.

Details were given of the attack by German speedboats on a British convoy off the Isle of Wight, in which the Nazis said they sank 17,000 tons of shipping. The attack was later followed by a dive bombing raid. It was denied that one of the attacking speedboats was sunk.

Raid Western Germany.

British bombers, the Nazis declared, raided western Germany "at several points."

"Our strong air defenses forced part of the enemy planes to return, while others were prevented from dropping their bombs," they said.

The Germans insisted that their method of counting aerial losses is speedier and more reliable than that of the British. Any flyer who announces he has brought down an enemy plane must be supported in his claim by two witnesses. The claim is reported twice to the corps of flyers, thence to the chief of the air fleet and finally to the general staff of the air force, which issues the report.

Italy and France Resume Railroad Traffic Today

MADRID, Spain, Aug. 9.—Another route whereby Spain can trade with Germany and Italy will be opened tomorrow when railroad traffic between Italy and France will be resumed. This will connect with communications between Spain and France via Port Bou. There already is rail connection between Spain and Germany via Irun and Paris. Usefulness of these routes, however, is diminished because Spanish railroads are of broader gauge, necessitating reloading at the frontier.

41,000 2D ARMY TROOPS TO LEAVE FOR WAR GAMES

First Units Off to Camp at Midnight.

BY HAROLD HUTCHINGS.

Troop movements, the extent of which the middle west has not seen since world war days, will get in full swing shortly after midnight tonight with more than 41,000 National Guardsmen from seven states staging for the 2d army maneuver area at Camp McCoy, near Sparta, in west central Wisconsin.

These are the citizen soldiers of the two corps areas which make up the 2d army—the 6th corps area, which includes Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, and the 5th corps area of Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, and West Virginia.

By rail and motor these Guardsmen will complete their concentration before Tuesday night, joining more than 20,000 regular army troops already in camp. This army of more than 61,000 men, under Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, commander of the 2d army will engage in training and maneuvers which will carry thru Aug. 31, affording three weeks of active service.

Largest Since World War.

Concentration of the 2d army will complete the largest assemblage of forces at one time in the United States since the world war. Practically all the troops of the other three armies under the American four army organization are already in the field.

Concentrated in the Ogdensburg-Plattsburg area of New York are 105,000 men of the 1st army under command of Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum. In the Sabine river zone on the Louisiana-Texas border are 70,000 men of the 3d army under Lieut. Gen. S. D. Embick. The 4th army maneuver is in two parts, with 42,000 men of the 9th corps area at Tacoma and Olympia, Wash., under command of Lieut. Gen. John L. Dewitt, and 45,000 men of the 7th corps area at Camp Ripley, Minn., under command of Maj. Gen. P. P. Bishop. After the Camp McCoy concentration is completed about 322,000 men will be training simultaneously.

Much Equipment Needed.

Second army officials said yesterday that 72 trains, including seven which originate in Chicago, would pass thru the Chicago area en route to the maneuvers. Fifteen trains will bear Illinois troops, 11 will be from Michigan, 22 from Ohio, six from West Virginia, 10 from Indiana and eight from Kentucky.

The Illinois National Guard, which includes the 33d division and attached troops and totals about 13,500, is scheduled to send 417 officers and 7,012 men by rail and the remainder in motor convoys. While a majority of the division is from Chicago, 4,500 officers and enlisted men will move out from downstate areas. Included in these downstate units are the 129th infantry regiment, concentrated in northern Illinois outside Chicago; the 130th infantry from southern Illinois, and the 123d field artillery from western Illinois.

Employ Nine Convoys.

The truck movement of 33d division troops tomorrow will include nine convoys, of which four originate in Chicago. The Chicago units are the 108th quartermaster regiment, the 124th field artillery regiment, the 122d field artillery regiment, the 108th ordnance company, and the 33d signal company.

The quartermaster regiment last night inducted its newly organized service company in an oath taking ceremony in its armory, 3400 North Western avenue.

Advance detachments already have been sent on to the maneuver area to make preliminary preparations and to be on hand to help transport from the rail center those troops which arrive by train.

The Troop Movements.

The Chicago trains and the troops they will carry follow:

Unit.	No. of officers and men.	Time of departure.	Entraining point.
108th Medical Rgt.	387	6:00 a. m.	Un. Sta.

*Coach yards. †Team tracks, Grand avenue yard.

Two of the Chicago units, the 108th observation squadron and the 202d coast artillery regiment, antiaircraft, will not go to Wisconsin until Aug. 18. The observation squadron, which is equipped with 15 planes, will be based at Chicago airport next week, while its flyers and the 202d coast artillery fire an aerial gunnery course at Camp Logan, near Zion, Ill.

ORDER MARINES TO CUBAN BASE FOR MANEUVERS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 (AP).—The navy moved today to strengthen the garrison of its station at Guantanamo bay, Cuba, an important base for warships guarding the eastern approaches to the Panama Canal.

In a formal statement, the department announced that the 2,900 officers and men of the first marine brigade would be moved to Guantanamo from Quantico, Va., in September. The marine force at Guantanamo now numbers about 100.

The announcement said the shift was "for the purpose of preliminary training of this force in view of extensive maneuvers planned during the winter in the Caribbean area."

Press officers said the maneuvers would be carried out by the marines, and that they would involve landings and other operations.

The naval station at Guantanamo has been selected for preliminary training, the announcement said, because the terrain and other facilities essential for the training were available there.

WINDSOR TO VISIT NEW YORK; FAILS TO SET THE DATE

Probably Will Take New Post First.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The duke of Windsor, recalling that the Woolworth building was the tallest building in New York on his last visit, today said he would go back soon with his American born duchess to see the sights.

Both the duke and duchess talked enthusiastically of their prospective visit to the United States, but did not set the date. Presumably they will wait until after the duke moves on to the Bahamas and gets acquainted with his new post as governor there.

Duke away for 16 Years.

"The duchess hasn't been to the United States for eight years, and I haven't been for 16 years, so it's certainly time we went," the duke observed. "The last time I was there the Woolworth building was the highest in New York—that rather dates me."

The duchess said she was anxious to go back to see the home folks and that she was "excited" at being so close to home as Bermuda, adding, "you can imagine how thrilling it is."

The duchess expressed keen anticipation at living in the Bahamas, and laughingly put in a plug for the Caribbean winter playground, by expressing the hope that a "great many Americans" would visit there.

Constantly Talk of America.

The royal couple, at their first interview since arriving yesterday aboard the American Export liner Excalibur, constantly switched the subject to American topics.

They sat together on a divan in the spacious living room of Government House, exchanging amused whispers while reporters plied them with questions.

They swapped small talk but steered clear of official topics. There was no hint when they might go to the Bahamas.

The duke told casually of a mild irony that harks back to the days "when I was king." He remarked that altho he had never visited the Bahamas, he knew he had a swimming pool there, built by former Gov. Sir Bede Clifford.

"Sir Bede sent me a Christmas card in 1936 showing he had put 'E. R. VIII.' in the tiles of the pool," said the duke. "That was during my 11 month reign—when I was king. It's really funny that I should be about to use that pool now."

Appointment Formally Announced.

LONDON, Aug. 9 (AP).—Appointment of the duke of Windsor to his post in the Bahamas—made public July 9—was thus formally announced tonight in The London Gazette:

"Downing street.

"Seventh August, 1940.

"The king has been pleased to appoint his royal highness the duke of Windsor, K. G., K. T., K. P., G. C. B., G. C. S. I., G. C. M. G., G. C. I. E., G. C. V. O., G. B. E., I. S. O., M. C., to be governor and commander in chief of the Bahama Islands."

WOMEN PRESS DRIVE TO KEEP U.S. OUT OF WAR

Seek Million Backers by Next Month.

One hundred chairmen and organizers representing nearly 70,000 members of the Roll Call of American Women met in the Palmer House yesterday to crystalize their efforts toward keeping American men from fighting in Europe's wars.

"We have very little time," warned Miss Harriet E. Vittum, resident head of Northwestern University settlement, who is head of the organization. "It may be that we may awaken any day to the news that our boys are being sent to fight in the terrible war going on in Europe. We must work fast if we are to prevent such a thing from happening."

Hope for Mass Meeting.

One of the major points in the organization's program toward this end, according to Miss Jessamine Hoagland, member of the executive committee, will be to organize a mass-meeting of women from all parts of the country to be held, probably in Chicago, before the November elections.

"In this way," she said, "we can show all political candidates and the country how the people—especially the women—feel about our participation in Europe's battles."

All political candidates will be asked to fill out forms, Miss Hoagland said, detailing their position on this country's involvement in the war.

Those attending the closed morning meeting were urged to increase their membership quotas by Sept. 1. Membership has lagged slightly in the Rocky Mountain and New England districts, Miss Hoagland said. The organization, which was formed less than two months ago, hopes to have 1,000,000 members by September.

War's Profit—Misery, Suffering.

At the afternoon meeting, which was open to the public, Miss Vittum was the main speaker.

"We all believe in defense measures," she said. "But we believe our boys should stay here. If we read history from end to end, we will never find any war that brought people anything but misery and suffering."

Europe is so involved now, Miss Vittum said, that it will take "generations of recovering, rethinking, and rebuilding to bring back the civilization that is being wiped out."

DEFENSE GUARDS STAND INSPECTION —THEIR FIRST

One hundred fifty men of the 1st battalion, 1st regiment of the newly formed civilian Illinois Home Defense Guard held their first formal inspection last night at Stagg field. Lieut. Col. H. D. Bargelt, an officer of the army reserves, was in command. Lieut. Col. C. H. Williams, secretary of the Army and Navy club, which sponsored the new organization, was the reviewing officer.

The Home Defense Guard, according to Col. Bargelt, is planned to take the place of the Illinois National Guard in case the National Guard is called away to camp for a year. So far it has not been recognized officially and has no military equipment other than khaki uniforms which the men buy themselves for $5.75. Seventy per cent of the present group are world war veterans, he said.

Col. Bargelt announced that on Monday recruiting for the organization will be started with the aid of a mobile trailer unit. In addition, recruiting offices are being opened at 1456 Devon avenue, and 525 Davis street in Evanston. The officers hope that by September the regiment will reach full size of 1,700 men and 119 officers.

CAROL FORBIDS JEWS TO FIGHT IN RUMANIAN ARMY

Decree Regulates Life of 1,250,000 Persons.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 9 [Passed by Censor].—King Carol's decree regulating the life of 1,250,000 Jews in Rumania was proclaimed today. It turned out to be even more drastic than had been expected tho one Jewish leader exclaimed, "Well, it could have been worse!"

The decree, with few exceptions, bars Jews from government jobs, agricultural activity, the defense forces, and the liberal professions. Only those who fought for Rumania in war time, or descendants of those who were killed in the war, or those who obtained individual naturalizations by special law before the end of 1918 are exempt.

Medical Profession Open.

There is one notable exception—Jews are not specifically barred from practicing medicine tho they cannot be doctors in any public institution. There are many Jewish doctors in Rumania.

Jews are forbidden to join the Christian church or to use Rumanian names.

Imprisonment up to two years and fines up to 20,000 lei [nominally about $100] are provided for any one who attempts to hide his Jewish origin.

The law lists Jews in three categories:

FIRST.—Jews who came to Rumania after the end of 1918. They get no privileges.

SECOND.—Jews who either fought for Rumania and obtained citizenship as a reward, those decorated for bravery, and descendants of war dead. They are exempt from restrictions on jobs.

THIRD.—This class takes in the great majority of Rumania's Jews—all those not included in either of the other categories.

Cannot Sell Liquor.

Except for the favored members of the second category, no Jew can hold any position under the government or in any public institution. Neither can he practice any profession "which has by its nature a direct connection with public authorities such as notaries and lawyers."

Jews cannot own stores in rural communities. They cannot sell wines and liquors. They cannot serve on the board of directors of any corporation, public or private. They cannot act as nurse or tutor to any Christian. They cannot own farm land. They are barred from all work connected with newspapers, editing, publishing, the movies, and all other forms of "cultural activity."

To prevent disorganization of the nation's life, the law allows the cabinet to make exceptions in the ban on Jewish professional workers. It is said the real test of the law will be in its application and not its text. It can be as rigid or as lenient as the authorities see fit to make it.

A "Charter of Rights."

The decree was described by the official paper, Romania, as "the charter of the rights of the majority based on biological principles."

It is explained that the present campaign is to eliminate Jews from public positions and take from them all power to influence Rumanian life, tho no violence is intended.

They can still make a living, Rumanians declare, in subordinate jobs and in operating stores in cities. Being barred from the army, they must pay special taxes as their contributions to national defense.

Simultaneously with the proclamation of the decree, it was announced that 22 persons, many of them Jews, had been sent to concentration camps for spreading alarming rumors. The government is conducting an energetic campaign against persons who attack its policies or spread news that might interfere with those policies.

CIO MEN SLOW DEFENSE WORK IN BENDIX FACTORY

Carburetor Shipments for Planes Halted.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 9 [Special].—A slowdown among United Automobile Workers of America [C. I. O.] in the aircraft division of the Bendix Products corporation was under federal investigation here tonight. It was said authoritatively that the slowdown, if not settled will curtail seriously production in many of the country's aircraft factories, to which Bendix supplies carburetors. Not a carburetor has been shipped in two days.

It also was disclosed that agents of the federal bureau of investigation have been investigating the sabotaging of carburetors in the Bendix plant. A company official confirmed this report. A number of aircraft carburetors, ready to be shipped, were found to have been tampered with so seriously as to render them useless.

United States Conciliator Arrives.

James F. Dewey, a federal labor conciliator, and two regional directors of the United Automobile Workers of America arrived here tonight. Dewey immediately went into conference with the C. I. O. union men, Richard T. Frankensteen and Richard T. Leonard, both of Detroit.

They announced they would meet at 9 a. m. tomorrow with representatives of the plant management and the South Bend local of the union. James McEwan is president of Bendix local No. 9 of the U. A. W. A.

It was said that company officials are apprehensive lest the slowdown be converted into a strike and spread thru the entire plant. Bendix manufactures automobile and aviation equipment and instruments in addition to the airplane carburetors.

The slowdown, investigators disclosed, is the latest in a series of similar obstructionist activities in the plant in recent weeks. All of these now are under federal investigation.

Dispute Over Foremen.

The most recent dispute arose over selection of foremen in the aircraft division. A statement by the company said:

"We selected foremen from within our plant to supervise work in the aircraft division. The union objected and demanded to select supervisors. The company contends it has the right at all times to select its own supervisory personnel."

Officials said a number of the employés had been sent home, some because there is no work for them on account of the slowdown and others because they refused to coöperate with the foremen.

U. S. MARINES PUT ON SPOT IN CHINA AS BRITISH LEAVE

Americans Left Under Jap Admiral's Rule.

SHANGHAI, China, Aug. 9 (AP).—Withdrawal of British troops from Chinese soil, announced today, will leave Shanghai's international defense forces, including about 1,000 United States marines, under the formal command of a Japanese rear admiral. American authorities refused to discuss possible developments.

Theoretically at least, Rear Admiral Moriji Takeda, commander of the Japanese bluejacket garrison, could station his men in the British defense sector of the International Settlement.

This includes the important central district of the settlement and the residential "extra-settlement" western area where thousands of foreigners, including Americans, live.

In a formal sense at least, as matters now stand, Takeda would direct the disposition of the armed forces, including the fourth regiment of United States Marines, as ranking officer of those left in representation of foreign powers interested in the complex Shanghai community.

Move to Meet Defense Needs.

The British had preserved this command by posting a major-general, Frank Simons, but he will go with the British troops being moved to Hongkong or Singapore in accordance with British defense needs—as the move was explained both here and in London. The American marine commander is Col. Dewitt Peck.

[In Washington, Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, said the British withdrawal would have no effect on the position of the United States there. In all, there are about 1,650 marines in China, counting detachments in Peking and Tientsin.]

A Japanese embassy spokesman said the Japanese were "very pleased" over the British decision to withdraw. He recalled that Japan had "suggested" that the forces of all belligerent powers be removed from China in order to prevent danger of clashes there and said he expected other belligerents would follow Britain's example.

Five Powers Represented.

Besides the British, American, and Japanese forces here there is a French garrison in the French concession and a small Italian marine unit, but the French now are considered nonbelligerents.

Moreover, they take no part in patroling the international settlement. Hence the British withdrawal will leave the American marines and Japanese bluejackets, between whom friction has arisen frequently in the past, the only important elements of the Shanghai defense forces.

[Departure of the 1,500 British troops "for service elsewhere" will leave 10,000 British subjects and investments estimated at £200,000,000 (approximately $800,000,000) to be guarded only by British naval units. British troops first landed in Shanghai about 100 years ago.]

Memorandum Sent to U. S.

At the time of the "suggestion" that belligerent troops leave China the Japanese sent a copy of their memorandum to American officials, but said it was for "information only." Altho Americans believe the Japanese would be glad to see the American regiment here and the small detachments at Peking and Tientsin removed they have not yet given official notice of such a desire.

Ma You-Feng, described as a lieutenant of Wang Ching-Wei, head of the Japanese dominated Nanking régime, was shot to death tonight in the International Settlement by an assassin who escaped.

MARINES TO STAY IN CHINA, SAYS SUMNER WELLES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 [Special].—United States marines in Shanghai and in northern China will remain there, at least for the present, regardless of the British withdrawal, Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, announced today.

The United States also does not intend to recede from her position on questions that have arisen out of the Sino-Japanese war, the latest being the imposition of an embargo against the export of aviation gasoline outside the western hemisphere, Welles pointed out.

Because of the importance of the American source of this product to her, Japan last Saturday made formal representations in a note given to Welles by Kensuke Horinouchi, the Japanese ambassador. Welles handed the ambassador the American reply today. The text was not made public, but it was assumed that it would be found to contain no promise of cancellation of the embargo.

BRITAIN'S CHILD EVACUATION PLAN WAITS ON NAVY

Balks at Sending Ships Without Escort.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 9.—THE TRIBUNE learned tonight that despite the lack of transportation the government has not yet abandoned its scheme to evacuate several thousand children "to Canada and the other dominions."

The government refuses to charter liners for this purpose, however, until special naval escorts can be provided. It is said "there are no early prospects."

200,000 Applications Filed.

When the lists closed last month, 200,000 applications had been received. Therefore there is little chance to further applications being invited before spring. The government said it would give preference to children from more vulnerable areas.

The serious effect of the war on schools was emphasized by H. Ramsbotham, president of the board of education, who said 33,000 London children over 5 years of age were "receiving no education." 126,800 were attending only half time, with only 26,400 receiving full schooling.

All Schools Shut at First.

When wholesale evacuation was decided on at the beginning of the war all schools were closed. Most of them were taken over for fire stations and ambulance centers. Then when the invasion of England was delayed the children began trickling back, but because no other buildings were suitable for air raid precaution work the schools remained in the hands of the defense forces. Home tutorial classes for small groups of children proved useful but inadequate.

Ramsbotham, however, said that owing to the fresh air and sunshine London children never enjoyed better health.

ATTY. GENERAL FINDS SHOCKING RELIEF FRAUDS

Asks County Prosecutors to Take Action.

Attorney General John E. Cassidy, in letters sent to the state's attorneys of all Illinois counties, recommended yesterday, "prompt and thoro investigation of the local administration of public relief." He said inquiry has revealed "a shocking state of dishonesty, fraud and official corruption in the handling of relief in certain townships."

"The facts show that public funds have been wasted, squandered, or criminally misappropriated," the letters said. "A number of felony convictions have been obtained. Trials on pending indictments will begin in two counties at an early date, and additional grand jury action is anticipated in other counties."

Looks for Other Frauds.

"These disclosures have come from such widely separated places and are so similar that I believe it reasonable to wonder whether similar frauds are going on in still other counties and remain to be exposed."

The administration of relief in Illinois is big business, involving the expenditure of about 5 million dollars monthly and the distribution of money, food, and supplies to some 160,000 direct relief clients. In recent years many cases of fraud on the part of local administration officials have been investigated or prosecuted.

Cassidy's letter did not state in what counties relief fraud cases are being prosecuted. However, Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, said, "I presume the attorney general refers to Williamson county."

In Williamson county Mrs. Ethel Webb, discharged Negro relief investigator, was acquitted July 13 of a conspiracy to defraud charge. She was alleged to have issued relief to 23 nonexistent persons. Mrs. Lizzie Sterns, a housewife, pleaded guilty to aiding and abetting her, but the plea was set aside when Mrs. Webb was acquitted.

Indicted on New Counts.

On July 16, however, a special grand jury indicted Mrs. Webb on five new counts involving alleged relief frauds. Investigators for the attorney general are reported to be still at work on the Williamson county situation.

Other recent developments in relief cases include the following:

Bowlesville township, Gallatin county — Complaints have been filed against Henry Barnard, township supervisor; his daughter, Mrs. Thelma Bouvinet, and Anna Smith, charging that reliefers were charged for items not received, and that the defendants paid themselves for services not performed.

Centerville township, St. Clair county — Albert Ulrich, township supervisor, and his two sisters, Josephine Ulrich and Louise Reiff, were sentenced to one to seven years each on charges ranging from conspiracy to falsifying records. They are free on bond pending an appeal, while five other persons are still under indictment.

Freeport township, Stephenson county—Fred H. Reiter, township supervisor; Dr. Karl B. Rieger, and Dr. James A. Poling are under indictments charging conspiracy and falsification of public records.

Scandal in Cook County.

In Cook county three persons arrested in connection with the Bremen township relief scandal are free on bond, while James Bennette, bookkeeper of the relief office which burned down Feb. 25, is still missing. He is sought for conspiracy, bigamy, and other charges.

Those arrested were Albert Stolz, coal dealer of Midlothian and Blue Island, charged with larceny and embezzlement; Eugene Brown, colored, relief investigator, charged with conspiracy and violation of the corrupt practices act, and Arthur Relher, operator of a filling station in Midlothian, charged with conspiracy in the cashing of checks forged and indorsed by Bennette as payment for fake disbursing orders.

Information on the relief administration in Bloom township, Cook county, has been turned over to the office of State's Attorney Courtney by the IERC at the request of Attorney General Cassidy. The IERC has notified the township that it will refuse to allocate further relief funds unless the present township supervisor, Dr. Edward S. Hayes, resigns.

Dies of Gun Wounds After Fight with Woman Robber

Frank Cavarratta, 29 years old, 1426 South Wabash avenue, died in Mercy hospital yesterday from bullet wounds incurred early Wednesday when he fought off a colored woman who attempted to rob him at 25th street and Wabash avenue. Cavarratta was an apprentice commercial photographer.

Wisconsin Beauties

Three Wisconsin beauties arrived in town yesterday, bringing an invitation to Chicagoans to visit their State fair. The Wisconsin fair opens Saturday, Aug. 17, in Milwaukee, to continue thru the 25th. The young emissaries of goodwill all have presided at previous fairs as dairy queens. They are Miss Alice Baker, 20 years old, of Edmund; Miss Charlotte Muller, 19, of Brodhead, and Miss Ruth Vinger, 18, of Argyle. They will return home tonight.

FOUR NEW ITEMS ADDED TO RELIEF BLUE STAMP LIST

Four new items — fresh apples, pears, peaches, and celery—will be added to the list of surplus foods which may be purchased with blue food stamps during the period from Aug. 12 thru Sept. 1, it was announced yesterday by Ellsworth F. J. Reilly, Chicago representative of the Surplus Market administration.

The blue food stamps are issued to eligible relief clients free, on the basis of 50 cents worth for each $1 in orange stamps purchased. While the orange stamps may be used to buy any foods, the blue stamps are good only for foods designated as surplus by the secretary of agriculture.

All items on the surplus list since the food stamp plan was inaugurated in Chicago Aug. 1 will be continued. These are: Butter, raisins, rice, pork lard, pork, corn meal, shell eggs, dried prunes, hominy grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour, whole wheat flour, fresh oranges, fresh snap beans, fresh beets, fresh cabbage, fresh corn, and fresh tomatoes.

MILK DRIVERS BEGIN CASE IN WAGE DISPUTE

The Milk Wagon Drivers' union began presenting evidence yesterday in support of its case in the arbitration hearings to fix the salaries of milk drivers. The union and the Associated Milk dealers submitted their dispute to arbitration when they were unable to agree on wages.

Henry Weber, president of the union, was the first witness called by Attorney David Riskind. He said the drivers work hard, put in long hours, and are entitled to their present base pay of $48 a week. James Kennedy, vice president, also testified.

The milk dealers completed their case Thursday before the arbitrators, who are holding the hearings in the Palmer House. The dealers offered a base salary of $30 a week and a guarantee of at least $36 a week with commissions, after two strikes had been called by the drivers last May. The drivers returned to work at the old scale pending a decision by the arbitrators.

Policeman Fired in Union Quiz Sues to Regain Post

William J. Kennedy, who was discharged from the police force April 15 on three charges, asked reinstatement yesterday in a mandamus action filed in Circuit court. Witnesses before the trial board testified that he attempted to recruit members for the Private Property Protectors' union, composed of private watchmen, of which his son, J. H. Kennedy, is financial secretary. In his suit Kennedy asked that trial board findings against him be expunged.

STATE WORKERS FIND THE BITE IS STILL 2 PER CENT

Slush Fund Boys Again Call for 'Volunteers.'

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—Pressure, only slightly concealed, was being exerted here today to compel cevil service employés of the state to donate 2 per cent of their annual salaries to the Democratic campaign fund.

It was learned that pledge cards were handed to all the civil service workers in code departments [those under direct control of the governor], and that these cards informed the recipients they were "free to donate to the party" if they wished.

Solicitors Get Solemn.

Some of the recipients said they were called into private conferences and informed solemnly by solicitors that they didn't have to kick in if they didn't want to—that no force could be exerted on those who refrained from donating.

"But every employé's name was on a card, which showed his address, his job and the county he came from," one worker said. "The inference seemed plain. If he didn't contribute the civil service employé would be reported to his county Democratic organization as a slacker."

This man said the solicitors went right on with their patter, suggesting that "if you want to help out the proper donation is 2 per cent for one year, or a week's pay." It was also suggested that payment could be in a lump sum or monthly instalments.

Who Gets It a Mystery.

The cards, which bore no name of a specific organization, asked that the pledges be sent to 602½ East Capitol avenue, Springfield. Formerly, this was the headquarters of the Democratic state central committee. The committee now operates from offices in the St. Nicholas hotel, and the Capitol address is designated as "Democratic headquarters, women's division." There was no indication who was to handle the money.

Collection of a 2 per cent slush fund by the Illinoisans, a Democratic club, was a major scandal of 1939 and early 1940. Efforts to force an accounting of its receipts and expenditures were made last spring, but the courts refused to order such a procedure. The state civil service law prohibits any political levies on civil service employés.

COURTNEY ASKS BAR GROUP FOR TAX FIX REPORTS

State's Attorney Courtney yesterday asked William H. King Jr., president of the Chicago Bar association, to give him copies of reports by the association on irregularities in Cook county personal property assessments. Any charges of tax fixing contained in the reports will be investigated, Courtney said. Courtney said King told him he would comply.

The association last week published its own report of tax frauds based on the committee's investigation, but omitted names of fixers and specific cases contained in the suppressed version.

County Assessor John S. Clark gave Courtney a copy of the abbreviated report yesterday.

Practical Jokers Fined for False Police Alarms

It cost John Ford, 1121 North Lockwood avenue, and Robert Pelham, 312 North Central avenue, $1 each yesterday to learn that practical jokers are not popular with the authorities. Judge Stephen Adamowski assessed the fines in Municipal court after Ford and Pelham, both chemists, admitted turning in false murder and shooting alarms from a tavern at 5617 Lake street Wednesday night.

Oil Poured on Fire Kills Mother and Two Children

Houghton, Mich., Aug. 9 (AP).—A farm mother and her two small children were burned to death and three others were severely injured today when fuel oil poured on a kitchen fire exploded and ignited their clothing. Fatally burned were Mrs. Oscar Anttonen and her children, Kenneth, 2 years old, and Doris, 8 months old. The house was destroyed.

Mother Slays 2 Children, Sets Auto Afire, Kills Self

Doland, S. D., Aug. 9. (AP).—Mrs. Guy Gilbert, 32 year old farm woman, today shot and killed her two children and then committed suicide after setting fire to an automobile containing the three. The children were, Norma, 8, and Ronald 4. The woman's husband said they had quarreled over her desire to sell the farm and move to town.

Fight Park Litter

Therese Roche holding one of the park board's antilitter signs.

The Park district served notice yesterday that it is tired of having the public strew the parks with waste paper, bottles, and other litter. George T. Donoghue, parks superintendent, announced that thousands of the following signs soon will be posted thruout the parks:

"Help keep Chicago's parks clean! Place paper and all other rubbish in waste containers. . . . WARNING! Park district ordinances prohibit littering. Violators are subject to arrest and fine of $5 or more."

Donoghue said it has been costing about $150,000 a year to clean up rubbish in the parks. In 1939 the litter consisted of 8,000 truck loads totaling 540,000 cubic feet—enough to cover nearly 12 acres of land to a depth of one foot. A force of 320 men and 28 large trucks was required to remove the waste.

"For the convenience of the public," Donoghue said pointedly, "12,000 rubbish containers have been placed thruout the parks and boulevards."

FLOODED CITIES IN LOUISIANA GET U. S., STATE HELP

Crowley, La., Aug. 9 (AP).—Red Cross, state and federal agencies hurriedly mobilized their forces today to administer emergency aid to 10,000 refugees driven from their homes in southwest Louisiana by two days of torrential rain which natives said surpassed the landmark flood of 1927.

Governor Sam Jones at Baton Rouge said that the homeless are in need of immediate supplies, declaring that most of them are "cut off from the outside world."

He appealed for food, clothing, bedding, medicine and boats to send into the disaster area, particularly to Crowley, where the brunt of the floods centered.

Both Crowley and her sister city, Lafayette, similarly stricken, reported the rains let up during the day after flooding the city streets from a few inches to 10 feet deep. Business was paralyzed, highway traffic was flooded out, with transportation limited to boats or main line railroads.

SCHOOL BOY FOUND HANGED.

W. C. T. U. SNIFFS DISPLEASURE AT USE OF TOBACCO

The W. C. T. U. went outside the confines of pure alcohol yesterday and puts itself officially on record against tobacco as well.

The organization, meeting in national convention at the Stevens hotel, did this by means of a resolution addressed to the railroads, air lines, and buses, asking for private smoking compartments [for smokers; not for the W. C. T. U.]. The members admit that most trains have smoking compartments, but say that most smokers scorn them.

Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, national president, elaborating upon the resolution, said nonsmokers are in the majority thruout the world. Their word and wishes thus should be heeded, she said.

The temperance pledge of the W. C. T. U. is directed at alcohol, and no mention is made in it of tobacco, but Mrs. Smith is confident none of the 500,000 ladies in its membership smoke. "It's a matter of common understanding," she said.

RECORDER STAFF TO PICNIC TODAY AND PAY FOR IT

Three hundred employés of the county recorder were grimly determined yesterday to enjoy the fourth annual picnic today of the Edward J. Kaindl Welfare Association of the Recorder's Office, Inc.

"It's got to be a good picnic," said one employé between set teeth. "It cost me $35."

The frolic is being held at Viani's grove, Park Ridge, and will include races, refreshments, and raffles. Employés said they were each assessed 25 per cent of a month's salary for the event. On this basis the picnic should be a $14,162 picnic, since the monthly pay roll is $56,650.

Recorder Kaindl said the picnic money represented voluntary contributions to the welfare association.

John Glorius, president of the welfare group, said the picnic didn't cost any employé more than 10 or 12 per cent of a month's salary.

OUR PROBLEM OF UPHOLDING THE MONROE DOCTRINE

Is America safe from invasion? Can the Panama canal be defended? What foreign possessions dot American waters?

Tomorrow's Chicago Sunday Tribune will bring you a page-size full color map of the western hemisphere showing in clear detail the vital land, sea and air bases needed to bolster our national defense. Airline mileages, sea lanes, islands, straits and many other essential facts about the relation of North, Central and South America to Europe and Asia will be indicated on this informative map.

Read about the role the United States must play to make the Monroe Doctrine work in the article accompanying the map—why defense of the Caribbean is absolutely vital to this country—and what measures could be taken to insure protection from foreign invasion. Don't miss this outstanding, timely feature in tomorrow's Color Graphic section.

ELISSA LANDI'S PICTURE IN NATURAL COLOR

Miss Landi, Phillips Holmes and an all star radio cast appear each week over W-G-N on Fridays at 7 p. m. in "Wings for America"—dramatic photo-radio serial of fifth column activities in America. You will want to read this week's episode in tomorrow's Color Graphic section.

SMART SCHOOL-GOING CLOTHES YOU CAN MAKE YOURSELF

A jumper frock, a boxy jacket with flared skirt, a dress-up frock—these are just three of the page-full of new Clotilde designs which will be described and pictured in full color tomorrow in the Women's Feature section. Sewing is fun with such smart, inexpensive patterns as these original, good-looking fashions which you can make at small cost. See them tomorrow!

GLAMOR BOY! Meet Sabu, the 16 year old juvenile film star from India, to whom riding elephants is old stuff but riding his own automobile definitely new and exciting. Another Hollywood closeup by John Chapman—in tomorrow's Color Graphic section.

SOLVE INTRICATE RAIL PROBLEM—TREK TO ELWOOD

Experts Plan for Weeks to Handle Throngs.

One of the most intricate problems in American railroad history is being solved, with vast attention to detail, by officials of the Pennsylvania system. The problem is how to get 25,000 persons into Elwood, Ind., for Wendell L. Willkie's notification next Saturday and out again the same day—all over a single track.

H. E. Newcomet.

The planning for the concentration, the largest rail movement ever attempted in the middle west under comparable conditions, is in charge of Vice President H. E. Newcomet, chief executive of the Pennsylvania's western region.

In all, 34 Pennsylvania trains will be run into Elwood, unloaded, parked while the passengers listen and view the ceremonies, reloaded and started back to the cities from which they came; all within the space of a few hours.

The Nickel Plate railroad also is anticipating a heavy traffic and has planned to run 14 trains on its single track line, which croses the Pennsylvania's in Elwood. Its estimate of the number of passengers to be carried is 10,000.

Plans Started Weeks Ago.

Several weeks ago the planning began. Newcomet, General Manager J. M. Symes and a staff of experts began studying blueprints and track charts bearing on Elwood conditions. Then they made an inspection trip to the scene.

Next, they called in heads of the operating, maintenance and traffic divisions and specialists. These experts were told the movement must be made smoothly and with dispatch—that they must demonstrate the efficiency with which it could be carried out.

A simple list of the conferees goes a long way toward showing how complicated the task was to be: two general superintendents, from Chicago and Indianapolis; the chief engineer, maintenance of way; general superintendent of motive power; superintendents of freight and passenger transportation; general passenger agent, superintendent of telegraph and signals, superintendent of police, and assistant superintendent of dining car service.

Work Out Their Schedule.

The general passenger agent furnished figures to show that the 34 trains, with 12 to 24 cars each, would be needed. The operating heads found that, to conveniently meet the needs of the passengers, these trains would have to move into Elwood at 20 minute intervals from the north—and at the same rate from the south. In substance, a train would have to be halted and unloaded, on the average, every 10 minutes.

To do this on a single track line two stations were needed. It was found that the 9th street station in Elwood could be used by the southbound trains and the regular station for those northbound.

But neither station was equipped with platforms long enough to permit passengers to debark quickly. That disability was to be ended; orders were issued to lengthen the platforms to train length. The work is now in progress, and public address systems are being installed as aids in loading and unloading.

Additional personnel also has been arranged for. Twenty-four uniformed railroad policemen and a number of information men will be in Elwood thruout the day. The two terminals are about equally distant from Callaway park, where the notification ceremonies will be held.

45 Locomotives Assigned.

Forty-five locomotives have been assigned to the work of hauling the trains and parking the cars. All are of the latest steam types in passenger use. Parking space for each train has been marked off and no delays in this respect are anticipated.

The 12 trains from Chicago will run via Logansport. Special pilots familiar with the road will join the regular engine crews at that point. The actual movement south of Logansport will be in charge of the road's Cincinnati division. To assure fast and sure movement at Elwood a train dispatcher's office with 38 operators will be set up there. The general manager and his staff will be on hand to supervise activities.

Safety measures have not been forgotten, and special watchmen will be assigned to crossings near the town.

$300,000 for Trip.

The Pennsylvania has estimated that its 25,000 passengers will spend a total of $200,000 for tickets, food, and refreshments. On this basis the Nickel Plate's delegation would spend $80,000 more.

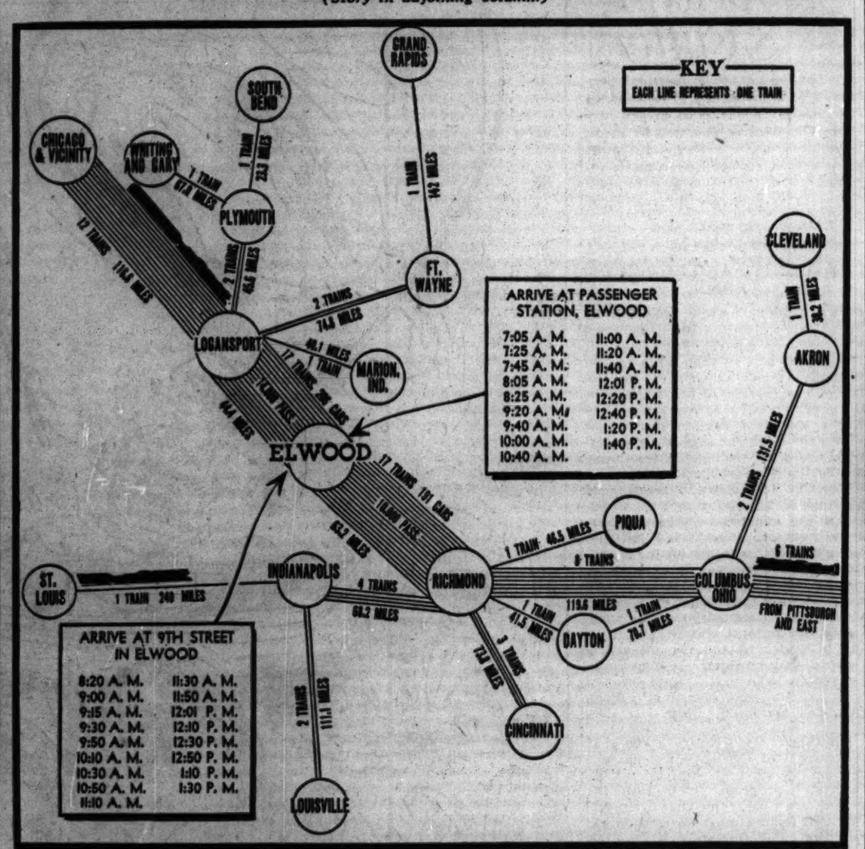
The Nickel Plate will have two trains from Chicago, one from New York City, two from Buffalo, N. Y., one from Texas, one from St. Louis, and several from Ohio. It has assigned about 125 cars to this transportation movement.

Old Clothes Solicitor Gets 30 Days in Jail

Michael Kalinowski, 47 years old, a former grocer, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail yesterday by Judge Jay A. Schiller in Racine avenue court for soliciting contributions of clothes on the pretense they were for the American Red Cross. He was seized by West North avenue police shortly after an intended victim complained of his activities to the Better Business bureau.

Railroad to Carry 25,000 to Notification Ceremony

(Story in adjoining column.)



Scheduled movement of Pennsylvania railroad passenger trains to Elwood, Ind., on Aug. 17 for Wendell Willkie notification ceremonies. In addition, the Nickel Plate railroad will carry 10,000 more to the affair.

ORDERS PROBE OF GUIDE BOOK TO PRESERVES

Chief of Forests May Recall Material.

Charles G. Sauers, general superintendent of the forest preserve district, said yesterday that he was investigating a "Guide to the Preserves," which is being published by a group soliciting advertising at page rates of between $150 and $250.

"If charges against the book are substantiated," Sauers said, "the county board will withdraw its permission to publish it and will recall all material placed at the disposal of the publishers."

Printed By Goldstein Paper.

The publication first came under scrutiny when the dummy, or plan copy, was found to have been printed by the Waukegan Post, published by William Goldstein, personal attorney for William R. [Billy] Skidmore, alleged fixer for the gambling syndicate. Skidmore is to go on trial Aug. 27 on a charge of conspiracy to evade payment of income tax.

Sauers said he had been approached by Henry Sloan, of 2853 Montrose avenue, a former WPA author, who told him that he had planned such a book while a member of the Federal Writers' project. Sloan left the project at the end of the 18 month maximum period a writer may remain on the rolls.

"We could see no objection at the time if the book were to sell at a nominal price and would cost the county nothing," Sauers said. "I had no understanding that advertising was to be sold."

Publishers Explain Plans.

The publishers organized as the Bureau of Public Information, with an office at 154 East Erie street, are Sloan, Eugene Diamond of the Milner hotel, and Jacob Crane, 656 Grace street. Diamond said that there was no intention to sell advertising on a political basis or to solicit persons doing business with the forest preserves.

"We published the dummy copies thru the Waukegan Post because they offered a cheap printing rate," he said.

Curtis MacDougall, director of the Federal Writers' project, revealed meanwhile that the project also intended to publish a book on the forest preserves if preserve officials would pay the cost. Sauers said that the preserve has never contemplated paying for publication of any such brochure.

1ST NEGRO POLICE CAPTAIN WILL BE SWORN IN TODAY

Lieut. John Thomas Scott of the Stanton avenue police will be sworn in this morning as Chicago's first Negro police captain, Commissioner Allman announced yesterday. Lieut. Scott was appointed to the police force in 1907, became a sergeant in 1919, and a lieutenant in 1927.

Lieut. Scott.

He has received 18 creditable mentions and three extra compensations. In his police career he has killed two bandits and wounded several others.

His appointment will fill a vacancy left by the retirement of Capt. George Lynch of the Austin station. Scott has not been assigned to a post yet, however, Allman said. Scott was born in Houston, Tex., in 1580. He and his wife, Margaret, live at 6428 South Evans avenue.

EDWARD BEAGLE OF ALLEGAN DIES.

Allegan, Mich., Aug. 9 [Special].—Edward Beagle, 72 years old, for many years a resident of Allegan, died last night at Lakeland, Mich. He is survived by a son, Charles, and three daughters, Mrs. Floyd Page, Mrs. James Kaylor, Allegan, and Mrs. Everett Hastings. Funeral will be here Sunday.

Cop and 'Possum

Lieut. Albert Borre of Wilmette police and opossum.

When Policeman John Hendricks of Wilmette trapped an opossum—singlehanded—last Tuesday he thought at once of his boss, Lieut. Albert Borre. Lieut. Borre recently acquired a hound but had had no opportunity to learn whether the dog could tree a 'possum or do such field work as any good hound should do.

Policeman Hendricks carted the 'possum from the 600 block of Elmwood avenue in the suburb where it had been annoying the neighbors to Lieut. Borre's back yard. Lieut. Borre is a busy man, and yesterday was his first chance to take a good look at his new acquisition.

He opened the box. Inside was Mrs. 'Possum and a new hungry family. He still doesn't know whether his dawg is a good worker.

STORE OFFICIAL TO FACE QUIZ ON CAMPAIGN PLEA

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 (AP).—The senate campaign expenditures committee today requested C. B. Tuttle, Detroit executive of the S. S. Kresge company, to appear for questioning about a letter Tuttle sent to some company employés regarding contributions for the campaign of Wendell L. Willkie, Republican Presidential nominee.

Senator Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.], chairman of the committee, said he had been instructed by the committee to invite Tuttle to give his views on the letter, inasmuch as Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.] had complained formally that it appeared that coercion of company employés was involved in the letter.

Tuttle said in Detroit that the letter was sent only to company store managers and other officials and not to clerks, as Byrnes had charged. He said it was neither a "touch" nor a demand for contributions.

Youth Faces Federal Trial in Threat to Kill Roosevelt

Bemidji, Minn., Aug. 9 (AP).—Charged with threatening to take the life of President Roosevelt, Walter Fuhrman, 22 years old, Leech lake resort worker, was bound over here late yesterday to the December term of federal court at Duluth. Fuhrman appeared before United States Court Commissioner Herbert E. Olson, and was released after posting $500 bond. He was charged under the United States criminal code. The resort worker, it is charged, said on July 18 he hoped for a chance to shoot President Roosevelt before he could take office again.

Three Killed in Crash of Private Plane in Kentucky

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 9 (AP).—A student pilot and two passengers were killed today when an airplane crashed near a Louisville golf course. The dead were identified as Fred H. Strobel Jr., 19, the pilot; Chester Lee Schweitzer, 21, and Leonard Miller, 19, all of Louisville. Two men working in a field said the plane was circling at a low altitude as if to land when it plunged to the ground.

IT'S SKOKIE! GIVE NILES CENTER BACK TO INDIANS

Win 2 Year Fight to 'Modernize' Name.

Skokie, Ill., is going to be the new name of the village of Niles Center.

The suburb approached the end of two years of wrangling over its name at a committee meeting in the village hall last night. The committee, consisting of village trustees and representatives of civic organizations, was appointed to settle the row once and for all.

This Was the Vote.

The members settled it with this vote: Skokie, 15; Oakly, 4; Ridgemoor, 2; Woodridge, 1; West Ridge, 1; not voting, 1. Then it was moved to make Skokie the unanimous choice.

President George E. Blameuser and all six trustees voted for Skokie. Trustee Ambrose Brod said ratification by the board at its meeting Aug. 20 would be a matter of routine.

Petitions bearing the signatures of 15 per cent of the voters at the last election, requesting the change to Skokie, are to be presented at that time. No difficulty in getting signers is anticipated.

Didn't Like Hick Name.

Objections to Niles Center as a village name were first voiced on the ground it made the suburb sound like a hick town. Diehards growled and said Niles Center was O. K.; Oshkosh, with a hick name, was doing all right.

A number of recommendations to support the choice of the Indian name of Skokie were advanced at the committee meeting. The suburb occupies part of the Skokie valley; the Skokie highway is its main thorofare. There are no other Skokies in the United States postal guide and there will be no confusion with Niles Township and the Village of Niles, 4 miles away, as in the past.

MISSING COUPLE HOME; APPLY FOR LICENSE TO WED

Dixon, Ill., Aug. 9 [Special].—Mystery surrounding the whereabouts of Genevieve Full, 16 years old, a housemaid of nearby Sublette, reported by her parents to have been kidnaped three weeks ago by a spurned lover, Russell Meyers, 28, ended today with the disclosure that they returned home Wednesday.

The girl's mother, Mrs. John Full, who had expressed herself as worried to distraction when her daughter was the object of a search by police of five states, said today she didn't know where the couple had been or what they had been doing because she hadn't asked them.

Altho county authorities had been told the couple had been married in the south, they applied at the county clerk's office here today for a marriage license. A warrant charging Meyers with kidnaping, sworn out by Genevieve's father, was withdrawn July 22. Mrs. Full said no prosecution was now contemplated.

MAP CONFERENCE MONDAY TO IRON OUT TRANSIT ROW

Mayor Kelly said yesterday that members of the city council transportation committee and representatives of the transit lines will meet Monday in an attempt to iron out remaining points of dispute in the proposed unified traction ordinance.

The mayor conferred yesterday with the transportation committee, headed by Ald. James R. Quinn [50th]. He said a pension plan for employés of the proposed unified system and the question of points of transfer under unification are two of the unsettled questions.

The city and the lines are not far apart on the ordinance terms, he said.

KANKAKEE CARPENTER DIES.

Kankakee, Ill., Aug. 9 [Special].—Edward Golding, 69 years old, carpenter, died today in St. Mary's hospital. A native of England, he had resided in this country since childhood. The funeral will be Monday from St. Rose church.

DEMOCRATS PLAN CAMPAIGN BOOK, NEW CHIEF SAYS

More Advertising Than Usual, Flynn Asserts.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 (AP).—Edward J. Flynn of New York, the new Democratic national chairman, said today that the Democrats planned to sell a "campaign book" carrying "more advertisments than usual" because he knew of "no Hatch act provision against it at the time the book was started."

Edward J. Flynn.

Grinning and chewing gun imperturbably, at a press conference, Flynn said the book, similar to previous ones, would sell for 25 cents and come out as usual.

Some one asked about the Hatch act's prohibitions, and both Flynn and Charles Michelson, Democratic publicity director, chimed in to say they knew of no such restrictions "at the time the book was started."

Jackson Sees Loophole.

The Hatch act, signed by the President Aug. 2, forbids the purchase of "any goods, commodities, advertising or articles of any kind or description" where the proceeds directly or indirectly "inure to the benefit of or for any candidate for an elective federal office."

Attorney General Jackson declared in a letter to Senator Carl A. Hatch [D., N. M.], on Monday that even this left a loophole and suggested that congress include the seller in the prohibition.

"It is the sellers who systematicolly plan such devices and bring pressure on buyers to subscribe," Jackson wrote. "If we are to be successful in going before juries to punish those who buy we must also be authorized to include in the proceedings those who sell."

Reports Elwood Project.

When reporters continued to question him, Flynn casually picked up a clipping and summarized a newspaper editorial dated Aug. 2 stating that a committee in Elwood, Ind., was selling advertising at $1,000 a page for a booklet to be distributed in connection with the notification ceremonies of Wendell L. Willkie, Republican Presidential nominee.

Representative Joseph W. Martin [R., Mass.], chairman of the Republican national committee, promptly issued a statement saying:

"Ed Flynn's statement that 'the Elwood notification committee for Willkie for President is putting out a book at $1,000 a page' is absolutely untrue and without any basis in fact. Neither the Elwood notification nor any other Republican group supporting Willkie is soliciting advertising in any kind of book or publication."

Martin said "a local group in Elwood" had started soliciting advertising for a souvenir booklet "without any authority whatever," using "my name as 'honorary chairman.'" When it heard of this "unauthorized undertaking," Martin said, the Republican committee stopped it.

Sues Husband

MRS. BARBARA BIRD.

Mrs. Barbara Senn Bird, 30 years old, of 3260 Lake Shore drive, filed suit for divorce on grounds of desertion yesterday in the Superior court against George Curtis Bird, 35, of Los Angeles, who formerly was in the automobile business here with his father. Mrs. Bird is the daughter of Dr. William N. Senn of the Ambassador hotel and the granddaughter of Dr. Nicholas J. Senn, after whom the high school is named. Her bill, filed by Attorney Robert B. Mullaney, stated that Bird left her Feb. 15, 1939. There are no children. At her wedding Dec. 9, 1933, Mrs. Bird was attended by her twin sister, Dorothy.

AIR LINER ATTACK SUSPECT SEEN FLEEING AIRPORT

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 9 [Special].—A suspicious acting man who hurried from the Municipal airport Wednesday night was being sought today in a widened investigation into the mystery surrounding the reported slugging of a stewardess aboard an American Airlines sky sleeper.

A taxicab driver, Woodrow Woods, was quoted as saying the man entered his cab immediately after the air liner landed with Stewardess Rosemary Griffith bruised and hysterical from an attack she said she suffered from a man who demanded the key to the plane's baggage compartment.

"The man appeared to have been a passenger on the plane," Woods said. "I took him to the Union station in time to catch a train for Birmingham. He was exceedingly nervous and appeared to be in a hurry to get away from the airport."

Inspector C. E. Ison of Fort Worth, Tex., a representative of the Civil Aeronautics authority, and Postal Inspector R. H. Dennis questioned Miss Griffith today about the mysterious attack.

When asked about a reported quarrel with a friend before leaving New York, Miss Griffith became hysterical and said it was a "pure falsehood."

BOY BICYCLIST KILLED.

Bourbon, Ill., Aug. 9 [Special].—Charles Bloemker, 16, of near here, was fatally injured late yesterday afternoon when the bicycle he was riding was struck by an automobile driven by Howard Schue of Tuscola, Ill.

TWO WORKMEN DIE; 82 ESCAPE AS PLANT BURNS

Two men were burned to death and another was injured seriously yesterday in a fire that swept thru upper floors of the five story plant of the Advance Cabinet company, manufacturers of radio cabinets at 2141 Iowa street. Eighty-two other employés escaped. Fire Commissioner Michael Corrigan estimated the damage at $50,000.

Anton Bajorek.

The workers killed were Anton Bajorek, 35 years old, 935 North Wolcott avenue, and Henry Nacky, 55, of 1914 South Leavitt street. Their bodies were found in a fourth floor workroom, where they were trapped. Nacky went to work for the company only three days ago after being unemployed for three months.

The injured man is Joseph Roske, 60, of 5235 Berteau avenue, finishing room foreman. He was burned when he tried to put out the blaze after it started shortly before noon in a ventilating motor in the finishing and lacquering room on the fourth floor.

URGE BUSINESS, CIVIC BODIES TO AID REGISTRATION

Harry A. Lipsky, member of the board of election commissioners, announced yesterday the Association of Commerce and leading civic bodies are being asked to coöperate in the board's campaign to increase registration for the November election.

Registrations are being received in the board offices on the third floor of the city hall from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday thru Friday. Saturday hours are from 9 a. m. to noon. Registration will close Oct. 7. Lipsky said the board contemplates again using the city's fire stations for regional registration offices the 10 days preceding Oct. 7.

Voters who must register are those who have never registered under the permanent registration law, or who will become of age before election day, Nov. 5, or who have changed their names or moved.

FIFTH COLUMNS.

In his message to the conference of state and federal officials concerned with law enforcement, the President recommended legislation to curb fifth column activities in this country. He said the new laws should be carefully considered before passage, recommended parallel action by state and federal governments, and sounded a warning against busybodies and vigilantes.

What seems to have been the first of these carefully considered bills has now been jammed thru the house with only a handful of members present. It permits the G-men to tap telephone wires to catch spies who might interfere with preparations for national defense. It is perhaps unnecessary to point out that permission to tap telephone wires for any purpose is permission to tap all telephone wires for all purposes.

There was a striking omission in Mr. Roosevelt's remarks as they were read to the conference by Attorney General Jackson. Mr. Roosevelt saw that the presence in the population of spies, saboteurs, and organizers of subversive movements constituted a danger to the country, but he had nothing to say about the greater danger of fifth columnists within the ranks of the federal government itself. That is a menace which never existed to any extent before Mr. Roosevelt took office and which exists today because he deliberately fostered it in the face of repeated warnings of the consequences.

Every immigrant group in this country has its organizations, and there is reason to believe that some of them are not wholly devoted to the maintenance of American institutions. Presumably, also, the principal foreign governments have their spies in America as in all other countries and would not hesitate to use them for subversive purposes as opportunity and occasion provided. But only one foreign power has its fol-dowers planted in the federal government itself and that power is not Fascist Italy nor Nazi Germany, but communist Russia. The menace of fifth column activity by the Marxists is far greater than all the others combined precisely because the Marxists are already in a position to do the maximum of damage with the minimum of risk. They have the information which only insiders possess and they have the protection which insiders enjoy. Their telephone wires will not be tapped.

The quality of this protection was indicated the other day when the Smith committee disclosed that David Saposs was still on the pay roll of the National Labor Relations board. Mr. Saposs says he is not a communist and his denial need not be questioned here. The point is that congress regarded his views and his connections as dubious and accordingly proposed to remove him from office by declining to appropriate for his salary. Mr. Saposs was not removed from the pay roll. By a subterfuge—the change in name of the division which employed him—he was retained in service. Mr. Madden, the chairman of the labor board, testified that Mr. Saposs today is doing about the same work he always did.

This administration now regards Russia as hostile but it retains the services of Marxist sympathizers in influential positions. The administration has fostered and continues to foster communist influences in the trade unions. The communist strength in the Youth movement and in the organization of the relliefers owes everything to support from the White House. Thanks to all these efforts the communists may now be in a position to interfere with the recruitment of the army and to hamper industry and especially such basic industries as motors, steel, shipping, power, and communications.

In sum, the fifth column activities which appear most likely to weaken the country and lead to its defeat or destruction are precisely those which Mr. Roosevelt has encouraged in the past and ignores today.

SOME AMERICAN MINORITIES.

The European minorities by their separatist movements tried to break big nations into little ones. The suddenness with which this trend was stopped was explosive. Now the little ones are being herded into one big realm. They are taken into protective custody in another search for a unity which will take the form of a new continental empire.

The North American continent has had several experiences with minorities, including one with the Indian minority and excluding the melting pot phase of national life. The history of the Indian minority is spotty. It has changed from a majority to a minority. Our story is that it was for the greater good. That may not be the Indian story.

The French Canadian minority has the most successful history. It was left untouched to continue in possession of all rights and privileges and to preserve its culture and customs. Another successful minority, as we see it, was the American minority in Mexico. It was the most turbulent minority which ever penetrated a country, and it worked faster than any had before. In a few years it had ripped an empire away from the land which had encouraged it to come in.

THEY WANT CONSCRIPTION.

The sincere and honest front of the drive for conscription is made up of military men and civilians, many of them with military experience, some of them wealthy, who think that the draft offers the only plan by which service can be put on an equitable basis, by which the burden of war can be equalized, and by which enough troops can be raised. Among the advocates of conscription are officers of the regular army, trained in the German tradition, and the members of the Military Training Camps' association.

Some of these advocates brought a great deal of criticism down on themselves, largely undeserved. They are sincere and they are patriotic but they are not in touch with the country and they do not know that thousands of men would be willing to volunteer for national defense who will not volunteer for service in Europe, the Philippines, or South America. The sincere supporters of conscription are unaware, furthermore, that they are being used as a front in a conspiracy with two objectives.

One object is to get the United States into the war, whatever might be the consequences to this country. Some of the conspirators, whose slogan in reality is "nothing short of war," think the conscription psychology will help them get what they want. They work up fears and apprehensions, spreading the idea that Americans may be chased from their beds any night by an invader. If they could get conscription, they would think that the conscripts were then on their way to Europe.

The other objective is the putting over of the third term. The indispensable man sought the third nomination by every possible political maneuver and took it solely, he said, because of the national peril arising from the war abroad. Indispensability is based on peril, and peril must be promoted by every trick known to the politician.

The National Guard must be called out and all the citizens must be registered for the draft. The conscripts must be marched off to camps which do not exist, to be trained in the use of weapons the arsenals cannot furnish. The excitement must be kept at a high pitch and the people must be led to believe that amphibian tanks, like prehistoric monsters, may soon be crawling out of the sea to storm the coast cities and may be climbing up the river banks to devastate the interior at any moment.

Excitement must be kept at a high pitch if the third term is to be swallowed. Nothing will do more to keep excitement rising than the tramp of the National Guard and the departure of conscripted civilians carrying their suitcases to the trains. There are other persons advocating conscription who do so because it pays. There is a lot of war money to be had now.

MR. DEWEY TAKES THE STUMP.

Thomas E. Dewey will be worth a corps to the army backing the election of Mr. Willkie. In accepting his offer of services and assigning him his subject and area of attack, the candidate has shown himself to be a shrewd political strategist.

Mr. Dewey will speak in the middle west on the relation of political machines to good government. It is in this area that the voters may be expected to be most sensitive to the contradiction between the cry of Roosevelt and Humanity and the corrupt municipal machines that are bawling it the loudest.

In his own campaign for the nomination, Mr. Dewey made a deep impression on the voters with his discussions of political corruption, both in the Roosevelt administration and in the city machines that have become its main bulwark in this campaign. Everywhere he spoke his attacks were effective. They will be more so now. His hearers will no doubt recall the voice of Sewer Commissioner Garry howling, "Mayor Kelly wants Roosevelt . . , Mayor Hague wants Roosevelt" into the Stadium loud speaker system.

The appearance of Mr. Dewey on his behalf guarantees that Mr. Willkie will drive gangland out of government.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The revelation by the Smith committee that the National Labor Relations board has kept David Saposs on the pay roll in disregard of the will of congress provides another evidence of the need for amendment of the Wagner act. An agency of congress which holds itself above congress is a dangerous instrument of tyranny. If there is any self-respect, to say nothing of regard, for the spirit of democratic institutions to be found in the two houses, the amendments to the Wagner act will be passed speedily. If the insolent conduct of the labor board is taken lying down the burocracy in all its branches will regard the failure to act as an invitation to disregard all restraints.

The Saposs incident serves to draw attention to another piece of unfinished business—the Walter-Logan bill. This measure is designed to protect the rights of citizens by requiring the administrative boards to observe rules of fairness and by assuring appeal to the courts from decisions thought to be contrary to the evidence or otherwise unjust or lawless. The measure is opposed only by those who believe in the divine authority of the burocracy.

Editorial of the Day

CHAIRMAN FLYNN.

[Newark News.]

Jim Farley has balled out and Ed Flynn, boss of the Bronx, becomes the new Democratic national chairman. In a way, Mr. Flynn compensates for Secretary Wallace. As Vice Presidential nominee, Mr. Wallace will take care of the ideals, while Mr. Flynn will take care of the votes. It makes a neat balance, except in the treasury, and leaves Mr. Roosevelt free to take care of humanity and accumulated deficits, aided and abetted by those superhumanitarians, Messrs. Hague and Kelly.

Mr. Wallace is no ball of fire to those other Friends of the Farmer who hail from the corn belt of Jersey City, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Manhattan, and Memphis. To them he is still an escaped Republican from Iowa. But Mr. Flynn, he's different. He clings as tenaciously to Jeffersonian tradition as any southern Democrat, including Claude Pepper and the Hon. William H. Smathers of North Carolina and the Boardwalk. For the Hagues, Kellys, Guffeys and Crumps, the new chairman represents a net gain over other New Deal heroes. He speaks their language.

As for Mr. Farley, Good Old Pal Jim, as Mr. Roosevelt called him on a national hookup, he retires to take over another buildup. He will operate the New York Yankees. They used to be champions, too.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the gnips fall where they may.

DESIGN FOR LAUGHING.

A priceless souvenir of this column's good old days will presently decorate the walls of the Linemaster's palatial suite of offices, over in the dark nor'east corner of the Sunday room. A gift from good John McCutcheon, it is the original of his cartoon, "At the Grand Annual Convention of the Academy," published on July 27, 1924.

The drawing represents a meeting of the academy of Line o' Type characters with queer names [real people, too], designated as "immortals" by B. L. T. and R. H. L., column conductors. Jett Wimp, in cap and gown, is presiding over the large assembly as dean of the academy, and Ory Six is rising to propose Clem Shaver and C. Bascom Slemp as new members. Others in the foreground are Tell Binkley, Miss Fawn Lippincutt, Miss Tawney Apple, Andrew Gump, Cale Fluhart, Miss Iva Sin, Mrs. Icy Beers, Bunn the Baker of Baraboo, Roley Akers, and Harm Poppen. Seated beside Jett Wimp, as sergeant at arms, is Ez Pash. Newt Plum, Rollin Pease, and Alex Tansey are background figures.

Thank you, John.

NORTH WOODS FAREWELL.

Enhanced by parting words, I find this place
Grown so familiar thru long summer hours,
Deep-etched upon my mind like some loved face.
The bracken's fronds, pale birch, tall pines' dark towers,
Mysterious waters with their reed-fringed shores,
Blue heron moving thru the purpled dusk,
The loon's wild cry; all these are now closed doors.
Farewell, my north woods land; the fragrant musk
Of cherished days will linger on tho I
May mark no more your winding woodland trails.
No lure of mountain heights pressed to the sky,
No surf that beats the shore with mighty flails
Can swerve the pledge to beauty that I made
Within the silence of your templed shade!

Have You Studied Under Prof. McBeth?

Bughouse square may have declined and fallen [Aug. 5], but its best orators have moved on to better things, and in the spring, fall, and winter months may be heard at the Social Science institute, 728 North Clark street, second floor, rear. This rostrum is owned and operated by Prof. Jack McBeth, who uses big words and is as familiar with the writings of Veblen, Ricardo, Adam Smith, John Stuart Mill, Locke, Tom Paine, Charles Bradlaugh, Rousseau, Erasmus, Dostoevski, Spinoza, and Coin Harvey as a Chicago west sider is with the ring encounters of King Levinsky.

Single taxers, double taxers, share the wealthers, technocrats, physiocrats, socialists, nudists, bolshevists, and machinists unlimber there; and on Sunday nights Prof. Sam Ball lectures on the French revolution, taking a fling at Danton, Marat, Desmoulins, Robespierre, and others of that line of thought. The price of admission is 10 cents, and in poor but deserving cases Prof. McBeth has been known to put it on the cuff.

The Song the Sirens Sing.

Whenever I am aroused from sound slumber by the shrieking sirens of the Chicago police department, I lie awake the rest of the night wondering why this name was given to these instruments of torture. The song of the sirens of mythology was so sweet and seductive as to make goofs and fish food out of ancient mariners.

TWO IN A BOAT.

If your little boy should grow
To a youth you scarcely know
And you would not have it so,
Take him fishin'!

There's a get-acquainted breeze
And the whispering of trees
Puts you both upon your ease
When you're fishin'.

Out of bed at break of dawn,
Meeting up with doe and fawn,
Where the hungry big-mouth spawn,
Then to fishin'.

Still and calm, serene and fine,
Lonely, walled by birch and pine,
Nature puts you both in line,
Sittin', fishin'.

Porcupine and laughing loon,
Sunsets, northern lights, and moon,
Perfect days that end too soon,
Wishin', fishin'.

There's a vast amount of joy,
Pure delight without alloy
Rediscovering your boy,
When you're fishin'!

Horses Go Round and Around—II.

C. O. R., who advises mounting a horse, if skittish, with a short left rein [July 23] isn't going to take any back talk from F. L. T., who says that cowboys do it with a short right rein [Aug. 6]. The former abolishes the latter with a quotation from "Riding and Hunting," by Capt. M. Horace Hayes, thus:

"The rider may find it helpful to shorten the near rein. . . . The horse will then be forced to go round and round the man, instead of moving forward."

If the Line permits this controversy to continue, it will probably run like this:

F. L. T.—Cowboys shorten the right rein because the body of the horse, in its outward turn, is forced toward the rider, who goes up into the saddle with a jaunty swoop.

C. O. R.—The man will then be on the outside, instead of the inside, of the circle on which the horse is moving, and if he isn't lively, he'll be in trouble.

F. L. T.—That book was written by an Englishman.

C. O. R.—I've seen the short left rein used on western ranches. See Remington's drawing, "The Outlaw."

THE DIGNITY AND CHARM OF AGE.

TOO RIPEN, mature, and age is nature's way—with which we have no quarrel. But some will begin earlier than others. The sardonic tragedy presented by the fall of the curtain of life is that, in the great majority of cases, the body wears out long before the brain shows the slightest sign of deterioration. One's physical years then may not be the same as his mental age.

Recently I attended a meeting of a group of kindred spirits at which six of the members, all past eighty, were honored. Four were lawyers, one a financier, another an industrialist. All were active in community affairs. After brief felicitations and congratulations the chairman called upon the octogenarians in turn. Every one present was thrilled with the brilliance of the responses. We realized that no other six men could be picked who could have spoken with greater ease, charm of expression, and oratorical power.

On the whole, we may agree that the middle of the sixth decade is a satisfactory starting point for a "letting up" program. In women, the period may be somewhat younger. But two factors must be considered: nutrition and the state of the arteries. Of course, disease can usher in senility relatively early and we have all encountered men and women of 45 who were as old as their own parents.

Much depends upon our forebears. We come from good or poor stock as the case may be and one of these days perhaps we will yield to the pleadings of the eugenists that human breeding is almost as important as is that of domestic animals. But heredity is not the only element. Hermann Weber, who lived to be 95 by practicing strictly the simple laws of good hygiene, lost his mother from heart disease at 60 and his father from cerebral hemorrhage at the same age.

It may be recalled that infections suffered in childhood—tonsilitis, rheumatic fever, etc.—have more to do with shortening the span than severe overloads in later life. We are becoming more of an outdoor people. The dress of our girls is looser—more natural—and activity is now regarded as a virtue. Few of our youths have not participated in games designed to develop muscles and coördinate the functioning of vital organs. If we will maintain this tendency for another generation or two the effect cannot fail to be observed in our vital statistics.

How should we manage the older members of the household? Why, as human beings. Let us hope that mentality is well preserved. This means that we need not treat them as children, ruling every word, thought, and deed. If possible, each should be given some responsibility, enough to keep both mind and body occupied. It should not be menial nor degrading but sufficiently important to the operation of the home to aid self-respect.

Sometimes personal habits prove annoying. Certainly we can afford to overlook harmless idiosyncrasies, as complete supervision of every move is anything but desirable. For the most part, grandmother and grandfather will have wisdom and compliance enough not to offend against well established customs. Rather than scold at them or indulge in useless nagging, they may be regarded as intelligent individuals perfectly capable of normal behavior.

NUMB DRIVING.

Mrs. J. S. writes: When my husband drives a car his left hand becomes numb. What causes this?

REPLY.

Probably lack of circulation. The position which he assumes when driving may interfere with the blood flow to the parts. If he can practice relaxation—consistent with good control of the car—all may be well. If improvement fails to come, a careful investigation should be made of the heart, the blood conduits, and the possibility of some pressure on the nerves or vessels.

MENIERE'S DISEASE.

G. H. writes: 1. Is Ménierè's disease ever fatal? 2. Can it be cured without treatment?

REPLY.

1. No.

2. Dizziness as such frequently passes away with the correction of some digestive upset. In Ménierè's—while spontaneous recoveries have been reported—the ailment usually requires a vigorous attack. Surgery may be needed.

FAT AROUND HEART.

Mrs. C. writes: What is meant by "fat around the heart"?

REPLY.

The body uses a number of fat storehouses, chiefly about the kidneys and beneath the skin. Occasionally the region of the heart is utilized as a depot—with some embarrassment to the pumping organ.

Test Your Facts

Below each of the following questions are listed three answers. Make your choice, turn to page 21 in the Want Ad section for the correct answers, and mark your score:

1. How does the weight of a man's brain, on the average, compare with that of a woman?

[a] Man's is heavier, [b] woman's is heavier, [c] both weigh about the same.

2. In what city in New York state is Cornell university?

[a] Rochester, [b] Syracuse, [c] Ithaca.

3. Louis Kossuth was a patriotic leader of what people?

[a] Czechs, [b] Poles, [c] Hungarians.

4. Who was Flora Finch?

[a] Painter of the modern school, [b] early movie comedienne, [c] ballet dancer.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

THE DOLE IN PRACTICE.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—I am sure many Tribune readers will be interested in my experience with the dole.

I manage one of Chicago's outlying large restaurants. Two weeks ago one of our male employés, a boy of about 20, holding a menial position and receiving $18 a week and all his meals, failed to come to work one morning.

When we located him he told me it was useless to work because he only gambled his money away the first day he got paid and he never had any money anyway, so he might just as well quit and not work at all—he couldn't be any worse off.

Now I have received a notice from the unemployment division, stating that beginning now they are going to pay this boy $16 a week to stay home and do nothing. Mind you now—this boy wasn't discharged. He had a position but was just too lazy to work.

I have replied to the board that I think it is a great mistake to pay this boy compensation and that he may come back to his job; in fact I would rather see him back working for $18 than to be sitting at home drawing $16—a drudge on the taxpayers. I think the board should force this boy to work or pay him nothing.

Into our establishment, one day last week, to visit one of our employés, came a young man from another city, driving his own automobile. He told our people how foolish they were to continue working when they could quit and stay home and loaf and draw $16 each week for 16 weeks; that after this period you can get a job and work five months and then lay off again for 16 weeks and get paid all the while. He said he has been doing this very successfully—working five months, loafing four, and so on.

It is practically impossible to compete with this situation. People out of work? I don't believe it—these people will always be out of work as long as you pay them for doing nothing.

Down with the dole! J. Y.

WHITE HOUSE BACKS IT.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—In today's TRIBUNE you refer to the administration's conscription bill. Which administration do you mean? It can't be the present administration, so why not remind the people that the bill is known as the Wadsworth-Burke bill? Tell them Burke was recently defeated for reëlection by the workingman because of his opposition to measures of benefit to the laborer. Explain that Wadsworth is a Republican from the northern part of New York state, and is the most bitter opponent President Roosevelt has had in his entire eight years as President. Finally, admit that the outcome of the 1 esidential election will have absolutely no bearing on the Wadsworth-Burke conscription bill.

If you print this, I will be convinced for the first time in my life that this is the "Voice of the People" and not the "Voice of Some People." E. Loxley.

FINDS COURTESY.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—With reference to A. L. A.'s recent letter critical of service received in the city hall and county building:

Certainly my own experience two weeks ago was pleasant; the information clerks answered my questions accurately, my business was taken care of without delay, the gentleman at desk 17 in the Torrens division, whose desk was a busy one, together with others in that department quickly answered my questions after consulting records, and on my asking that a tax search be made this was received in just one week.

I knew none of the seven men I contacted, can see no reason why I should be singled out to receive such attention, except possibly I like to be courteous and deal with others as human beings.

FAIR PLAY.

JUST AMERICANS.

Palos Park, Ill., Aug. 5.— Altho he sprang from Dutch forebears on his paternal side no one ever questioned the Americanism of Theodore Roosevelt. He had a right to be proud of his Dutch ancestry, but he never was known as a Dutch-American. [Has any one heard of a Dutch American?]

At the "All-American Festival" held in New York on Jan. 5, 1919, the night before he died, this last message from Theodore Roosevelt to the American people was read. It should be in illuminated letters in every schoolhouse and public place in America.

"Any American who says he is an American but something else isn't an American at all. We have room but for one flag—the American flag—and this excludes the red flag which symbolizes all wars against liberty and civilization, just as much as it excludes any foreign flag of a nation to which we are hostile. We have room but for one language here, and that is the English language, for we intend to see that the crucible turns people out as Americans of American nationality and not as boarders in a polyglot boarding house. And we have room but for one soul loyalty, and that is loyalty to the American people." Evan L. Reed.

BUYING "AT WHOLESALE."

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 6.—Please print this. It is uppermost in the minds of all small business people.

In the four months that I have been in business I have encountered many prospective customers to whom I could have sold if there were no such thing as "I can get it wholesale." This pertains to radios, refrigerators, washing machines, and all small electrical appliances.

Does the wholesaler collect the tax? If he does is he collecting it on the net or list price? If on the net prices it is unfair to retailers to expect them to pay tax on retail price. Is the state cheated of its tax? This seems doubtful! How is this matter handled when we all know that no wholesale merchandise is subject to the retailers' occupational tax?

No large wholesaler in fairness to his dealer should sell at wholesale outside of the trade, but these many people, including friends, are getting it somewhere. The small retailers should organize to combat this situation. I don't blame the general public for taking advantages that come their way, but do condemn the unscrupulous manufacturers and jobbers who persist in their unethical practice. What happened to the fair trades act during these last few years of depression?

Mrs. Wm. B. Tait.

FARMING IN OUR MIDST.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Noting the picture and article about the cornfield by the Van Buren street bridge, I wonder if your reporter has noticed the "farm" on the space where a grass plot ought to be on the north side of East Huron street. There in the shade of the bus company garage and the Furniture Mart one may see growing in neat rows, corn, string beans, beets, squash, and potatoes.

This morning in passing this garden I also saw a half dozen small chickens picking around and a white rabbit in a small inclosure.

So far I haven't seen any cow, but believe it or not, several times this summer, about three doors west of this garden, we have seen two kangaroos cavorting around.

It's a great town! A. Blair.

TIPS AT R. R. STATIONS.

Berwyn, Ill., Aug. 6.—Last May the railroads announced they had eliminated the Red Cap tipping nuisance by requesting passengers to tip at the rate of 10 cents for each bag handled by the porter. Recently, it has been my experience, after paying the 10 cents for each bag, that I was asked by the porter if I did not intend to give him a tip since the 10 cents goes to the company.

At this rate a passenger is obliged to pay twice as much as previously. This is especially hard on vacationists who make many stops while touring, and may result in paying more for tips than the actual fare.

I recommend that the railroads look into this situation, as it may encourage vacationists to travel by bus where this service is gratis. A Vacationist.

COLLEGE WORK IS REQUIRED.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Maybe you have an answer? I inquired the other day at the postoffice [room 1008] of a Mr. Anderson at the desk of the flying cadets. He told me that in order to join as a cadet I must have two years of college. Now with talk of a draft coming why must a young fellow of 23 have a college education in order to prepare himself to fight for his country? Shouldn't a fellow who wants to enlist be entitled to choose which division he wishes to belong to?

As I understand it, if this draft bill goes thru I will be forced into the army. I would rather enlist of my own accord than be forced. But how? I don't have the money to go to college.

Victor N. Pease.

NOT FREE TO THE TAXPAYER.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—For the benefit of the writer of the letter on fees charged by employment agencies: I agree with him that employment agencies are not charitable enterprises and cannot be operated as such. However, the Illinois Employment Service, to which he refers applicants who object to the reasonable fees charged by agencies, is neither free nor charitable. The cost to the taxpayers for each placement made by this service is exorbitant; far out of proportion to the service rendered. Margaret Lytle.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Letters to this department must be signed with names and addresses of writers.

NOISE.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have been told that a person does not have to endure unnecessary noise. I should like to know whether the owner of a barking dog can be compelled to keep him quiet. As soon as one of my neighbors goes outside her door her dog barks continuously. Nobody stops him. I am very nervous and would appreciate knowing what I can do about this. A. L.

There is no express time limit in our statutes or ordinances, but noises amounting to legal nuisances can be enjoined or if the facts amount to disorderly conduct can be stopped by the police. In determining whether a noise amounts to a nuisance the previous character of the neighborhood must be considered.

Section 98-42 of the new municipal code provides: "If it shall appear that any dog has in any manner disturbed the quiet of any person or caused an abrasion of the skin or attempted to bite or snap at any person within the city, the owner or keeper shall be fined not less than five dollars nor more than two hundred dollars." We suggest that you try complaining to the police.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Aug. 10, 1807

Aaron Burr, accused of treason, brought to trial at Richmond, Va., with John Marshall as the presiding judge. Burr, long prominent in military and political affairs, had been in disrepute since killing Alexander Hamilton in a duel, and he was accused of plotting to establish an independent empire in the southwest. Altho there was nation-wide feeling against him, Burr was declared innocent after it was found that a personal enemy had started the story of the "empire."

ORDER LAWYERS TO BARE RECORDS IN R. C. A. INQUIRY

Committee Moves to Scan Court Documents.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—Continuing its inquiry into the mysterious circumstances surrounding the sudden continuance of a government antitrust case against the Radio Corporation of America in 1932, the senate interstate commerce committee today demanded that former Senator Daniel O. Hastings [R., Del.] and Roger J. Whiteford, a Washington attorney for R. C. A., submit their personal check books and office records for senatorial examination early next week.

The committee is also prepared to examine at its next session the records of the Delaware Bar association and the Delaware Supreme court, where, it has been stated, there are on file affidavits charging that the nephew of the clerk in the federal District court in Wilmington, Del., tried thru the clerk's office to influence the court's judgment.

Accused of Accepting Bribe.

The Radio corporation case, which was finally settled by the signing of a consent decree after the 1932 election, was pending in the same Wilmington court. Clerk of the court is H. C. Mahaffy Jr., who has been charged before the senatorial committee with accepting a $15,000 bribe to issue the continuance order in behalf of R. C. A.

His nephew, Rodney Mahaffy, who is said to be named in the affidavits which the committee will scrutinize, resigned from the Delaware bar several years ago and is now petitioning for readmission. Rodney's father was R. C. A. attorney in Wilmington for about 10 years.

Charging that his enemies are trying to smear him, ex-Senator Hastings appeared before the committee today and denied charges of bribery and corrupt practices in connection with the delay in the prosecution of the case. He said he was the regularly retained counsel of the corporation in the matter of securing a continuance shortly before the trial was scheduled to start in October, 1932.

Receives Fee of $7,500.

For his services, he received a fee of $7,500, Hastings said. He testified he got $2,500 shortly after the continuance was granted and later demanded "a more substantial sum," which resulted in his receiving a second check for $5,000. Both checks, it was brought out, were signed by Roger J. Whiteford, the Washington attorney retained by the corporation in the same case, and Hastings' name does not appear in R. C. A. records.

Records show that the continuance order, signed by Mahaffy, was telegraphed to attorneys for both sides a few days after Hastings was employed. Corporation officials admit that the former senator never appeared as attorney of record and did not even have to visit the courtroom.

Mahaffy, while denying that he took any money or that he issued the order illegally, has admitted from the witness stand that he went to New York to confer secretly with Hastings on the case before the continuance was issued. His statement that Hastings, a veteran lawyer, called him to New York for "advice" on the procedure necessary to get a delay threw the hearing into uproarious laughter yesterday.

Denies Improper Action.

"Statements that there was anything improper about this case or that I bribed the clerk of the court are definitely untrue," Hastings declared. "I think it's wrong that such charges based on a mere affidavit should go into the record and give newspapers a chance to publish them."

Replying to the testimony of a former law partner, C. Edward Duffy, at yesterday's hearing at which Hastings was charged with saying he had paid Mahaffy $2,500 to get the continuance, the witness asserted that attempts were being made to smear him as an outgrowth of a long standing feud between two law firms.

"That testimony was absolutely false and deliberately untrue," Hastings declared.

Hastings was retained by the R. C. A. at the suggestion of ex-Senator George H. Moses [R., N. H.], to whose office in Concord, N. H., David Sarnoff, president of the Radio corporation, was brought by Attorney Whiteford.

Wants Moses Called.

It has been charged that Moses was paid $5,000 for his "advice" and Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] has asked that the former senator be summoned before the committee to give his version of the events leading up to the delay in the prosecution of the antitrust case. The committee decided, however, to give Moses an opportunity to appear voluntarily.

"What did you do that you thought you were entitled to a large fee from R. C. A.?" Senator Tobey, spearhead of the inquiry, asked Attorney Whiteford today.

"Well, I put in a lot of time on the matter," was the reply.

The Washington lawyer told the committee that Hastings' first question after he had been retained was about his fee. Whiteford said he told the former senator he thought there was no need to worry; that "everything would be taken care of."

Tells of Retainer Request.

"'O, that's not the way I practice law,' Whiteford quoted Hastings as saying. 'I want a substantial retainer. You always have trouble collecting from these big corporations. I want at least $7,500 or $10,000.'"

Hastings candidly admitted these remarks when called upon to testify.

Referring to Mahaffy's trip to New York to confer on the case, the former senator said the clerk must be mistaken because he did not remember this detail, altho it is possible he has forgotten.

"But what did you want him for?" demanded Senator Tobey.

"I wanted to find out how many continuances had been granted and what the judge had said about any more delay," Hastings explained.

TEST YOUR HORSE SENSE

NEW AERIAL SERVICE TO NEW ZEALAND IS DUE TO START SEPT. 7

Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., and Pan-American Airways yesterday inaugurated an aerial highway from New York and Chicago to New Zealand. The new service, 108 hours [four and a half days] for the 10,000 mile flight, clips nearly two weeks from the present fastest transportation.

The flight begun early yesterday by a party of Chicago and New York newspaper men was a preview for regular passenger-air mail service which is scheduled to start Sept. 7. The air travelers boarded one of TWA's new 33 passenger four motor stratoliners for the 15 hour flight from New York to Los Angeles. There the ship makes connections with a Pan-American Clipper for the first 2,560 mile over water hop to Honolulu. Stops will be made at Canton island and Noumea en route to Auckland, New Zealand, the end of the line.

Clipper proving flights with air mail only have been operated from Los Angeles to New Zealand during the past month. After Sept. 7 they will operate on fortnightly schedules.

EX-PROSECUTOR'S SON IS EXECUTED IN GAS CHAMBER

Florence, Ariz., Aug. 9 (AP)—Robert Burgunder realized his wish to "take it like a man" as he died in the lethal gas chamber today after confessing again that he alone killed two automobile salesmen.

Robert Burgunder. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

The 23 year old son of a former Seattle prosecutor strode nonchalantly into the execution chamber, said firmly, "I admit the killings—I never tried to defend myself," then breathed deeply of the deadly fumes.

Burgunder voiced the wish shortly after his arrest in Tennessee for the slayings of E. B. Peterson and Ellis M. Koury, whom he had lured to an Arizona desert to demonstrate a car and then shot them as they lay bound at his feet.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—A regiment of 500 men which will include 10 rifle companies is to be organized by Brig. Gen. Willard H. Donner, who retired last week as commander of the 10th infantry, it was disclosed today. The men are to serve for home defense duty when and if the National Guard is mustered into federal service. The organization will be known as the 1st regiment of the New York state Guard and will be a replacement unit for the 10th infantry. The men will be paid at the rate of $1 for each day's duty.

British Arms Inspector Dies in Canton Theater

Canton, O., Aug. 9 (AP).—Edward A. Hewitt, 45, inspector for the British supply board at Ottawa, Canada, who came here 10 days ago to inspect armament manufacturing facilities in Canton and Massillon steel plants, died late yesterday at a Canton theater. Coroner E. C. Reno attributed death to a heart attack. Mrs. Hewitt was notified at her home in Toronto.

125 Take Part

The park district's first annual model boat regatta was held yesterday in the two swimming pools at Pulaski park, Blackhawk and Noble streets. More than 125 boys took part in the regatta with miniature sail and motor boats they had built. John C. Zalinski, park supervisor, was in charge of the regatta.

FIND WOMAN, 75, CHAINED; SON AND HIS WIFE SEIZED

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP).—Two charges confronted a Niagara Falls couple today after, State Police Inspector Eugene F. Hoyt said, the man's elderly mother was found chained to a wall in an unfinished room of their cottage.

Mrs. Louise Carpenter. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Inspector Hoyt said Mrs. Louise Carpenter, 75 years old, was discovered by troopers yesterday, sitting on a stool, her hands tied behind her back with cord, and a metal chain with padlock attached encircling her abdomen. The chain was nailed to a wall.

Her son, Gordon, 34, and his wife, Marcella, 31, pleaded innocent of charges of assult, second degree, and coercion, and were released in bail pending a hearing.

The elderly woman, a native of Leeds county, Ontario, who came to this country in 1912, was taken to a hospital for treatment. Hoyt said she was unkempt, but apparently not in serious condition.

Hoyt said she had been chained at intervals for an undetermined period. He declined to discuss reasons given by the son for the situation discovered by a Red Cross nurse.

HOUSEWIFE GIVES AN ALARM; THREE BURGLARS SEIZED

Three colored burglars were arrested by the Fillmore street police yesterday thru the alertness of a woman whose home they were robbing. She is Mrs. Ruth Holzman, wife of Dr. Louis K. Holzman, a dentist, of 225 South Central Park avenue.

Mrs. Holzman awakened as the three were ransacking the home. Her screams routed them. Her husband called police, and one of the three was captured a short distance away. He identified his accomplices, and they were arrested in a flat at 5316 South Park way, where all three said they lived.

The three gave their names as Leonard Tucker, 21 years old; Grady Tucker, 17, Leonard's nephew, and Leroy Burgess, 20. They confessed more than 15 burglaries. Stolen jewelry and clothing worth several thousand dollars were found in their possession.

Report Australians Ban Imports of Auto Chassis

Reports from Australia yesterday indicated that country's importers had agreed, with the approval of the Australian government, to cease imports of private motor car chassis for nine months, effective Sept. 1. The Australian motor industry has about 8 million pounds' worth of new cars unsold because of impending gasoline rationing. Importation of assembled cars and truck bodies has been prohibited for some time.

WE NEVER KNEW, SAY UNION CHIEFS OF SCALISE RAIDS

Board Members Testify on Treasury Deals.

Members of the executive board of the International Building Service Employés union never knew that their president, George Scalise, was systematically raiding the union treasury of more than $2,000 a month or that his salary had been upped from $12,000 to $20,000 a year.

The ignorance of the board members, and the dictatorial powers of Scalise were disclosed yesterday in testimony before Thomas G. Harvey, a commissioner appointed to take depositions for the trial of Scalise which opens Monday in New York. Scalise, an ex-convict white slaver, is under indictment for grand larceny. He has been succeeded as head of the union by William McFetridge of Chicago.

One of the board members who testified was Miss Elizabeth Grady, union trustee and president of local 7 and secretary of local 6. Small, white haired, plump, and with a determined jaw, she is a veteran of the labor movement.

Asked About Fee Split.

Miss Grady was asked about Scalise's fee splitting with the union treasury, which had been disclosed in testimony on Thursday. This gave Scalise 50 per cent of the monthly per capita tax of 35 cents for all new members, while he was organizer for the eastern territory. After he became president in 1937, the split covered all members.

Murray Gurfein, assistant to District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York, wanted to know if Miss Grady knew about this, or about the $8,000 salary increase which Scalise assumed with the presidency. Miss Grady said she had never heard of either until early this year, altho she attended every board meeting.

"If you had known that any of the per capita tax collected by the international was being given to Scalise would you have considered it your duty to report it to the board?" asked Gurfein. Miss Grady stuck out her chin.

"I don't think I'd have gone to the board," she snapped. "I'd have gone and had a talk with George Scalise."

Audit System Changed.

Prior to the Scalise régime, Miss Grady said that every six months she audited the union books with Paul Davis, secretary-treasurer. After Scalise took over, Miss Grady said she was told that this work would be performed by Kenneth Ashley, a certified public accountant. Davis and Ashley have been "missing" since the investigation started.

Miss Grady also said she had never seen a set of books kept by Mrs. Helen Cumberland, 26, of Des Plaines, a former stenographer who said she sent the monthly payments to Scalise at Davis' direction. These books listed the payments. Mrs. Cumberland said that after every check was sent Scalise would return an "expense account" list in the exact amount.

Two other board members who said they had never considered the split or the salary raise at any meeting were McFetridge, president of the Chicago Flat Janitors union and Thomas J. Burke, president of the Theatrical Janitors union, McFetridge was formerly first vice president of the international, a post now held by Burke.

Denies Gangster Fund.

In response to a question from Gurfein, McFetridge denied that Scalise had ever said he was creating a fund with which to pay gangsters.

In questioning Burke, Gurfein discovered a mysterious circumstance about the minutes of the executive board meeting for May of 1939. The minutes disclosed that the board passed a resolution increasing the president's salary by $8,000.

Burke said he was present at the meeting, but that he had never heard of the resolution. McFetridge and Miss Grady also said they had never heard of this, altho the minutes carried them as present. Burke, as president of the theatrical janitors, draws $1,200 a month, he testified, with a salary raise every year.

One of the most interested spectators at the hearing was John Riordon, an agent of the internal revenue department, who paid particular attention to testimony about Scalise's income.

Canada Reported to Have Taken over French Ship

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Aug. 9 (AP).—The French steamship St. Malo, held in port after the French capitulation, has been taken over by the Canadian authorities, it was stated authoritatively tonight. The vessel will sail under the Canadian flag. It was said that some of the French crew "probably would be repatriated" and others likely would sail on their vessel when she goes into Canadian service.

Win Music Tryouts

Four winners in the south side tryouts last night for the Chicagoland Music Festival.

Harriet O'Rourke, Coloratura soprano.

Phyllis Schwehm, Mezzo soprano.

Aldona Grigonis, Lyric soprano.

Elroy Davis, Bass.

CLOSE SOPRANO CONTEST MARKS FESTIVAL TRIAL

Pick Winners to Sing for South Side.

A three way tie among dramatic sopranos which required the singing of two extra songs marked the closing south side trials last night for the 11th Chicagoland Music Festival at Soldiers' field Aug. 17. The contests were held in the Shoreland hotel. Winning dramatic, coloratura, lyric, and mezzo sopranos were selected, along with a basso who will represent the south side.

Miss Virginia Parker.

The eventual victor among the dramatic sopranos was Miss Virginia Parker, 19 years old, of 1532 East Marquette road. She is soloist at St. John's Episcopal church in Flossmoor and teaches piano.

In second place was Miss Ona Skever, 22, a secretary for a packing company who last year won the west side tryouts as a mezzo soprano. She lives at 6241 South Paulina street. Miss Skever toured Europe a year ago with a group of Lithuanian singers. Third place went to Jeannette Muriel Poulsen, 28, of 7250 Langley avenue.

Girl of 17 Is Winner.

Harriett O'Rourke, only 17 and a sophomore-to-be at Wilson Junior college, topped the coloratura sopranos. Miss O'Rourke also is a ballet dancer and pianist. Two years ago she played the lead in the operatta, "The Chimes of Normandy" at Aquinas High school. She lives at 2860 East 76th street.

Second place among the coloraturas was won by Eve Harvey, 18, of 906 East 56th street, a recent graduate of Marshall High. A Spanish señorita of 19, Enola Pereira, 4953 South Halsted street, was third.

Persistence brought its reward in the mezzo soprano class to Phyllis Schwehm, 19, of 850 East 64th place. Two years ago she placed third. Last night she won. She is a brunette and aspires to an operatic career.

Stenographer Is Second.

Mabel Lovene, 6203 Eberhardt avenue, a stenographer for the Grand Trunk railroad, was second. Mrs. Sadie L. Bridges, colored, a secretary and soloist at the Grant Memorial African Methodist Episcopal church, was third. Mrs. Bridges, mother of four children, lives at 641 East 49th street.

Miss Aldona Grigonis, 24, 3322 South Union avenue, back for her third year of competition, was the winning lyric soprano. She is a rating clerk for an insurance company. Claire M. Schulte, 28, of 7950 Justine street, was second and Jacqueline Krump, 19, of 8217 Hermitage avenue, was third.

Basso honors were captured by Elroy Davis, towering colored foundry worker who lives at 6000 Prairie avenue.

Judges were Louise Gilbert, Thomas MacBurney, and Edwin Kemp. The Cook county finals will be held next Wednesday at the Tribune hotel.

EXPECT 20,000 AT SOUTH SIDE MUSIC FESTIVAL

500 to Take Part in 2d Annual Show Tonight.

Festival Tickets!

Tickets for the Chicagoland Music Festival, which will be held the night of Aug. 17 in Soldiers' field, are on sale at 50 cents and $1 at The Tribune's Public Service offices in Tribune Tower and at 1 South Dearborn street. All seats are reserved. Mail orders should be addressed to the Festival Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, and must be accompanied by a check or money order made payable to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Twenty thousand persons are expected to attend the second annual Greater South Side Music festival to be held tonight at 8 o'clock in Jackson park. Coöperating with Miss Emma Rund, founder and program chairman of the festival, is the Greater South Side Four Arts league, the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, the South Shore Community council, and the Chicago park district. Nearly 500 singers and players are expected to take part.

The festival is one of the many preliminary events being held in Chicago and thruout Chicagoland in connection with The Chicago Tribune's 11th annual festival to be held next Saturday night, Aug. 17, in Soldiers' field.

Another Tomorrow Night.

The south side festival will be the second of a series of three preliminary festivals in Cook county. The first was in Forest Park early in the summer. The third, the Greater West Side festival, will be held tomorrow night at 7 o'clock at the Garfield park bandstand as the opening event of festival week.

Eighty-eight contestants are entered in The Tribune festival events for cornetists, violinists, and accordionists. A Cook county preliminary competition for these three instruments will be held Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in the Grand ballroom of the Drake hotel.

Judges for the contests Tuesday will be Harry Dawse, a Chicago high school band master, the chairman; Marcel Ackerman and Harold Zlatnik, members of the Chicago Civic orchestra, and Louis D. Walz, a cornetist.

LEGION REWARDS TRIBUNE EFFORTS FOR A SANE 4TH

Col. McCormick Receives Scroll of Appreciation.

The Cook County council of the American Legion conveyed its thanks last night to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and radio station W-G-N for their cooperation in the campaign to insure the celebration of the nation's independence without loss of life or injury.

At ceremonies in the W-G-N main studio William J. Collins, commander of the council, presented a framed scroll of appreciation to Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE. Col. McCormick also received similar scrolls in behalf of the newspaper and radio station.

Legionnaires Crowd Studio.

The studio was crowded with Legionnaires and their families, who remained for the broadcast of Cartune-O, the musical quiz game. The gold and white caps of 1st division veterans dotted the audience.

The scrolls, read by Commander Collins, credited THE TRIBUNE and W-G-N with contributing to the success of the safe and sane Fourth of July celebrations conducted by the Legion council at Soldiers' field.

Collins introduced Col. McCormick as past commander of Medill-Tribune post and said that while Col. McCormick has myriad duties, he still finds time to attend post meetings.

Col. McCormick's Reply.

"As we go thru life," said Col. McCormick in reply, "we accumulate memories, we accumulate scars, we accumulate possessions. I have a great many possessions, but there are two I value above all others. One is a painting of my house, done by a man who had never seen it. He was never out of the hospital for many years, but he learned to paint and, having seen a picture of my house, made the painting and sent it to me.

"I have an American flag, made by an incurably wounded hero of the last war, of little cotton balls sewed together. I hope that the time he spent on the flag gave him a tithe of the pleasure it gives me to keep it and treasure it in my heart.

"We of the 1st division have glorious memories and terrible memories. We started off 35,000 strong, but 80,000 men were killed, wounded, or broken down in that division before the armistice.

Calls Citizens to Duty.

"The dead we can never forget. The wounded we take care of. And the rest of us are doing our duty as citizens, according to our lights, and with no more fear in peace than we suffered from in war.

"The world is again in turmoil. There has been surprise on surprise in the war overseas. The future is not clear. We find hysterical people screaming for this and that; there were no hysterical people screaming at Soissons or in the Argonne.

"In this time of national stress the duty is upon us to furnish the calm, the coolness, the decision, and the leadership to our nation."

Features of the Program.

The Cartune-O program, with John Weigel as announcer and Bill Anson as master of ceremonies, featured the music of Harold Stokes and the W-G-N dance orchestra, and a guest singer, Marvel Maxwell of Ted Weems' band.

At its conclusion Commander Collins introduced the new commander of the Cook County council, Francis Phelan, past commander of the Winnetka post and of the 7th district. Phelan will be installed Sept. 4. Arthur Canty, new vice commander, also was introduced.

CHORUS TO SING DVORAK PIECE ON SYMPHONIC HOUR

The Chicago Tribune Symphonic hour will present as a feature on its broadcast from 9 to 10 p. m. tomorrow "Going Home," the largo movement from Dvorak's "New World Symphony." The W-G-N chorus of 15 voices will sing this selection. W-G-N, the Mutual network, and the Canadian Broadcasting corporation network will carry the program.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, is to speak.

Marion Claire, singing star of the program, will sing three songs, "Mi Chiamano Mimi," from "La Bohème," Max Reger's "Herzenstausch," and Glazounov's "La Primavera D'or."

The W-G-N Symphonic orchestra, directed by Henry Weber, will feature Saint Saëns' bizarre "Dance Macabre." William A. Bacher will produce the program.

NAVAL OFFICER AND WIFE JAILED AFTER CAR CRASH

First Lieutenant Harold F. Traua of the Great Lakes Naval Training station and his wife, Charlotte, were locked up in the Lake county jail at Waukegan last night after their car collided with the machine of Dr. P. E. Sundwall, assistant Lake county physician. The collision took place at 22d street and Dugdale road near North Chicago.

Both Dr. Sundwall and his wife, Ina, who were injured, said Traua drove past a stop sign. Traua was charged with driving while intoxicated and his wife with disorderly conduct for abusing police.

Traua and his wife denied they had been drinking. They said they were returning home from a farewell party given Rear Admiral William C. Watts who was detached from service because of ill health.

OBITUARIES

FRANK MUNSELL, 97, VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR, DIES

G. A. R. in Charge of Funeral Today.

Funeral services for Frank Munsell, a veteran of three civil war campaigns, will be held at 1:30 p. m. today in the chapel at 4227 Cottage Grove avenue under auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic. Burial will be in Oak Woods cemetery.

Frank Munsell.

Mr. Munsell was the last survivor of Abraham Lincoln post, No. 91, G. A. R., of which he was a former commander. He died Thursday in the West Suburban hospital at the age of 97. For many years his home has been at 4222 Oakenwald avenue.

Enlisted in Army at 18.

As a boy of 18 he ran away from his farm home near Janesville, Wis., and enlisted with Company M of the 2d Wisconsin cavalry. A slight, blond, wiry youth known as a daredevil, he served as a scout, carrying important dispatches for Sheridan, Sherman, and Grant.

A veteran of Vicksburg and Gettysburg, Mr. Munsell marched with Sherman from Atlanta to the sea. Sherman he remembered as "kind, sensitive, and understanding." General Grant, to whose staff he was attached for a while, he called a "testy, stern man, a great disciplinarian and all soldier."

Mr. Munsell was serving in Company L of the 2d Wisconsin cavalry when the war ended. His second enlistment having expired, he was mustered out of the army at Austin, Tex., on July 15, 1865.

Retired 38 Years Ago.

He came to Chicago and went to work for a carriage company which was destroyed in the fire of 1871. The same year he was married in the First Baptist church on Christmas eve. He continued in the carriage business until his retirement 38 years ago.

A loyal "Lincoln man," Mr. Munsell never missed a Republican national convention until last June when ill health confined him to his bed. For the last several years he had been one of the G. A. R. speakers in public schools during Memorial day week.

He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Ethel Durfee; two sons, Robert and Austin L. Munsell; two grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Earl Ballein, Postmaster of Hanover, Ill., Is Dead

Hanover, Ill., Aug. 9 [Special].—Earl Ballein, 41 years old, Hanover postmaster, died yesterday at the City hospital in Savanna, where he underwent an operation Aug. 1. He had been postmaster here for four years.

Edgar Stanley Martin.

East Orange, N. J., Aug. 9 [Special].—Edgar Stanley Martin, editor, educator and national director publications of the Boy Scouts of America, died here today. He was 67 years old. Associated with the Boy Scout movement since its inception in 1910, Martin was also editor of "Scouting," the Boy Scout magazine and assistant secretary of the national court of honor. He was educated at the University of Chicago, was a founder of the public school athletic league in Wisconsin, and was principal of the John G. McMynn's school in Racine, Wis., 30 years ago.

Frederick Pendlebury.

Frederick Pendlebury, former superintendent of the beef department at Swift & Co., died yesterday in Evangelical hospital. He retired three years ago after 45 years with the packing company. He was 68 years old. Mr. Pendlebury, a resident of Englewood for half a century, lived at 6046 South Campbell avenue. He leaves his widow, Emily; a daughter, Mrs. Irene Thomas, and two sons, George and Robert. Services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Monday in the Drexel Park Presbyterian church, with burial in Cedar Park cemetery.

William G. Clements.

Funeral services for William G. Clements, former paymaster for the Automatic Electric company, will be held at 2 p. m. today in the chapel at 217 North Cicero avenue, with burial in Forest Home cemetery. Mr. Clements died Thursday in Michael Reese hospital at the age of 65. He lived at 6618 Kenwood avenue with his son, George B. Clements. He also leaves a daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Wagman, and four brothers.

Dr. John L. Roemer.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 9 (AP).—Dr. John L. Roemer, 75, president of Lindenwood College for Women at St. Charles, Mo., since 1915, died here today. A native of Wheeling, W. Va., Roemer graduated from West Virginia university and the Western Theological seminary at Pittsburgh. Later he did missionary work in Colorado and Kansas and held pastorates in Presbyterian churches at Thomas, Pa.; Cleveland and Chillicothe, O.

George V. Headley.

New York, Aug. 9 [Special].—George V. Headley, city editor of the Jersey Journal, died today of a heart attack which he suffered while driving to work. He was 51 years old. During his newspaper career Headley worked for the Newark Sunday Call and the Newark Star-Eagle before joining the Jersey Journal in 1925. His widow survives.

Yervent Tinghir.

Leonia, N. J., Aug. 9 [Special].—Yervent Tinghir, for many years a banker and broker in Paris and Brussels, died at his home here yesterday. He was 82 years old and a native of Constantinople. He was well known here for his accurate forecasting of events in Europe.

Sir Daniel Lleufer Thomas.

CARDIFF, Wales, Aug. 9 (AP).—Sir Daniel Lleufer Thomas, 76 years old, lawyer, scholar, and author honored last year by the British government for "notable and untiring work for Wales," died today.

Antonio San Miguel.

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 9.—Antonio San Miguel, president of the Guantanamo and Western Railroad company and one of Cuba's wealthiest men, died today after a long illness. He was 88 years old. He came from Spain to Cuba as a soldier and then took up the Cuban cause for independence. He was one of the island's pioneer newspaper men. He was director of the Havana Electric company and many other Cuban concerns. In 1935 San Miguel was kidnaped by a group seeking funds for a revolution, but was released before any ransom was paid.

Mrs. Maude Meginnis Humes.

Mrs. Maude Meginnis Humes, a resident of Chicago for the last 57 years, died yesterday in her home at 1238 Argyle street. She was 84 years old. Surviving are her husband, Wilson; a daughter, Mildred, and four sons, Ernest, Walter, Murray, and Vernon. Services will be held at 3 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue. Burial will be in Acacia Park cemetery.

Mrs. Margaret Campbell Wrightson.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Campbell Wrightson of 1315 Oak street, Evanston, who died Thursday, will be held today in the home of her father-in-law, G. Dawson Wrightson, at Stamford, Conn. Mrs. Wrightson was the wife of Francis G. Wrightson III. She died of complications following the birth of a daughter a week ago.

John D. Dunlop.

South Nyack, N. Y., Aug. 9 [Special].—John D. Dunlop, member at large of the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the state of New York and a leader in the work of the chamber, died today. He was 70 years old and was president of John Dunlop Sons, Inc., a silk manufacturing firm.

Walter Law.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 9 (AP).—Walter Law, 64 years old, veteran screen and stage actor, died yesterday. He was developed by Producer William Fox during the era of William Farnum and Theda Bara. His latest appearance was with Eddie Cantor.

Oren Cheney Boothby.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 9 [Special].—Oren Cheney Boothby, 67 years old, well known attorney and trustee of Bates college and the Eliot Savings Bank in Roxbury, died today in Dorchester. He was a grandson of Oren B. Cheney, founder of Bates college.

L. A. DOWNS, HEAD OF I. C., GRAVELY ILL IN HOSPITAL

Lawrence A. Downs, chairman of the board of the Illinois Central railroad, was in critical condition last night in the Illinois Central hospital. Mr. Downs, who is 68 years old, has been in ill health for two years. On July 19 he entered the hospital for a rest and for a periodic examination. Last Sunday his condition became grave. Dr. Le Roy Sloan said Mr. Downs is suffering from high blood pressure and a heart ailment.

An inquest into the death of John Poole, 49, of 7927 Parnell avenue, a WPA worker, who was killed by an automobile at 77th street and Vincennes avenue Thursday night, was continued yesterday until next Thursday. The driver was Louis Hoskins, 8451 South Loomis street.

Six Hurt as Bus Hits Car.

Six persons, three of them small children, were injured last night when a Greyhound bus rammed the rear of an automobile in route 41 near Highland, Ind. The injured, all riding in the automobile, were taken to St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond. They are Michael Roseta, 2714 Drummond street, East Chicago; his wife, Sophie, 26; their three children, Nadine, 3½, Darling, 7 and a baby of 2; and Roseta's brother, Eli, 16. Nadine, who suffered a possible skull fracture, was the only one seriously hurt. The bus driver, John Bank, told police Roseta's car had no taillight and he came upon it so quickly he had no chance to turn out. The seven bus passengers were shaken up.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 505 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 380 were killed in Chicago, where 13,759 were injured in the same period.

FRUSTRATE LAKE SHIP BOMBINGS IN W-G-N DRAMA

United States coast guardsmen and naval reserve seamen were studio guests last night as W-G-N presented another episode in the Wings for America, spy serial. In this episode coast guardsmen blocked an attempt by imaginary fifth columnists to bomb ore ships on Lake Michigan. They also effected the rescue of Lorna Carroll, TRIBUNE reporter portrayed by Elissa Landi, and Riley Davis, Mutual commentator played by Phillips Holmes.

Wings for America, which deals with possible subversive activities against America's defenses, is aired over W-G-N and the Mutual network each Friday evening from 7 to 7:30 o'clock.

Last night's episode detailed the story of how fifth column agents might operate to stop the flow of raw materials across the Great Lakes to the industrial cities of the midwest which forge America's arms. The mystery of south bound ore boat disasters is solved thru the detective work of Lorna Carroll and Riley.

The pictorial story of Wings for America is told in the Graphic section of the SUNDAY TRIBUNE. Posing for these pictures makes every Friday a day of long and arduous labors for Miss Landi and Holmes. All forenoon they are kept busy posing in Tribune color studios or on location. All afternoon they rehearse in W-G-N studios. Several of the pictures in tomorrow's picture sequence wer taken aboard the freighter Jasper S. Quince.

Woman, 74, in Lighthouse Service 40 Years, Is Dead

Portland, Ore., Aug. 9 (AP).—Mrs. Sarah Isabel Greenwood, 74 years old, one of the few women to join the United States lighthouse service, died yesterday. She started her career in 1895 after the slaying of her husband, James Greenwood, contractor and builder who operated several Columbia river navigation lights. Mrs. Greenwood, with five children to support, took over the lights and operated them 40 years.

30 MILES OF CITY STREETS TO GET 1,792 NEW LIGHTS

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, announced yesterday that the installation of 1,792 street lights on 30½ miles of Chicago streets will be started next week. The program, costing $270,000, will be financed by the state highway department from 1938 state gas tax revenues.

Locations for the new lighting are:

Street.	From	To
Pershing-rd.	State	Ashland
Kedzie-av.	74th	79th
Foster-av.	Central Park	Elston
Elston-av.	Ashland	Lawrence
Irving Park-rd.	Central	Pacific
Cicero-av.	Kinzie	Irving Park-rd.
Ashland-av.	Cermak	31st
State-st.	60th	Vincennes
Vincennes	State	87th
95th-st.	Cottage Grove	State
Archer-av.	State	47th
Foster-av.	Ashland	Western
Wilson-av.	Clarendon	Marine-dr.

Hewitt said there is either no lighting or inadequate lighting on these streets. All new lights will be of the standard type now in use in Chicago except for those on Archer avenue. There 375 "new technique" lamps which the state highway department contends will throw more light on the street and increase traffic safety will be used at the insistence of the department. Hewitt said these lights cost $15 apiece more than standard types and, in his opinion, are not worth the difference.

Madison, Harrison Bridges Will Be Closed Tomorrow

The Madison and Harrison street bridges over the Chicago river will be closed tomorrow from 5 a. m. until noon while repairs are being made to the center locks, City Engineer Loran D. Gayton announced.

Tennis, Polo, Horse Show on Week-End Bill

BY JUDITH CASS.

THOSE who hold that variety is the spice of life can find no fault with this week-end. Every sort of an entertainment seems to have been planned, even a party for an elephant!

There will be exhibition tennis matches at the Saddle and Cycle club today and tomorrow; a horse show at Delavan lake; a golf tournament at Lake Geneva; the State Street council fashion show with 40 beautiful models at the Washington Park race track; polo at the Onwentsia, and a shower for Nancy, the elephant at the Brookfield zoo, who soon is to become a mother.

The party for Nancy will be given at 3 o'clock tomorrow at the elephant house at the zoo. Members of the Chicago Zoölogical society, directors of the zoo, and the Elephant Society of the United States have been invited. None of the 90 odd zoo elephants in the elephant society is able to come for the party, but a number have sent cards. Nancy and her expected will have many nice presents, among them a bushel basket sized cake the Brookfield zoo baker is making. It will be frosted and decorated with storks.

Ninety pounds of peanuts, a bale of green alfalfa tied with pink ribbon, and a huge vegetable bouquet are other gifts the throngs at Brookfield will admire tomorrow. If Edward H. Bean, director of the zoo, is able to find a large enough nightgown he will have it fluttering from a clothesline by the house.

Saddle and Cycle Hopes for Tennis Revival.

The committee in charge of the tennis matches to be played at the Saddle and Cycle hopes that the return of William T. Tilden II., Frederick J. Perry, and Vincent Richards will start an upswing in better tennis and greater tennis interest in the Chicago area. Certainly there is no lack of interest in the matches these three stars and Ben Gorohakoff, who is better known on the west coast than here, will play this weekend. The Saddle has prepared seats for a crowd of 3,000 and is throwing open the grandstands to the public. Tickets at $1.50 each may be obtained at the club. Play will start at 3 o'clock both days.

The club has planned a special buffet luncheon for each day. Among those who are entertaining at luncheon, or who have taken boxes, are Mrs. Lincoln S. Harris, chairman of the woman's tennis committee of the club; Robert Doyle, the Thomas I. Underwoods, Mr. and Mrs. R. Winfield Ellis, the Earl Kribbens [Eleanor Cushman Kimball]; the Benson Dushanes, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gross, the Albert DeWolfe Erskines, David Owen, the Charles C. Younggreens, the Kenneth Carpenters, the Temple McFaydens, the Theodore Tiekens, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Y. Freeman Jr.

Delavan Lake Horse Show Is Opening Tonight.

Carpenters have been busy all week on the Lake Lawn hotel grounds at Delavan Lake, Wis., building additional boxes to accommodate the reservations which have been pouring in for the second summer international horse show which will open tonight at 7 o'clock and continue tomorrow at 1 o'clock. The entry lists, too, have exceeded expectations.

Mrs. Louis F. Swift will ride in three events: working hunters, jumpers fault and out, and hunters open. Albert W. Harris will ride in what promises to be one of the most exciting events, the western stock class, while his son, Norman W. Harris, will compete in the bridle path class. Col. P. W. Evans and Lieut. Theodore A. Mohlman, both of Hinsdale, have entered in several classes, as have Marcella Duff of Highland Park, Mrs. Howard F. Caudell and her daughter, Janice, of Oak Park; Anson W. Cameron of Delavan Lake, George F. Keller of LaGrange, and Patricia Orth Jones of Wheaton.

Youngsters to Ride in Own Special Event.

Trick riding by youngsters, in what is designated as the Tiny Tots special event, will open the show. Georgie Borg, five year old grandson of George W. Borg, will be in this class with Eddie Goodsmith, small son of Howard Goodsmith; Mr. and Mrs. Burr L. Robbins' two youngsters, Ross and Terry, and their guest, Kit Berrins; and "Chuck" Jacobucci who does a sensational jumping stunt over an automobile.

Barbara Whiting, daughter of Lawrence H. Whiting, will ride in the children's horsemanship class, as will Gail Gunderson, daughter of the Miles Gundersons, and Harriet and Jane Atlass, daughters of H. Leslie Atlass of Wheaton.

John A. McGuire and his fiancee, Miss Carlotta Lagorio. This picture was taken in the Pump room before their engagement was announced late last month, but it wasn't difficult to see that an announcement probably would be forthcoming shortly. Miss Lagorio, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Lagorio of Wellington avenue, will give a cocktail party tomorrow at her parents' summer home on Lake Delavan for debutante Merikay Howard. Miss Howard, daughter of the Eugene Howards of Winnetka, will make her debut at a dinner-dance at the Glen View club on Sept. 5.

Must Have Red Some Place in Fall Wardrobe

BY REA SEEGER.

Red rushes into the fall collections first in the new costume jewelry showings, next in jackets, coats, and hats, and finally in a dozen or more different shades for smart fall costumes. It's a color that blazes in plaids, checks, blurred stripes, and chevron effects; in velveteens, in corduroys, and in tricky new woolens, as well as dress parade silks and satins.

Red lines swanky felt and wool covered handbags, accents a suit in a top sweater of bright red wool, goes out in the country or to college in the fascinating, knee length, wool knitted, new long socks, and defiantly livens up any football scene in swanky casual wool coats.

Red jackets will be the triumphant top contrast for dark brown or black dresses. The same heart warming color will flash against dull green and with the newest color wave of sandy beige. Red coats not only will get the men but round up a large and enthusiastic crowd of women buyers. It's the go-ahead fashion signal for a new fall season.

Garnet costume jewelry is new and extremely effective in the fashion color scheme. Set in tawny gold or in silver, in bracelets, earrings, pins, and necklaces, garnets are undeniably flattering and refreshing after years of neglect.

Simulated garnets are unexpectedly lovely, the deep red shades of crimson delightful highlights for gray, green, blue, brown, or black. Even the button departments are pushing red across the counter, in decorative buttons large and small, in clips and belt buckles.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 9—For the last couple of years B. P. Schulberg has been a Neediest Case himself, for there can be nobody farther out on the fringe and closer to the ragged edge than an ex-producer.

This was ironic, for the same Schulberg, when he was a young reporter on the New York Evening Mail, devised the first scheme for a big outfit to play Santa Claus. He suggested that the Mail play Santa Claus for poor folks and from this developed the many newspaper Christmas funds.

Well, after a couple of years of being a has-been, Schulberg found a Santa Claus in the shape of a picture he produced. "He Stayed for Breakfast," which the previewers have dubbed a wow. He made the comedy for Columbia and Boss Harry Cohn is glad he gave B. P. the job. Schulberg is already at work on another production, based on Susan Glaspell's novel, "The Morning Is Nearest," and people began speaking to him again the night "Breakfast" was previewed.

"It made me sick," said Cohn. "People who would have crossed to the other side of the street to avoid him two hours before were slapping him on the back and saying, 'I always knew you'd do it.'"

Schulberg's new hit is being described as wise, witty, sophisticated, a swell rib on communism. He is taking it all calmly. "It was easy," he said. "After all, we didn't create the idea. We adapted it from a pretty good French play—the one Ina Claire and Walter Slezak did called 'Ode to Liberty.' It shouldn't be hard to make good pictures. I think most people overstrain—try too hard and get everybody nervous, from writers to director and actors."

The gent who banked on Schulberg after he'd been out of a job two years, Harry Cohn, is impishly pleased. He says there's nothing he likes better than to give a bum a chance and have him succeed. He does not use the word bum as criticism of a person; rather it is a cynical criticism of movie people who use the word loosely. Somebody who had a job once and doesn't now is a bum. Grace Moore, for instance, was just about washed up when Cohn did all right for her and himself with "One Night of Love."

There are many people in Hollywood who don't like Cohn—and, worse, who don't respect him. There are stock Hollywood anecdotes about him, as there are about Goldwyn, but he doesn't care. He laughs and jeers at some of his contemporaries, runs his one-man studio and plays lone wolf. Perhaps this is because his early success was with "The Lone Wolf" series.

"I got wise to myself 25 years ago," he says. "I was Carl Laemmle's secretary, and Los Angeles was dry, and everybody went across the county line to a place misnamed the Vernon Country club. You'd sit around and drink and see everybody and stay up until 3 a. m. Then, because it was the only place to go, you'd do the same thing the next night. Well, I got tired of it, so now I don't go to parties and don't give parties. I live in a five-room apartment. Did you ever see Warner's place? You'd think you were in Versailles."

The motion picture almanac, the who's who of the business, lists the following Cohns: Alfred A., a writer, with 20 lines of biography. Armand. S., a San Francisco distributor, 10 lines. Ira H., a Pittsburgh branch manager, 16 lines. Jack, Columbia vice president and Harry's brother, 24 lines. Martin G., a supervisor, 21 lines. Sam W. B., a publicity man, 14 lines, and Harry himself, four lines: President and in charge of production, Columbia Pictures corporation; b. New York City July 23, 1891; h. 5 feet 10 inches; dark brown hair and eyes; w. 155 pounds; e. New York public schools."

RKO is negotiating for a famous legitimate theater for its Sept. 27 New York premiè of "They Knew What They Wanted," and Carole Lombard [with her Old Man, Mr. Gable], Charles Laughton, Garson Kanin, Robert Ardrey, and others will be flown east for the first showing.... Warner are just about ready to let Oscar Serlin be an independent producer, same as Frank Capra.... Brigham Young's movie wives are doing all right. Mary Astor, No. 1, made a comeback after an absence of two years, won another job from Zanuck in "Western Union." Jean Rogers, No. 2, won stardom, earned her best rôle in "Yesterday's Heroes," and five more pictures are lined up for her. Esther Brodelet, another wife, will be featured in "The California." Brigham himself—Dean Jagger—is taking a rest after 133 days before the cameras—a record eclipsing Vivien Leigh's "Gone with the Wind" chore.

Another movie comeback story involves Bert Wheeler. It was Producer William Le Baron who brought Wheeler and the late Robert Woolsey to films and subsequent fame in "Rio Rita." Now, after a long time playing night clubs and vaudeville, Wheeler will return. Le Baron has engaged him and his new partners, the Hank Ladds, for featured parts with Allan Jones in "Las Vegas Nights."

Sally Says She Has Special Big Party Planned

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Sunday seems a long time in coming around when you're waiting impatiently for party news, doesn't it boys and girls?

All the youngsters who wrote letters for invitations to the Jack and Jill Studio party are eager to know whether they're winners, and, of course, you all want to know what the next treat will be.

Well, I understand just how you feel, because sometimes it's hard for me to wait to announce the parties, particularly when we have an extra-special one arranged.

Tomorrow's TRIBUNE will tell you all about our next party, which is certainly in the "special" class. It's really a double treat, in a way—but I won't tell you any more than that today.

There were a surprising number of 10 o'clock scholars among the boys and girls who wrote for invitations to our Jack and Jill party in spite of all my warnings about the Thursday deadline, a big stack of letters came in on Friday, long after the winners were selected.

Naturally, those youngsters will be disappointed when their names are missing from the lists of winners, but I think they'll soon forget about it when they see the news of our next treat. Any boy or girl who wants to come is eligible to try for an invitation, so don't miss my column tomorrow!

Sorority Bridge-Luncheon.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

From the notebook:

Some delightful colognes that have special charm for the gift hunter are packaged in quaint but not coy pottery bottles of snowy white with a delicate, old fashioned decoration in gold. They make stunning adornments for the dressing table or the bath room shelf and come in four lovely fragrances. One is oriental in type, one is for wear with sports clothes and the remaining two are pretty florals. The container is so unusual and in such good taste it deserves special attention.

Baccarat bottles are scare and those still available have a new value to owners. If you're shopping about for something distinctive for a smart bottle, look at the traveling spray atomizers with bottles by Baccarat. Some are plain, some beautifully cut. They're guaranteed to be nonleakable, with a metal spraying gadget that opens and closes tightly. There is an outer case of fine pigskin.

Also in the gift class, but of course far less expensive, is a cunning bath package called the "bath hamper." It's of white wood, topped with a bouquet of small red, white, and blue flowers. It's a hamper in miniature, a clever container for a box of fine powder that makes bubbles in the water. The one we saw was in gardenia fragrance, quite a well known version that is so popular because it's so true. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Style Contest Entry Deadline Extended Week

(Drawing on back page.)

The deadline in the American Fashions contest sponsored by THE TRIBUNE has been extended from Aug. 15 to Aug. 22.

The week of grace was granted yesterday in order that contestants in remote cities, who were apprised of the contest at a later date than those in the Chicago area may have time to add their entries to the hundreds that have already been received. All entries now must be in the Tribune Tower by midnight, Aug. 22.

The contest, announced July 21, was initiated as a means of stimulating and developing American fashions to the end that America may supplant Paris as the fashion arbiter of the world. It is open to any designer, amateur or professional, who lives in the United States.

Twenty-five cash prizes, totaling $7,500, will be awarded to the winners. There will be one of $3,000, one of $2,000, three of $500, and 20 of $50. The contest will close with two style shows in the W-G-N audience studio on Oct. 2, when garments which THE TRIBUNE will have made from the winning sketches will be modeled. A coast to coast audience will hear a description of the gowns broadcast.

Many queries have been received from contestants asking for rules governing their sketches. There are none other than that it be original. A line drawing is sufficient, but it should give all salient features of the garment.

To demonstrate the type of sketch which is most practicable from a judging standpoint, Margot, TRIBUNE fashion artist, yesterday drew a working model in about 10 minutes. It is reproduced on the back page of today's TRIBUNE.

In this, the observer will note, both front and back views of the dress are shown. All incidental details, such as buttons, belts, pleats, gores, or ruffles, should be illustrated with great care.

The designs submitted for the contest must be sketched on illustration board, 14 by 20 inches in size. A sample of the fabric, or fabrics, to be used in the original model, or a description of it, may be appended.

How you draw your design, whether with consummate artistry or with rough, uneven lines, is immaterial. The judging committee is looking for ideas and originality, not for sketching ability.

North Side Aids of Algonquin See It in Action

Women from the north side who aid the United Charities in its welfare work in their communities saw the agency's camp, Algonquin, on the Fox river, in action yesterday. It was the children's afternoon swim hour when the party arrived. They were taken to the pool, to the craft shops and nature exhibits, and lastly to the community dining hall to have dinner with the campers.

The camp is giving two week vacations this season to 1,500 mothers and children from some of the poorest families in Chicago. TRIBUNE readers have been generous contributors to this charitable project since the camp was established 31 years ago. Yesterday four gifts, totaling $58.17, raised the Algonquin fund to $555.17.

The United Charities can give a mother or child a health-building vacation at Algonquin at an approximate cost of $10.

The gifts recorded were the following:

In memory of Lévy Mayer	$25.00
J. W. F.	19.80
Mrs. Rose Brooke Paige	8.37
M. E. Jackson	5.00

Contributions to the Algonquin fund should be addressed to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Tower, with "Algonquin" indicated on the envelope.

Another important summer philanthropy carried on by the United Charities with the support of TRIBUNE readers is the Free Ice Fund, which the Chicago Tribune Charities also serves as a depository. No donations to that fund were received yesterday. Last Saturday, in listing an ice fund gift of $10, an annual memorial to the late Mrs. Beatrice Wendell Morris, the name of the donor was overlooked. The donation was sent by Betty Wendell Morris, 14 years old, daughter of Mrs. Morris.

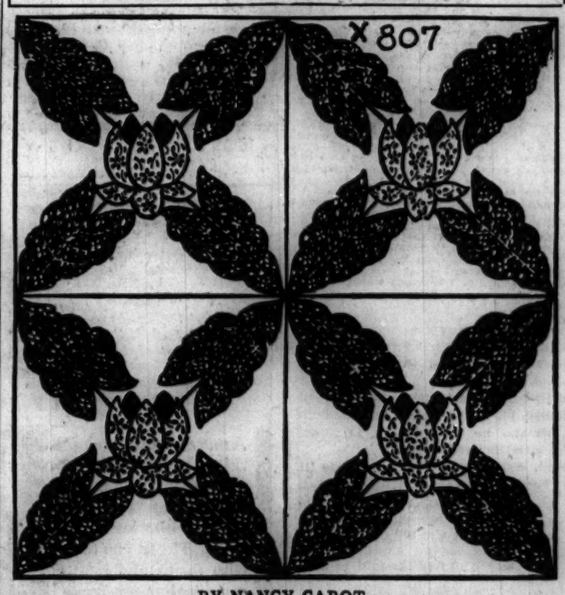
Negro Exposition to Have Boy, Girl Scout Program

Boy and Girl Scouts from the south side, wearing Scouting uniforms and their troop colors, will appear this afternoon at the American Negro exposition at the Chicago coliseum, 1513 South Wabash avenue, in a program of precision drills, signaling demonstrations, tumbling and first aid practice. The musical accompaniment to the program will be provided by the Girl Scout chorus and the Drum and Bugle corps of Giles post of the Sons of the American Legion. Dr. Luther Peck is the managing chairman.

The Housewife

We had to look twice at the price tag on some bedspreads we admired the other day because it was hard to understand how they could be made for so little money. They were the ideal type of bed covering for a boy's room, being simple and without any frills and in colors that boys like: beige with horizontal bands of stitching in red and blues, and beige with yellow and burnt orange. These spreads can also be used on studio couches, tho they are intended for regular beds. EDITH WEIGLE.

Water Lily Quilt Pattern



BY NANCY CABOT.

This lovely appliqué quilt pattern of the popular water lily creates one of the most beautiful coverlets in the quilt realm. The green of the leaves may be of print or plain material, while the flower is of a soft, delicate, pink print. The background is of sky-blue fabric, carrying out the illusion of lazy lilies floating on blue water which reflects the sky. The pattern contains a quilt block, list of materials required, and detailed instructions.

For the water lily quilt pattern, No. X-807, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Visit in the Berkshires.

Pittsfield, Mass., Aug. 9. — Artur Rodzinski, who conducted this season at Ravinia, recently purchased a place in the Berkshires and bought goats he intended to raise as a hobby. The goats are to be sold shortly because their incessant bleating offends his music-conditioned ears. The first week of the Berkshire Symphonic festival he left his home one morning to get away from the noise of the goats and went to a rehearsal at the festival shed. Koussevitzky and the Boston Symphony orchestra were at work on Strauss' Don Quixote and as Rodzinsky entered the shed they had reached Variation II., in which the bleating of sheep is accomplished on muted brass.

• • •

The three most superb views in this part of the country undoubtedly are offered from Bald Hill, formerly the estate of Miss Kate Buckingham and now the summer home of Koussevitzky; from Tanglewood, across the lake to the Berkshires, and from Court hill, the Donald F. McPherson home in Pittsfield. The McPherson home is set on a hill, in a historic spot where there were important judicial sessions in prerevolutionary times. From the terrace one looks beyond the gardens, flaming with color, across hay fields and meadows in the valley below, to the encircling mountains whose summits are softened with blue haze. To the right, across the herb garden, an opening has been cut thru the trees so that Silverlock, one of the most famous of the Berkshire peaks, is visible, and behind the house, beyond the cutting garden and the fields below, green covered hills tumble into the horizon.

In the paddock near the hay field some thorobreds, on which the young daughter of the house, Sally Ann McPherson, won two blue ribbons and three red at the Berkshire horse show last weekend, are grazing, and a baby colt flings up its heels. Dogs lounge on the green lawns. The sun gleams on the silky red coat of an Irish setter; an English setter dashes down the driveway to greet an arriving motor, with a Dalmatian close at his heels.

The pastoral note—the glimpses of hay fields and farm land as one looks toward the mountains—makes it a particularly intimate and satisfying view.

• • •

One of the guests at a horse show luncheon was Mrs. Joseph Burden, whose husband was riding and exhibiting. Mrs. Burden is the daughter of Cyril Maude, the English actor, and as a young girl appeared with her father in Grumpy, one of his great successes in this country. Mr. Maude recently organized 70 companies of players to tour soldiers' camps in England, an arduous undertaking for a man of his age.

Hesitation in following suit may be either highly unethical or downright stupid, depending on the situation. If a defender hesitates to give declarer the impression he has a choice of plays when actually he holds only one card in the suit led, he is guilty of bad ethics. If he hesitates honestly over a choice of plays, he supplies the declarer with vital information. The situation in today's hand is typical of the foolish hesitation.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened his fourth best heart, dummy played low, and East's king won. Not being able to read the exact heart situation, but hoping that West could force out dummy's only entry, East returned a heart. Declarer won this trick and, counting that he would be able to make only two heart tricks, three diamonds, two clubs, and one spade, a total of eight, without establishing at least one other spade trick, he led the ace and a low spade. On the second spade lead, West foolishly hesitated over whether or not he should go up with his king. Now, since it would have been highly unethical for him to have hesitated unless he held the king, and since declarer knew West to be an ethical player, the guess was abruptly removed from the situation. [Obviously, no player would hesitate about playing the jack, if he held it.]

After the momentary hesitation, West properly ducked, but the harm had been done. Dummy's queen was put up, and after that no defense was possible.

This situation arises time and again, and correct play by the defender requires more than pure knowledge. Assuming the declarer to be a smart player, West must play low to the second trick with precisely the proper degree of nonchalance. If he plays a low card with lightning rapidity, the declarer may look at it askance and decide that West was too innocent. If he hesitates, he is marked with the king, since to do so without the king would be tantamount to cheating.

Disney Revives Masterpieces for a Festival

"WALT DISNEY FESTIVAL."
Produced by Walt Disney.
Distributed by RKO-Radio Pictures.

BY CECIL SMITH.

For the benefit of those who did not see them when they were first released, and for those who can see them again and again with pleasure, the Walt Disney festival brings back to the screen "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and four of the most popular short cartoons of bygone seasons.

The sequence, running a little less than two hours, gives a striking impression of the beauty and variety of Disney's imaginative and witty style. What a far cry these fanciful and skilfully wrought tales are from the first Walt Disney of 20 years ago, drawing old fashioned, black and white journalistic cartoons on topical subjects for the Newman theater in Kansas City!

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" remains a masterpiece, full of suspense and humor and honest sentiment. Dopey and Grumpy and Doc and all the rest have become a part of American folklore—the personal property of every one. From the point of view of artistic composition and deft color harmony the picture is still as good as every one always said it was.

Of the four short subjects presented, "Ferdinand the Bull" is probably the dearest to most people's hearts. It is also one of the handsomest in color and drawing, for it is bright with the searing Spanish sun and dramatic with bright colors that fairly shout at one.

In its pathos, and in its extraordinary atmosphere of calm, lyric serenity, "The Ugly Duckling" is one of the most remarkable of all the Disney films. "The Practical Pig" [one of the "Three Little Pigs" series] and "Donald's Lucky Day" are less significant, but they are full of charm and amusement.

In uneasy times like these, Walt Disney performs a greater service than ever by luring our imaginations into this own special realm where nothing very terrible ever happens, and where everything always comes out both happily and beautifully.

Dictionary Reveals "Grass Roots" Once Really Meant Grass

Whenever a political orator speaks of going back to the "grass roots" his listeners know he is referring to the bottom of the electorate, the ordinary voter. But back in 1880 "grass roots" was a gold mining term, referring to the top of the ground over an ore deposit.

This is revealed in the 10th section of the new American English dictionary, published by the University of Chicago Press, and now in page proof. The new volume ranges from "goldenseal" to "holler."

"Gunmen" were not hoodlums or even outlaws in 1750, as evidenced by the Georgia Colonial Record report: "A small party of Indians, consisting of one Chief, Six Gun Men, and a Woman came here this Day."

Before "highball" came to mean a tall cool alcoholic drink, the dictionary editors discovered it passed from its original meaning—a gambling game, in 1881—thru baseball and railroad terminology. "Hippodrome," of Greek derivation, originally meant a race course. But in 1875 the editors found a TRIBUNE writer using it to mean a "fixed" contest when writing about a baseball game between "the Chicagos and the Philadelphians," which he described as a "disgraceful, hippodroming affair."

Murder Is Not Mute

By Audrey Newell

(Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.)

SYNOPSIS.

Detective Patrick Doyle of New York is vacationing in a small town when, while walking in the woods on the estate of Adolph Wunsch, he stumbles upon a skeleton. He reports the matter to Truman Briault, Wunsch's brother-in-law, rejects the bribe Briault offers to keep the matter quiet, and goes to the police. Returning to the scene with Policeman Maddox and Judge Blain, he finds the skeleton gone. But by trailing fresh footprints they find where the skeleton has been hastily buried. Dr. Blake, the coroner, says the skeleton is that of a teen age girl who was murdered. Doyle is asked to help solve the mystery. Blue yarn and a watch clasp are found near where the skeleton was first discovered. Doyle learns that Wunsch is a wealthy ex-brewer whose second wife is Paula, young and beautiful. Paula married him for his money and he has made her life miserable, allowing her to have a charge account but no cash money. Her irresponsible brother and her mother live with them, but Wunsch dominates the household. Wunsch has sent his 16 year old daughter, Texie, to Europe with Paula's mother as chaperon. His aged father also lives with them and is cared for by Miss Doty, a trained nurse. Lately Wunsch has been driving to town every night with his chauffeur, Follins, and Paula, becoming suspicious, has put detectives on her husband's trail. Doyle finds Truman owns a blue sweater and goes to question him. He learns from Follins that Truman is planning to leave that night, whereupon Doyle questions Paula. He sees a watch on her arm with a clasp identical with the one he found near the skeleton. He learns from the jeweler that Wunsch had a watch made for Paula as a wedding gift and, 18 months later, had a duplicate one made. Doyle returns to the spot where he first found the skeleton and discovers a bullet in the dirt. While he is searching further, he comes upon Paula and Truman playing golf. Eavesdropping, he learns that Paula wanted Truman to marry Texie, so his financial worries would be over, and when Wunsch sensed this he sent his daughter to Europe. Doyle walks up to Paula and Truman and begins questioning them. He tells them the murdered girl has a watch identical with the one Paula is wearing. Doyle realizes at once from their reaction to this information that they both know the owner of the second watch.

MISSING GIRL.

INSTALMENT XVIII.

"Get hold of yourself," Doyle said sharply. "Some one's coming."

He looked at Truman. And this time the sympathy in his eyes and voice was genuine.

It was Follins who joined them. He had left a car parked on the road behind the shed. As he delivered his message, his eyes traveled from Briault to Doyle, with ill concealed curiosity, as tho he were trying to guess what they were doing here—how matters stood between them.

Follins' message was that Mrs. Wunsch was suddenly and strangely ill. Pressed frantically for details by Briault, Follins said that Mrs. Wunsch had fainted on the golf course. The caddie bringing the hamper of drinks and sandwiches, had found her. Mr. Wunsch had carried her into the house. She did not come out of the faint until Miss Doty had worked over her for some time. Then she had fainted again without saying anything. Mr. Wunsch had sent for Dr. Blake. It was Miss Doty who had thought to send for Mr. Briault.

Follins told most of this over his shoulder as he drove the station wagon back to the house at breakneck speed.

"You're responsible for this," Briault said bitterly to Doyle, with raw hate burning in his eyes.

And in the mirror over the windshield Doyle could see the chauffeur's eyes, again alight with that strange mixture of hope and dread. But now Doyle thought he understood that look of Follins'. No doubt Follins and Briault were both shielding Wunsch. Follins' dread was that he would become involved in a murder because of Wunsch. Follins' hope was that Briault would expose the truth about Wunsch without implicating Follins.

Just what was the truth about Wunsch? Doyle made a wild stab at it. It might be that Wunsch had had an affair after his marriage with a young girl. Then the affair had gone sour. The girl embodied some menace for Wunsch. Either she threatened his domestic happiness or his public reputation. So Wunsch killed her.

Doyle followed Briault into the house, ignoring the young man's violent protests. It was his firm intention, the detective told Truman as he seated himself in the hall, to wait there until Mrs. Wunsch was sufficiently recovered to give him an interview.

Briault, defeated and helpless, mounted the stairs to Paula's room, where Wunsch and Miss Doty hovered over her still form.

Then Dr. Blake's car streaked up the driveway and halted abruptly under the porte cochère. The doctor jumped out, carrying his little bag, and passed Doyle without greeting.

A little later Nurse Doty came downstairs. She, alone, seemed cool and unhurried.

"Got a cigaret?" she asked Doyle.

He gave her one. "Aren't you needed upstairs?"

She shook her vivid head. "Dr. Blake doesn't want so many people in her room. And he can't get rid of Mr. Wunsch or Mr. Briault. They're terribly worried, naturally."

"How is Mrs. Wunsch?"

"Fine. Still unconscious."

Doyle looked at her with mock disapproval. "You're a heartless little devil, aren't you?"

She had a grin which matched Doyle's for impudence. "Why am I? If a lady finds conscious life too much for her, isn't she better off unconscious?"

"What's wrong with Mrs. Wunsch's life?" Doyle asked idly.

"Don't ask me." Her gesture included the richly furnished house and the rolling landscape. "I wouldn't find this hard to take."

"Does Mrs. Wunsch have these spells often?"

"This is the first."

"Do you know what caused it?"

The red headed girl said shrewdly, "I have an idea you did. Am I right?"

Doyle ignored her question. "Is it possible that Mrs. Wunsch is faking illness?"

"Indeed she isn't," the nurse said sharply. "She goes from one fainting fit into another. Something has frightened her terribly." She looked at the detective accusingly. "Every time she comes to, she remembers it and goes off again. Nature does that, you know. Steps in and releases us when living gets too difficult. The body takes over the pain that began in the mind, and gives the mind a rest."

Doyle grinned. "What book did you read that in?"

She looked up at him with her bright blue impudent stare. "Go ahead and laugh," she invited. "I've been nursing 10 years. I've seen a lot of sick people and a lot of worried people, and I know that the worry makes the sickness more times than not."

"You're a funny girl," Doyle said. "I like to hear you talk. Talk about the woman I found in the woods," he urged. "Tell me who she is."

Miss Doty shivered. "Don't think I haven't wondered about that plenty. It gives me the creeps."

Doyle asked curiously, "How long have you been working here?"

"Almost five years."

"How did you get along with Texie Wunsch?"

The nurse shrugged. "We didn't cross paths very often. I'm stuck away with the old man. And Texie and Helen Voss were running into the city every chance they got."

"Helen Voss is Texie's companion?" Doyle queried.

"That's right."

"Then I suppose she's in Europe with Miss Wunsch?"

"No." Miss Doty shook her vivid head and made a disrespectful face. "Dear Mama is traveling with Texie."

"Who?"

"Mrs. Wunsch's mother."

"Then where is Helen Voss?"

"I understood from Mr. Wunsch that Helen Voss was living here," Doyle told her.

"Not for over a year," Miss Doty said. "She left when Texie sailed. No, I'm wrong. She was here about a week after that."

"Just when did Texie sail?"

She thought back. "A year ago June."

"Why didn't she take Helen Voss with her?"

"I guess Wunsch didn't want it that way."

"Doesn't Wunsch like Helen Voss?"

"Sure. Everybody does."

"What's she like?"

Miss Doty said vaguely, "Mousy. But sweet. Damn sweet!"

"How old?"

"I'd say twenty-two or three."

"Where did she go from here?"

"To New York. Mr. Wunsch arranged for her to take a secretarial course."

"Did she get a salary as Texie's companion?"

"I don't know," Miss Doty said. "Her position here was unusual. She wasn't a servant, tho she always looked after Texie's clothes. But she lived in Texie's suite, and they went everywhere together, just like sisters."

"What was Mrs. Wunsch's attitude toward Helen Voss? Would you say she liked her?"

"I wouldn't say Mrs. Wunsch likes anybody," Miss Doty replied, "except maybe herself."

"With love and kisses from one redhead to another," Doyle grinned.

"You don't call that washed out blonde a redhead, I hope!" Miss Doty flashed. Then she grinned up at him. "You understand, I've got nothing against Mrs. Wunsch," she said. "Only she has a cold suspicious way that makes you feel like dirt under her feet. I suppose it's because she's so damn unhappy. And no wonder. If I had a husband treated me the way Wunsch treats her, I'd walk out on him," Miss Doty concluded spiritedly. Doyle asked quickly, "How did Wunsch treat Helen Voss?"

Miss Doty sniffed. "Like a queen. Just because Texie——"

But at that moment Dr. Blake appeared on the landing and summoned the nurse upstairs.

ON APPLE PIES AND APPLE PIE MAKING:

Plain, double crusted apple pie with just a suspicion of cinnamon can't be beat, but there are plenty of delectable variations. Among them is the open face pie with cheese topping. When the pie has almost baked minus its upper crust, the cook slices a good yellow cheese over the top of the apples, and the rest of the baking period [moderate oven by now, of course] melts the cheese into the apples in a mouth watering way.

Or try this cheesy crust variation. Sprinkle grated cheese quite thickly over the rolled out pastry, and give it a few more strokes with the rolling pin, just enough to make the cheese adhere to the pastry.

Brown sugar and butter may be used for a sort of butterscotchy apple pie. Substitution of brown for white sugar is considered unethical by followers of the old school of apple pie lore, but it makes a good pie, nevertheless.

Honey may be substituted for the white sugar, too, or for a part of it.

WHIPPED CREAM CHEESE TOPPING.

Sliced apples, cooked in sirup, or fresh apple sauce may be used to fill a baked crust, and this topping makes a heavenly pie: Whip a cup of cream and fold in a package of cream cheese which has been softened at room temperature and blended with a little of the cream. Fold in also ¼ cup sifted confectioners' sugar and a few drops of vanilla.

Raisins, if you like 'em, or chopped prunes may be added to apple pie fillings. A little lemon juice or grated lemon rind is a good addition, in this case.

Of course, the kind of apples used make a great deal of difference in the taste of the pie, but whatever your choice, butter will add to the flavor. I'd recommend at least 2 tablespoons of butter for every apple pie. The plain pies can stand more than that.

And a little nutmeg, as well as cinnamon, is good to bring out the flavor of the apples.

Jean Williams Becomes Bride This Afternoon

At 5 o'clock this afternoon in Trinity Episcopal church, Highland Park, Miss Jean Lucille Williams will become the bride of Kenneth L. Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Semon R. Simpson of Minneapolis. The Rev. Christoph Keller will read the service. A reception will follow at the Highland Park home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester D. Williams.

Mrs. Myron Bennett of Summit, N. J., will be among her sister's attendants. Mr. Bennett will be an usher, and their little daughter, Deborah, will be flower girl. The bridesmaids will be Miss Mae Bliss, Miss Katherine Brothers, and Miss Mary Stedman of Summit.

Miss Brothers will change into another bridesmaid costume tonight to attend Miss Elizabeth Quinlan when she becomes the bride of John Alexander Laing. That ceremony will take place at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Quinlan of Wilmette, followed by a reception in the garden.

Mrs. Quinlan Jr. will be matron of honor. The bridegroom's sister, Miss Isabel Laing, Miss Betty Crilly, Miss Nelsie Long of Chattanooga, Tenn., Mrs. Barton Harris of Birmingham, Ala., a cousin of the bride, Mrs. Bentley McCloud, Mrs. Edward Doyle, and Mrs. Robert Swisher are the other bridesmaids.

The bridegroom, a son of Mrs. James Laing and the late Mr. Laing of Winnetka, will have his brother George as best man.

Miss Marion Bay, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Hiram Horace Bay, and Donald Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gordon of St. Louis, will be married at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Thorndike Hilton chapel at the University of Chicago. The Rev. Donald K. Evans of St. Paul's Universalist church will officiate. A reception will follow in the courtyard adjoining the chapel.

Miss Margaret McPherson of Fulton, Mo., will be the bride's only attendant. Edward Gordon of St. Louis will be his brother's best man. Mr. Gordon and his bride are to make their home in Fulton, where she is head of the violin department at William Woods college. Mr. Gordon is professor of French at Westminster college, also in Fulton.

Lake Geneva Club Golf Tourney Closes Today.

Today brings to a close the 43rd annual invitation golf tournament at the Lake Geneva Country club. The clubhouse will be jammed tonight at what will be one of the largest parties of the season. Mr. and Mrs. A. Frederick Gartz Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Wakeley, and the Augustus K. Maxwells are among those having large dinner parties.

Members of the Onwentsia Polo team are making plans for a tournament for the Ontwentsia cup, to be played from Aug. 25 to Sept. 1. Among the teams which will compete in the games to be played three times a week are the St. Paul team, Oak Brook, and possibly a team from New Jersey.

Miss Marie Plamondon, Mrs. Allen B. Ripleys, the Edward N. Hurleys, and Mr. and Mrs. James E. Baggot Jr. have gone to Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich., for the marriage today of their niece and cousin, Miss Mary Letitia Smith, and Francis Xavier Kotcher. The wedding will take place at 11:30 o'clock in St. Paul's church, followed by a reception the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Smith, of Grosse Pointe Farms, will give at the Detroit Boat club.

The bride, who often visits in Chicago, will wear her mother's wedding gown of heavy white satin with embroidered panels, which was worn also by her sister, Mrs. Charles Bishop. Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. Smith Jr. and two younger sisters of the bride, Sally and Betty, will be bridesmaids.

If you are more or less beginning life as a family of three, father, mother, and child, you may be interested in this letter.

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"The letter in your column about the father of a 6 months old, who spanked her, struck home in my case.

"When my baby was young, her daddy used to scold her, and talk in a very gruff tone to her, as well as punish her, altho the latter was really nothing. Nevertheless, I warned him continually that she would not like him as she became older. And you can believe me, that is virtually what happened.

"I do hope that the young woman you wrote about does not have serious trouble in her home over the matter, but her best bet is to make her husband be very gentle and kind to that lovely baby, in order to win back her confidence."

Not to a child of any age does gruffness, scolding or punishment appeal. Even a teen age son, or a daughter of 8 or 10, does not relish it. It is like an arm reached out to hold them away. But at no time is such treatment as disastrous as with a baby or very little boy or girl.

Neat House Frock Ensemble

WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOUSE DRESS ENSEMBLE.

Even if you are a career girl with your own precious small kitchenette, you need house frocks, and there's no denying the ever present demand for them among housewives. We think today's pattern is one every woman will like, no matter what her age. Its long, paneled lines recommend it for all figure types, and it's a flattering model which may be dressed up or down with trimming and accessories. One accessory comes with this frock: The button-on apron for hostessing.

Style No. 3402 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 4½ yards of 39 inch material for dress; 1½ yards of fabric for apron; 3¾ yards of rickrack braid.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

On the House

If the woodwork and wood pieces around your house begin to suffer from collision marks and scratches before vacation is over and the children back in school, try a simple remedy. . . . Get a little oil wood stain, which you can obtain at any paint store, and rub it vigorously into scars and scratches. . . . These stains can be bought in a wide variety of colors and are fine first aids for a host of minor woodills.

Numerology By Evelyn Holmes

Aug. 10, 1940.

Universal Day—Don't let the other fellow get an edge on you today. Keep your wits sharp.

Enterprise is one of the keywords for a 5-month. Five is the number of speculation, invention, and adventure, with a little romance sometimes added to these ingredients. If you want to sell or set out on a new venture, this is the time to do it—when you are under a number 5 vibration. Naturally, if you don't use all this energy constructively, it will just keep you on wild goose chases and you will waste all you have, become irritable and nervous, and things will go wrong.

Year Ahead—Since you are in a 5-year, you who have birthdays today, you can still expect changes. Opportunity will be knocking for a few months longer.

AAA, FOR ALL ITS EFFORT, STILL IS SHORT OF PARITY

Farm Prices Lag; Yearly Cost 500 Millions.

[To gauge the accomplishments of the Agricultural Adjustment administration in the last seven years, The Tribune sent a reporter thru seven farm states. This is the seventh and concluding article of his series.]

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

On May 12, 1933, the Agricultural Adjustment act launched a federal program designed to raise farm prices and income and to relieve agriculture's distress.

It was part of the New Deal's far-flung plan to reduce unemployment and rescue the nation from depression. More than seven years now have passed. Has the AAA succeeded? Did it raise farm prices? Has it put men to work other than its own 100,000 pay rollers?

Records Tell the Story.

The answer comes for the most part from the official records. This information is supplemented by statements of men who have lived under the AAA for seven years.

The price goal at which the farm program aimed is known as "parity." This is described as the price level that would give farm products a purchasing power equal to their purchasing power between August, 1909, and July, 1914. This period, of a quarter century ago, was chosen as representing agriculture's good old days.

Acreage was reduced and production curtailed on the theory that scarcity would result and prices go up. Surplus commodities were "diverted." This diversion meant blitzkrieg for 5,105,167 brood sows and little pigs and more than a million head of cattle with a total value of $166,487,968.

Court Plows Under the AAA.

Cotton was plowed under. Food crops were destroyed. After three years of this the AAA was plowed under by the United States Supreme court. But it got under way again in seven weeks and still is curtailing acreage and production, and still is diverting surpluses.

In August, 1939, parity had not been attained on a single commodity. Wheat was 50.7 per cent below parity. Corn was 42 per cent below. Cotton was 43.9 and hogs 39.4 per cent below. The following table presents the parity prices fixed by the AAA and the actual prices as of August, 1939:

Product.	Parity price.	Actual price.
Cotton, lb.	.15	.08
Corn, bu.	.80	.45
Wheat, bu.	1.10	.54
Hogs, cwt.	9.02	5.47
Beef cattle, cwt.	6.51	6.50
Eggs, doz.	.23	.17
Lambs, cwt.	7.34	6.94
Oats, bu.	.49	.25
Potatoes, bu.	.85	.69
Hay, ton	14.84	6.77
Peanuts, lb.	.06	.03

The August, 1939, figures are used because that was the last month in which farm prices were under no outside influence except the AAA. Economists agree that the improvement shown by some commodities since that time is due to the European war, which began on Sept. 3, 1939.

Corn Is a Good Example.

Actual prices in the case of corn, for example, which has been the object of much governmental activity, are considered revealing. On Oct. 17, 1933, the last day before the corn program was announced, corn was selling on the Chicago market for 41 7-8 cents a bushel. Six years later, corn was selling on the same market for 42 3-8—half a cent higher.

Despite the curtailment program, production in 1939 was approximately 2,532 million bushels, compared with 2,399 million bushels in 1933, the last year before the control system started. This is attributed to the use of hybrid [high yield] corn, which Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, now the Democratic Vice Presidential nominee, helped to promote. Also a factor is the AAA's refusal to restrict corn production in the southern states.

The corn surplus also has increased under the AAA. Stocks of old corn on farms on Oct. 1, 1939, amounted to 546 million bushels. On Oct. 1, 1938, there were 353 million, and on Oct. 1, 1933, there were 326 million bushels. Farm experts assert, therefore, that the AAA did not reduce production, did not reduce the surplus, and did not raise the price. Examination of the figures discloses that the situation is the same in relation to many other commodities, notably cotton.

Thousands Lose Their Jobs.

And tho it is impossible to obtain exact figures, it is estimated that the AAA has put thousands of farm hands out of work thru acreage reduction.

At the Missouri state department of agriculture at Jefferson City it was learned that a 40 acre reduction of corn on a given farm means the dismissal of one man. A 20 acre cotton reduction eliminates one man. One official, who also is a large landowner, said:

"When I get an acreage cut like that I simply have to cut off another man and send him to town to go on relief or on the WPA."

J. W. Anderson, owner of 1,300 acres in Rush county, Indiana, stated the acreage cuts he took last year made unnecessary the services of three men. Anderson, however, kept them to repair his farm buildings, and they were not forced on the WPA. He has determined not to comply with the program in 1940.

Costs 500 Millions Yearly.

Thus, according to the records and the testimony of farmers themselves, the AAA has failed to reach its principal objectives. And that failure, since February, 1936, has been at a cost of 500 million dollars a year. The AAA since 1933 has spent $3,986,147,949.23. No workable way of financing it without cost to the taxpayer has been found since the Supreme court outlawed the old processing tax method.

That American farmers should find a way to finance their own recovery program and stop accepting federal subsidy payments is the belief of H. L. Dieterich of Des Moines, member of the Iowa state agricultural conservation commission. Production control of a proper type is practiced by industry, says Dieterich, and he believes the farmers must also practice it if the nation ever is to attain economic perfection.

"The AAA isn't the plan that should become a permanent one in our scheme of things," Dieterich asserted in a speech at Marshalltown, Ia. "For one thing, the farmers themselves do not want to go on operating on federal subsidies. The cries of 'pork barrel' are leveled at our program."

MRS. CHRISTINA FINCUTTER.

Lake county's oldest resident, Mrs. Christina Fincutter, will celebrate her 101st birthday today in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lange, at 216 South Genesee street, Waukegan. She has a birthday cake for the occasion and has just about made up her mind to decorate it with one candle and start counting all over.

Her two daughters, four sons, their husbands and wives, 30 grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren will help her celebrate. Mrs. Fincutter and her husband, John, who died in 1900, came here from Germany 68 years ago.

The original Fincutter homestead, five miles northeast of Libertyville, is now the Ascension cemetery.

CIRCLE VILLAGE IN HUNT FOR PAL OF 'TIGER GIRL'

State and county police and railroad detectives encircled the village of Bensenville, DuPage county, early today in the search for two women who escaped Thursday from the reformatory at Dwight. A taxicab driver, Wiley Taylor, reported he had driven a passenger answering the description of one of the women, Mary Foster, from Franklin Park to Bensenville.

The other fugitive is Eleanor Jarman, murderess known as the "blonde tiger girl" because of her vicious treatment of holdup victims. She was believed to be in hiding in Chicago.

Taylor told Policeman Elwood Martin of Franklin Park that he became suspicious of his passenger because of her nervous manner and the fact she was undecided where to leave the cab in Bensenville. She wanted to be let out near the railroad. She paid her fare with a dollar bill. She wore a dress similar to one stolen from a reformatory employé by the fugitives.

Mrs. Jarman was serving a 199 year sentence for her part in a holdup slaying and Miss Foster 1 to 10 years for larceny.

BABY ANTELOPES IN CITY FOR LUNCH ON FLIGHT EAST

Eight baby antelopes from the Pitchfork ranches in Wyoming presented Stewardesses Virginia Johnson of Northwest Air Lines and La-Vergne Jos of United with a new problem in passenger feeding yesterday at Chicago airport.

Each swathed in gunnysacking, in the fashion of an Indian papoose, the small herd occupied the entire cabin of a private plane with Charles J. Belden, Pitchfork owner. The plane, piloted by Jimmy Allen, was headed for Dr. Philip Cloe's game reserve at Lake Placid, N. Y. The Chicago stop was for lunch.

Belden brought along the baby bottles and nipples. The airport chef was waiting with a three gallon tin of sirup sweetened milk. Only one wide eyed female bleated nervously.

Belden has flown 200 or more of the animals to zoos and game reserves.

Currency Exchange Owner Robbed by 2 Armed Men

Wyllys T. Miller, realtor and currency exchange operator at 443 East 79th street, was robbed of $250 cash and $500 in checks yesterday by two armed men who forced him into a back room and then ransacked his office. They gained admittance thru a rear door by announcing they had a package for Miller, who let them in.

BOY, 11, IN 'I AM' CUSTODY BATTLE HAPPY WITH DAD

Court to Rule Today on Child's Future.

Robert Moberg, 11 years old, for whose custody his divorced parents are battling, was brought here yesterday from Des Moines, Ia., and was interviewed by Master in Chancery Thomas J. Sheehan of the Circuit court. The interview was private in the master's office at 33 North La Salle street.

Afterward Master Sheehan said he could not disclose whether the boy expressed preference for his father, Harold Moberg, a grocery chain store executive, or his mother, Mrs. Naomi Moberg, who is a devotee of the "I Am" mystic cult. It was learned, however, that Robert said he was happy in his father's home at Des Moines, where he went after leaving the Dakota School for Boys in Dakota, Stephenson county, two months ago.

Hesitates, Then Kisses Mother.

The boy, a handsome, dark haired youngster, clad in a white suit, hesitated a moment when he met his mother before the interview with Master Sheehan. Then he kissed her. Later he posed for pictures with both parents.

Sheehan will decide this morning which parent will have temporary custody pending a final ruling in two weeks. This ruling will then be sent to Judge Cornelius J. Harrington. Under terms of the divorce decree issued in 1934 custody is divided when the boy is not in school. Moberg now seeks sole custody, contending the mother may harm the boy thru inculcating him with "I Am" teachings. She is 33 years old and lives at 9253 South Damen avenue.

The week's testimony ended yesterday was replete with references to "I Am" miracles in Mrs. Moberg's letters to her son. These miracles included "precipitation" of gold by cult saviors, dissolution of submarines and other fantastic occurrences.

Calls Teachings Dangerous.

Dr. Roy R. Grinker, chairman of the department of neuropsychiatry at Michael Reese hospital, was called yesterday as a witness by Benjamin B. Davis, Moberg's attorney. Dr. Grinker testified that such "I Am" teachings would tend to shut out reality for the child and keep him in a world of fantasy. He said the teachings are dangerous to children. He expressed the belief that Mrs. Moberg is suffering from a nervous disorder.

Benjamin Vanderveld, Mrs. Moberg's attorney, asked if fairy tales and Santa Claus did not tend to remove a child from the world of reality. Dr. Grinker said this is not so because a child is taught that fairy tales and Santa Claus are fictitious.

SHERRARD FARMER DIES.

Sherrard, Ill., Aug. 9 [Special].—August E. Johnson, 82, native of Sweden who came here in 1882, died this morning. He farmed near Sherrard 42 years. Surviving are the widow and four daughters, Mrs. Selma Blusher of Milan, Florence Johnson of Sherrard, Mrs. Ruth Lindberg of East Moline and Mrs. Elvina Long of Moline.

SNITES KEEP 1ST ANNIVERSARY OF WEDDING TODAY

Today is the first wedding anniversary of Frederick B. Snite Jr., the man in the iron lung, and his wife, the former Teresa Larkin of Dayton, O. They were married last year on Aug. 10 in the Snite home at 909 Ashland avenue in River Forest.

Yesterday Mrs. Snite said she and her husband had planned an anniversary breakfast. Snite, as usual, will be in the iron lung which has kept him alive for four years since he was stricken with infantile paralysis in China. Their guests will be the Senior Snites, Mrs. Thomas Larkin, young Mrs. Snite's mother; Terrence Dillon and his wife, the latter a sister of young Snite, and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Brown of Dayton, O.

After breakfast, Mrs. Snite said they would all go to the races at Washington Park. Next month the young Snites are expecting to become parents. Snite is 30 years old; his wife 26.

GETS 1 TO 5 YEARS IN PENITENTIARY AS A BIGAMIST

In the presence of his two wives, Clayton Ver Deaux, 24 years old, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Julius Miner of the Criminal court to one to five years in the penitentiary as a bigamist. Ver Deaux formerly lived at 4242 Potomac avenue.

His double life was revealed on June 29 when he beat his second wife, the former Shirley Field, 3925 North avenue, who was 19 when she married him on Sept. 24, 1938. Police investigated and learned Ver Deaux married Opal Rouse on July 11, 1936. He has a son, Clayton Jr., 4, by his first wife, and another, Jerry, 6 months old, by his second.

Wife No. 1 thought prison was just the place for Ver Deaux. Wife No. 2 thought he ought to stay outside and support their son. Wife No. 1 won the argument.

Oregon Golf Club Raided; 5 Slot Machines Seized

Oregon, Ill., Aug. 9 [Special].—Acting on instructions of the Ogle county liquor commission, Sheriff James White last night led a raid for slot machines on the Rock River Golf club near here. The sheriff said that when his raiding party arrived at the club they found Willard Burright of Oregon placing three machines in an auto. These were confiscated as were two others found in the clubhouse.

RUNAWAY RICH GIRL QUITS WAITRESS JOB; GOING BACK HOME

Tupper Lake, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP).—Patricia Cain, 21 year old daughter of a wealthy New England food manufacturer, is on her way home from a Tupper Lake hotel where she obtained work as a waitress after disappearing from her Melrose, Mass., home.

Mrs. John E. Cain arrived today with her son and daughter-in-law to join Patricia, who was unaware her identity was known. The girl was the object of a wide search after her mysterious disappearance Sunday.

Dan Flanders, proprietor of the hotel, said he recognized her thru her picture in newspapers. He notified police.

Child Killed on Bridge Near River Playground

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 9 [Special].—Neva Ann Trickle, 8 years old, was killed late yesterday when she ran in front of an automobile driven by Rodney L. Bell, Paris, Ill., contractor, at the west end of the Trickle grove bridge, 3½ miles west of Paxton. The scene of the accident is where Paxton children gather daily to swim and fish.

CUBS LOSE, 6-2; SOX BEAT TIGERS IN 9TH, 3-2

NAME SIX TO RUN TODAY IN $60,000 AMERICAN DERBY

EXPECT SIROCCO TO GO TO POST 8 TO 5 FAVORITE

Gallahadion and Bimelech in Field.

Derby Field

SIX horses were named in the overnight entries for today's American Derby at Washington Park. If all start, the stake will gross $62,900. The field, in order of post position follows:

Horse—	Wt.	Jockey.	Prob. Odds.
Gallahadion	126	C. Bierman	5-2
Super Chief	118	A. Bodieu	50-1
Bimelech	126	B. James	2-1
Mioland	123	J. Adams	15-1
Sirocco	126	G. Woolf	8-5
Weigh Anchor	118	E. Rodriguez	20-1

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The $60,000 American Derby, which was one of the highly significant sporting and social events of Chicago's gay nineties, will be renewed today at Washington Park with a purse that would have made the old timers blink and with a field that would have drawn their interest Sirocco, Bimelech, and Gallahadion, the outstanding horses of the 3 year old division, will go to the post. In addition, the overnight entries include two contenders, Mioland and Weigh Anchor, and a thumping long shot, Super Chief.

The crowd of 30,000 that will gather at the track will go thru considerable mental anguish before establishing a favorite. On the record, Sirocco, Bimelech, and Gallahadion all are capable of beating one another. It all depends on which one happens to be feeling best at the time. Mioland and Weigh Anchor will be in there for those who like to get a horse at good odds with a chance of upsetting a favorite, and Super Chief will draw support from those who play program numbers, hunches, or similar systems.

Three Draw Heavy Backing.

The betting on Sirocco, Bimelech, and Gallahadion is likely to be so close that their odds will differ by only fractions of a point. Sirocco may be established as the favorite at about 8 to 5, with Bimelech at 2 to 1, and Gallahadion at 5 to 2.

There's always a chance, of course, that sentiment may shift back to Bimelech, but it will take a lot of kindliness for Chicago race followers to throw out that colt's last race and say all is forgiven. After sending him to the post at 3 to 5 odds in the Arlington Classic, his backers watched him quit ignominously without even an attempt at hanging on when he was challenged on the last turn. The question is, however, will he or won't he run one of his good races today? He probably doesn't know himself just now—and he wouldn't tell if he did.

Sirocco Did Very Well.

As for Sirocco, he drew considerable admiration by the way in which he mastered his field in the Classic. All the crowd can do about him now is wonder whether he has really come up to his peak and has the capability of maintaining it, or whether that effort at Arlington was just a flash of brilliance. It is certain that under Jimmy Smith's handling he has improved steadily from a slow beginning in the spring and there is the possibility that he is one of those horses which develop into excellent late summer and fall campaigners. The betters will know more about it after today's race—and then it will be too late.

Gallahadion is capable of running excellent races, but heretofore the problem has been to get him to run two of them in a row. He has had a tendency to go off quickly from his best form and come back slowly. Ever since his good effort in the

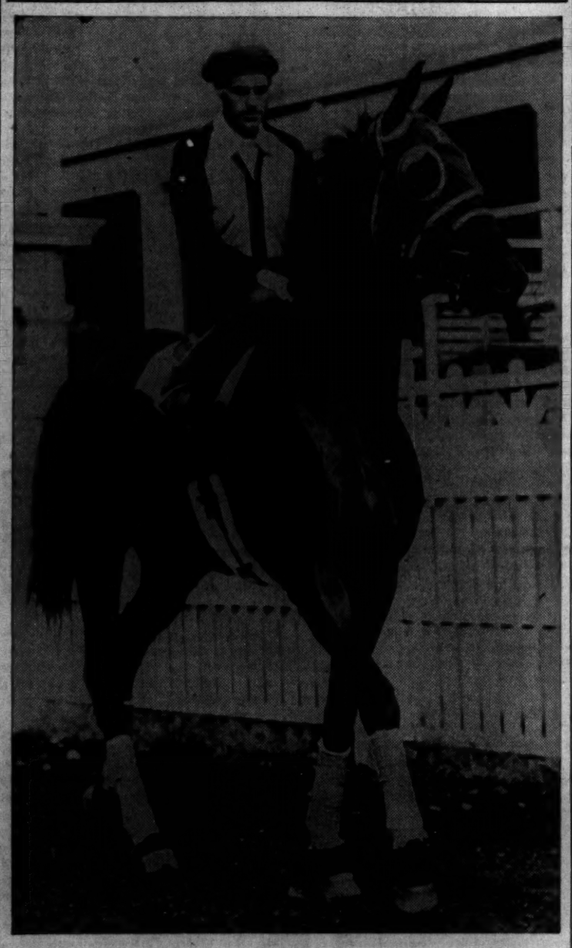
Favorite in 30th Derby



The potential betting favorite in today's $60,000 American Derby at Washington Park is Sirocco, the Dixiana star which won the Arlington Classic last month. He is expected to be at 8 to 5 in the six-horse field.

TILDEN, RICHARDS MEET TODAY IN 1ST PRO GAMES

William [Big Bill] Tilden will meet Vincent Richards in the opening singles match of the two day professional tennis exhibition series on the Saddle and Cycle club courts, Sheridan road and Foster avenue, this afternoon. ALL-STARS FLOCK IN; REPORT FOR DRILL TOMORROW

U. S. C. Players Among Early Arrivals.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

John Haman, Northwestern university center, came back home yesterday. Johnny checked in at the Hinman house, Evanston, and tomorrow he'll report to Dyche stadium for his football equipment.

On Aug. 29, Haman and his associates on the All-Star squad will play their last game as college men when they face the Green Bay Packers, National Professional league champions, in the seventh annual game sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

In addition to Stan Andersen, Stanford, and Frank Emmons, Oregon, who checked in Thursday, other early arrivals yesterday were Harry Smith and Grenville Lansdell, Southern California. Smith was elected to the starting team by the fans of the nation. These Trojans motored from Los Angeles. Two other players of the national championship Southern California eleven, Bill Fisk and Bob Winslow, also are en route by automobile.

Drill with Bears.

Cyde Turner, Hardin-Simmons center, who will start against the Packers, and John Schiechl, Santa Clara center, are in Chicago, but they have not reported at Northwestern. Both have signed with the Chicago Bears professional team and are practicing this week with George Halas' squad.

Several other members of the All-Star squad will arrive this morning. Among them are William Hutchinson, Dartmouth half back and one of the greatest eastern football players in 1939, and Lee Artoe, University of California tackle. Ben Kish, Pittsburgh quarter back, stopped over in Pittsburgh for a day, and Lou Zontini, Notre Dame right half back, is visiting in Fostoria, O., but will arrive tomorrow morning when all members of the squad have been requested to report at Northwestern.

Dominic Principe, Fordham university full back, who was one of the east's best players last fall and was rated an all-time great by the Rams, will arrive at 1:20 this afternoon in Union station.

Coaches Are Due Tomorrow.

The All-American coaches—Eddie Anderson, Iowa; Don Faurot, Missouri; Buck Shaw, Santa Clara; Tad Wieman, Princeton, and Lowell Dawson, Tulane—will report tomorrow. Until Coach Anderson arrives the practice schedule cannot be announced, but it is likely the All-Stars will have one formal workout tomorrow.

This seventh squad of collegians finds itself on equality with the 1934 squad, captained by Ed Krause, Notre

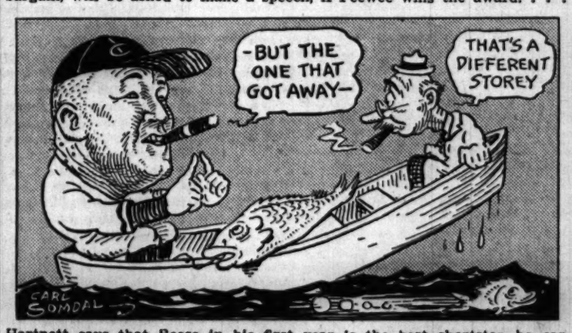
In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

NO wonder Mike Jacobs is trying to buy the Brooklyn Dodgers. . . . He knows the shortage of heavyweight fighters and he has been reading, no doubt, about the brawls the Dodgers have been staging at Ebbets field and elsewhere. . . . Tommy Armour, professional at Medinah Country club, feels that sports editors should devote as much space to proper etiquet among tournament players as they do to competitive reports. . . . He thinks there is too much display of temperament by many of the younger professionals. . . . Their club tossing and divot taking on greens, he says, reflect on all pros and destroy whatever they have done to set an example for young golfers. . . . Jay McCann of South Bend, who will be a guard candidate on the Notre Dame football team this fall, holds patents on a controling device for torpedoes and on an aerial bomb which has been accepted by the war department. . . . Coach Robert Zuppke of Illinois is painting pastels instead of the usual oils while vacationing at Muskegon, Mich. . . . Suggestion for baseball executives whose players hustle during September when they begin to think about their contracts for the following year: Draw up new contracts on the last day of each month of the season, thus assuring alertness six instead of the last one or two months of the season. . . . Philip K. Wrigley, with his bonus system, has been shooting at the idea, but can't go far enough under present baseball law, it appears. . . .

Mike Kinek of Michigan State, an end on the All-Star football squad, won a medal for horn tooting in the Chicagoland Music Festival in 1935. . . . He made a concert tour of the east in 1931 during which he played before President Hoover. . . . The 40 models who will be at the American Derby in Washington Park this afternoon to display new fashions will add further evidence to the shifting of the world's fashion center from France to the United States. . . . Paris race tracks long have been famed as the place to see the latest in women's apparel. . . . Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Cal., who recently won her second straight Women's Western Derby, is one of the stanchest exponents of practice in women's golf. . . . During the derby she spent her spare time taking lessons from John Revolta, Evanston pro. . . . Peewee Reese, Dodger shortstop, currently is the favorite for the "best rookie" trophy which Chicago baseball writers will award at their annual dinner next January. . . . Gabby Hartnett, who gets hysterical every time he thinks about how the Cubs turned down Peewee over his protest to purchase Bob Sturgeon at a comparative bargain, will be asked to make a speech, if Peewee wins the award. . . .



Hartnett says that Reese in his first year is the best shortstop he can remember, and he has vivid recollection of Bill Jurges, Travis Jackson, and many others in their peak years. . . . "And he is going to get better and better," Gabby sighs. . . . However, the Cubs may not do so badly in 1941, after all, if Bob Storey, the San Francisco shortstop tagged for spring delivery to the North Siders, lives up to his minor league reputation. . . . Storey, out now with a broken leg, is said to be one of the best prospects the Coast league has produced in years.

Eddie Smith, the little round man who throws with his left arm, last night finally routed the jinx that had pursued the White Sox thru their first four 1940 battles under the Comiskey park lights. The tow headed southpaw was as brilliant as the 768 dazzling bulbs as he choked off Detroit's pennant minded Tigers with five hits, fanned 11 of them and personally launched a ninth inning run that hoisted James Dykes' warriors to a 3 to 2 victory before 36,713 spectators.

Edgar Smith.

Smitty, now owner of nine victories, was sufficiently spectacular to deserve the added glory of a whitewash triumph, but he experienced some rough treatment at the hands of Bob Kennedy, one of his mates. The rookie fumbled an easy double play ball in the seventh and a moment later erred in judgment, a combination of mistakes which pulled the Sox back into a 2 to 2 tie. Kennedy's misdeeds, however, merely returned to the Tigers what they had given away on blunders by Dick Bartell and Paul [Dizzy] Trout.

Benton Is the Loser.

The Tigers retained their half-game lead over the second place Cleveland Indians in the American league pennant race because the Indians were beaten, 4 to 3, by the Browns in St. Louis last night.

The Sox put over their winning assault against Alton Benton, who in the seventh, had been picked to finish the job started by Trout. Benton, after two shaky innings met Smitty at the opening of the ninth and Edgar promptly gathered more honors by slamming a single which Frank Metha knocked down with one hand. The bunting game had been a failure for the Sox in earlier attempts, but Jim Webb finally put one across, thus getting Smith to second. Then Mike Kreevich finished the job in a hurry. On the second pitch he whistled a two bagger past third base and Smith's legs carried the decision to the plate.

Kennedy Throws It Away.

The first threats of the evening showed up in the second inning. Kennedy gave the Tigers an opening by throwing wild on Greenberg's tap with none out. York bounced a double off the left field wall and, happily for the Sox, Greenberg overlooked the advisability of stopping at third. Appropriately enough, he was cut down at the plate by a relayed rifle shot from the same arm that put him on base. Smitty then fanned Higgins and Tebbetts flied to Wright. In the Sox half Rosenthal and Tresh singled after two were out but Kennedy popped to Metha.

Smith and Trout both encountered difficulties in the fourth. After McCosky had fanned, Greenberg walked and York singled. So Smitty just fanned Higgins and nailed Tebbetts on a fly to Kreevich. In the home fourth, Rosenthal and Tresh again paired singles after two were out, the former getting to third. This put

PIRATES CAPTURE 8TH IN ROW; DROP CUBS TO FIFTH

Sewell Yields 4 Hits in Winning Before 29,978.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 9.—The Cubs plopped into the second division tonight as 29,978, largest of six night crowds in Pittsburgh, cheered. The Cubs plummeted to the nether region, unusual depth for them in August, when they absorbed a 6 to 2 trimming at the hands of the Pirates in the opener of a four game series.

It was the eighth straight victory for Frankie Frisch's fellows, their 17th in their last 21 games. It was the tenth victory for Rip Sewell, against two defeats.

Only 30 Cubs faced Sewell, and but one of them was left on base. Pirate double plays took care of the two men who singled, and an error by Rip himself permitted Dallessandro, the lone Cub who was stranded, to reach base.

Nicholson Hits Homer.

The Cubs went down on a diet of four hits, two of them from the bat of Bill Nicholson. Bill's second hit was his 19th homer, which followed a triple by Jim Gleeson in the seventh for the only Cub runs of the evening. The other Chicago hit was a single by Rabbit Warstler, which gave Zeke Bonura, charley horse sufferer, opportunity to ground into a double play to end the eighth inning.

The Pirates made six hits off Ken Raffensberger, starting and losing pitcher, and three off Vance Page, who pitched the eighth inning, with Manager Gabby Hartnett catching. Gabby never had caught in a night game and had vowed many times he never would. But, with the second division yawning, the boss changed his mind.

Charley Root pitched for one out in the sixth and three in the seventh. He escaped unscathed, altho the Pirates loaded the bases without a hit in the seventh.

Have Chance to Get Back.

No Cub team has finished out of the money since the hopeless outfit of 1925 pulled up last.

Of course, the Cubs, by winning tomorrow afternoon, can get back in fourth place, and they'll still have two games Sunday to fortify the rise

ALL-STARS FLOCK IN; REPORT FOR DRILL TOMORROW

U. S. C. Players Among Early Arrivals.

Dame tackle, and George Sauer, Nebraska full back. The score for the series with the professionals is deadlocked. The Chicago Bears won from the All-Stars, 5 to 0, in 1935, and the New York Giants whipped the All-Stars, 9 to 0, last year. College victories were registered against the Packers in 1937, 6 to 0, and against the Washington Redskins in 1938, 28 to 16. The Bears played a scoreless tie in 1934 and in 1936 the Detroit Lions tied the college boys, 7 to 7.

Packers Have Incentive.

The fight for the lead in the series lends greater interest to the game Aug. 29, but it must be subordinate to the Packers' fight to erase previous defeat. With experience gained in 1937 and knowledge of the problems of conditioning older men and imbuing them with the proper spirit, the Packers now have forfeited claim to all excuses if they should lose a second time.

To the spectators there is another item of major interest. Each game has developed an outstanding star among the college men and in several cases this player has gained national fame he had been unable to achieve in school. Tony Blazine, Illinois Wesleyan tackle, who was the outstanding lineman in the 1935 game, is an example. Blazine went on to earn honors in professional play. Only a few knew of Blazine's ability until he had his opportunity before 80,000 spectators in Soldiers' field.

Remember Bill Shepherd.

In the 1935 backfield was Bill Shepherd, Western Maryland half back. Shepherd had won scoring honors, but, with its usual cynicism, the public had not accepted him as a truly great performer until the All-Star game. Since then, Shepherd has more than earned his niche in professional football as one of its best backs.

In the same category was Sammy Baugh, of Texas Christian. Baugh's reputation was known thruout the nation, but only the southwest had seen him play. His appearance against the Packers in 1937 was eagerly awaited by a public which had taken the attitude he just couldn't be that good. Baugh first captured the admiration of his team mates, who elected him captain. The squad's appreciation of Sammy's ability and his modesty was in sharp contrast to treatment accorded other name stars in other years.

Sammy Comes Thru.

Baugh then tossed the pass to Gaylell Tinsley which defeated Green Bay, and followed that with a record breaking passing performance in the 1937 professional season which helped carry Washington to a league title.

The Western conference recognized Cecil Isbell, of Purdue, as one of the game's finest half backs, but Isbell played his greatest game in 1938 against Washington. In that battle Isbell outpassed Baugh, then with the Redskins, and he received the most valuable player trophy, awarded for the first time that year. Now Isbell, like Baugh, will come back to Soldiers' field. It remains to be seen whether a new star will eclipse Isbell's record.

—Last year Bill Osmanski won the crowd's plaudits. Osmanski was no stranger in the east, where he had bulwarked Holy Cross for three years, but he received national recognition as a great full back after he alone had proved capable of cracking the New York line.

DERBY ENTRANTS AND THEIR PAST PERFORMANCES

Records and Winnings of Horses in Rich Stake.

Following are the performances and earnings during 1939 and thus far in 1940 of entrants in today's running of the $60,000 added American Derby at Washington Park:

BIMELECH, 126 pounds, bay colt by Black Toney-La Troienne, by Teddy. Owner—E. R. Bradley; trainer, William Hurley.

Year.	Starts.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Won.
1939	6	6	0	0	$135,090
1940	7	4	2	1	$110,005
			Total winnings,		$245,095

Bimelech, undefeated champion of the 1939 juveniles, started the present season as the overwhelming favorite in the struggle for the 3 year old title. After making an impressive beginning by scoring in the Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland and the Derby trial at Churchill Downs, he became something of an in-and-outer, winning and losing steadily in alternate starts. He ran second to Gallahadion in the Kentucky Derby, then came back the following week to win the Preakness. On the following Saturday he was beaten by Corydon in the Withers, but returned several weeks later to win the mile and half Belmont stakes. Then, in the Arlington Classic, he finished a poor third to Sirocco and Gallahadion, after quitting immediately when challenged on the last turn.

SIROCCO, 126 pounds, bay gelding by Sweep All-Miss Toro, by Toro. Owner—Dixiana farms; trainer, James W. Smith.

Year.	Starts.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Won.
1939	10	3	2	2	$10,665
1940	8	3	1	3	$43,910
			Total winnings,		$54,575

Sirocco has come up steadily during the summer racing season and has attained his best form in recent weeks. The outstanding achievement of his career was his victory in the Arlington Classic, in which he came home seven lengths ahead of his nearest rival, Gallahadion, with Bimelech third. When he won the Walden stakes at Pimlico last fall, he began showing signs that he liked a distance and his subsequent performances have sustained this promise. He prefers a dry track but has done well in sloppy footing. He began pointing for the Kentucky Derby early in the spring but wasn't quite ready for it, finishing fifth. Then he campaigned at Suffolk Downs, winning an allowance event, running third in the Constitution handicap, and second in the Yankee handicap. In the latter event he was beaten only by a nose by Pass Out after closing powerfully in the stretch. Then came his winning effort in the Classic.

GALLAHADION, 126 pounds, bay colt by Sir Gallahad III.-Countess Time, by Reigh Count. Owner—Milky Way farm; trainer, Roy Waldron.

Year.	Starts.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Won.
1939	5	0	1	0	$180
1940	15	5	4	1	$86,750
			Total winnings,		$87,930

Gallahadion first showed his talents in winning the San Vicente stakes during the Santa Anita meeting. Then he went to Churchill Downs, ran second to Bimelech in the Derby trial, and followed up by winning the Kentucky Derby at odds of 35 to 1. Then he went east and took three sound beatings at Pimlico, Belmont, and Delaware, finishing third to Bimelech in the Preakness, fifth to the same horse in the Belmont stakes, and fourth to Andy K. in the Kent handicap. Coming back to the middle west he ran well at Arlington Park, winning the Classic trial in handy fashion and finishing second to Sirocco in the Classic. He is a sturdy horse, bred to go a distance in any kind of footing.

MIOLAND, 123 pounds, bay colt, by Mio D'Arezzo-Iolanda, by Vespasian. Owner, Charles S. Howard; trainer, Tom Smith.

	Starts.	1st.	2d.	3d	Won.
1939	5	3	1	1	$2,360
1940	10	3	1	1	$27,875
			Total winnings,		$30,235

Miolond acquired quite a bit of prestige last winter at Santa Anita, where he won the San Capristano handicap. Then his handlers began concentrating their attention on the Kentucky Derby. The best he could do in the event, however, was fourth place. Then he finished second to Bimelech in the Preakness, which was his most noteworthy achievement as a 3 year old. Soon after he fell on a concrete walk and injured himself severely enough to warrant a lapse in training. Returning to the races last month, he won an allowance event at Hollywood and then finished fourth to Big Flash in the Hollywood Derby.

WEIGH ANCHOR, 118 pounds, chestnut gelding, by Grandace-Windlass, by Man o' War. Owner, William B. Simpson; trainer, Don Jefferson.

	Starts.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Won.
1939	8	1	0	1	$830
1940	14	4	7	3	$23,510
			Total winnings,		$24,330

Weigh Anchor has been a consistent performer on the Pacific coast. He won the Golden State Derby at Tanforan, finished second in the Hollywood Derby, and third in the Santa Anita Derby. He also has a second in the San Juan Capistrano handicap to his credit. His only recent victory was in an allowance event at Hollywood Park, but of his last six starts he has scored five seconds and a first. He hasn't been out of the money in 14 starts this season.

SUPER CHIEF, 118 pounds, chestnut gelding by Pot au Feu-Bourse, by Broomstick. Owner—Mrs. Emil Denemark; trainer, Dave Womeldorff.

Year.	Starts.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Won.
1939	2	1	0	0	$450
1940	12	1	1	1	$3,985
			Total winnings,		$4,435

Super Chief's only victory in 12 starts this season was scored in the Arkansas Derby at Oaklawn Park last March. In five subsequent starts at Suffolk Downs he was unable to get in the money. He was brought west for the Washington Park meeting and has started twice, finishing eighth and sixth in ordinary company.

BROWNS DEFEAT INDIANS, 4-3, IN RALLY IN NINTH

Bob Swift's Single Scores Clift for Victory.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 9 (AP).—A ninth inning single by Bob Swift, scoring Harlond Clift from third, gave the St. Louis Browns a 4 to 3 victory over the Cleveland Indians tonight, enabling the Detroit Tigers, who lost to the Chicago White Sox, to retain first place by a half game.

Limited to two hits by Mel Harder for six and a half innings, the Browns pecked away for one run in the seventh, then tied the count at 3-all in the next inning on Walt Judnich's twenty-first homer with Roy Cullenbine on board.

Clift opened the last half of the ninth with a double which brought Harry Eisenstat to Harder's rescue. Don Heffner bunted to Ken Keltner, who slipped on the wet grass, Clift advancing to third and Heffner being safe at first to set the stage for Swift's blow. Score:

YANKEES WIN, 2 TO 0.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—Red Ruffing and Steve Sundra collaborated in a two hit pitching spectacle today to give the world champion New York Yankees a 2 to 0 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics. Ruffing started, but pulled a muscle in his left leg and retired with one out in the third inning. He had given up one hit, a single in the first inning.

Thompson and Reds Vanquish Cardinals, 7-2

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 9 (AP).—The Cincinnati Reds threw their baseball machine back into high gear tonight to blast out a 7 to 2 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals and give Junior Thompson his 11th victory of the season.

Thompson, making his first start since he was spiked in a fight July 23 in a game at Brooklyn, held the Cards scoreless until the fifth inning.

DODGERS, 1; BEES, 0.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 9 (AP).—Whitlow Wyatt not only shut out the Boston Bees today, but also singled and scored the only run in the game as the Brooklyn Dodgers beat the Bees, 1 to 0. Each team had won four consecutive games before today.

Wyatt yielded only four hits and struck out seven batters, fanning Slugger Chet Ross three times in a row. It was the 30 year old right hander's second straight shutout and his 12th victory of the season against nine defeats.

CUBS ARE BEATEN IN NIGHT GAME BY PIRATES, 6-2

as they return to Wrigley field for a considerable home stand. The stay starts Monday against the Cardinals, who also had first division ideas until they were smothered by the hot Pirates earlier this week.

The Cubs made the first threat this evening.

Nicholson opened the second with a single to center, but Hank Leiber fanned and Nicholson was doubled trying to reach second. Dom Dallessandro grounded to Elbie Fletcher and was safe when Sewell, covering first, dropped Fletcher's toss. Little Dom raced from first to third on a wild pitch, but was stuck at third as Al Todd grounded to Arky Vaughan.

DiMaggio Hits Homer.

The Pirates' end of the inning was more of a success. Fletcher pushed off with a double to left, took third on Maurice Van Robays' long fly and walked home ahead of Vince DiMaggio, who rammed his 11th homer over the 365 foot marker near the left foul line.

Frank Gustine got the home stish under way with the Pirates' fourth hit, a double to left. Bill Herman threw out Vaughan and Fletcher flied to Nicholson, but Van Robays banged a single to center, scoring Gustine. DiMaggio was hit by a pitched ball, then Lopez singled to right, Van Robays scoring and DiMaggio taking third. Root replaced Raffensberger and Sewell popped to Todd.

The second Chicago hit was Gleeson's triple, a 375 foot drive with one out in the seventh. Nicholson followed with his home run.

Gabby Makes a Debut.

Hartnett batted for Todd at the start of the eighth and struck out. Warstler singled to left, but Bonura, batting for Root, grounded into a double play, Vaughan to Gustine to Fletcher.

It was at the start of the eighth that Hartnett made his world premiere as a night game catcher. He went in as receiver for Page, third Chicago pitcher. DiMaggio opened against the new Cub battery with his third hit, a single to left. Lopez also singled to left. DiMaggio stopped half way between third and second on Lopez' hit and apparently was trapped on Dallessandro's throw, to Herman. Bill dropped the throw, however, DiMaggio reaching third and Lopez second. Sewell struck out, but Handley singled to center, scoring DiMaggio and Lopez. Bob Elliott flied to Dallessandro after which Handley stole second. Gustine popped to Warstler.

Sox and Smith Beat Tigers in Ninth, 3 to 2

Action was mixed with words when the Sox broke into the run column in the fifth. The side should have been retired on Kreevich's grounder but Bartell obliged by fumbling the chance. A moment later Kreevich started to steal second and Tebbetts made such an accurate throw that he hit Kuhel's bat, making a cinch of Iron Mike's burglary. Tebbetts put on a big howl about interference but aroused no sympathy in the heart of Umpire Cal Hubbard. Kuhel promptly doubled to right and Kreevich scored. Appling struck out to finish the inning.

In the sixth inning, for the first time the Sox got a man to base before two were out. Wright led off with a single to center. Rosenthal bunted and Trout, trying to force Wright at second, threw the ball into center field. Tresh aimed a single into left field for his third hit, Wright counting. Kennedy tried to sacrifice but his bunt forced Rosenthal at third. Smith was retired on a fly which Greenberg misjudged but finally grabbed with one hand after a leap. Webb hoisted to Fox for the third out.

Error Opens the Gates.

The Tigers' tying seventh began with Higgins' single to left, and the next happening was Kennedy's error on Tebbetts' easy double play bounder. The ball slipped from the freshman's hand as he was about to make the throw to Webb. The two runners were shoved along on Metha's bunt. Stainback, batting for Trout, grounded to Kennedy, who made an attempt to keep Higgins from scoring, but the throw was late. Bartell lined a low one to center, the drive curving off Kreevich's glove for a double, Tebbetts scoring. Fox then was purposely passed, filling the bases. The remainder of the inning was easy. McCosky flied to Kreevich in short center and Appling tossed out Greenberg.

Thornton Lee, who has two straight two hit games to his credit, and Jack Knott will pitch for the Sox in today's double header with the Tigers. The opposition will counter with Schoolboy Rowe and Tommy Bridges.

The ordinarily Jovial James Dykes, Sox boss, doesn't care to hear mention of the name of Julius Solters, his power hitter with the charley horse. Dykes gets nervous indigestion whenever he is reminded about the absence of the Moose. And the leg isn't showing much improvement.

KASPER DEFEATS CHICK EVANS IN CITY GOLF, 1 UP

Chester Kasper of Lansing Airport put on the biggest upset of the 36th annual Chicago Amateur golf tournament yesterday on the Jackson Park course when he defeated the veteran Charles [Chick] Evans of Edgewater, former National Open and Amateur champion, on the 36th hole of their double round semi-final match, 1 up.

Earle Wilde.

Chester Kasper.

Playing in his first city amateur tourney, Kasper, an 18 year old Bloom High school graduate, will meet Earl Wilde, a 21 year old former C. D. G. A. junior closed champion who eliminated Frank McNamara, policeman from Evergreen, on the 34th green, 3 and 2. Wilde and Kasper will play their 36 hole final today.

One down starting the afternoon round, Evans lost the 19th and 20th holes by three putting and went to the turn four down. The veteran then rallied on the last nine and came up to the home hole only one down. Needing an eight foot putt to square the match, Chick missed and his young rival won, one up. Evans had 40-34-74 and Kasper 36-37-73 in the afternoon.

CHAMPIONSHIP CONSOLATION.

Jack Kamsler, Ravisloe, beat Harry Kasper, Lansing Airport, 1 up, 27 holes.

Don McQueen, Homewood, beat Gus Metro, Jackson park, 2 and 1.

FIRST FLIGHT.

William Purdy, Jackson park, beat Thor Johnson, Wauconda, 2 and 1.

Anthony Kotulic, Evergreen, beat Al Lundahl, Jackson park, 9 and 8.

SECOND FLIGHT.

Leigh Campbell, Jackson park, beat George Marks, Jackson park, 1 up.

Ernie Simmons, Jackson park, beat Don McGinnis, Jackson park, 3 and 2.

THIRD FLIGHT.

William Buff, Beverly, beat Mike Jacoby, Lake Hills, 4 and 3.

Robert Nolan, Oak Park, beat Fred Reese, Jackson park, 1 up.

RIVALS WIN, 4 TO 2.

The Rival girls defeated the Cantaloupe Queens of Phoenix, Ariz., softball team, 4 to 2, on Spencer field last night. Tonight the Queens will play the Hydrox girls on Shewbridge field and the Rivals will meet the Rockola girls on Spencer field.

Culver Junior Net Title Won by Coast Pair

Culver, Ind., Aug. 9 (AP).—The top seeded combination of Jim Brink of Seattle, Wash., and Bob Falkenburg of Hollywood, Cal., today won the 1940 doubles title in the boys' division of the national boys' and junior tennis tournament.

The west coast pair won the crown by defeating the second seeded team of Allen Richardson of Webster Grove, Mo., and Jack Tuero of New Orleans, 6-0, 6-3.

Finals in Singles Today.

Tomorrow the junior and boys' singles titles and the junior doubles championship will be determined as six survivors of 160 players who entered the week long tournament take to the Culver Military academy courts.

Earl Bartlett of New Orleans and Bobby Carrothers of Coronado, Cal., will meet for the junior singles honors; Douglas Woodbury of Los Angeles will team with Carrothers to play Bartlett and Earl Cochell of Los Angeles for the junior doubles crown, and Brink and Falkenburg will compete against each other for the boys' singles title.

Bartlett scored the first real upset of the tournament by sweeping thru Woodbury, junior favorite, in a semi-final match, 6-1, 6-3.

Carrothers Beats Larned.

Carrothers, 1937 boys' champion and seeded second among the juniors this year, had to go three hard fought sets in a semi-final match before downing Gardner Larned of Chicago, seeded sixth, 6-4, 4-6, 9-7. Brink eliminated Tuero, No. 3, 6-2, 6-2, and Falkenburg, No. 2, won over unseeded Bobby Kring of Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-4.

Carrothers and Woodbury advanced over Larned and Jimmy Evert of Chicago, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1.

DOWN DRAFTS WIN.

Dorothy Van Arkel's double and single which drove in four runs and Jo Leonard's pitching gave the Cardinal Down Drafts a 5 to 2 victory over the Reed Oilers of Memphis, Tenn., in Normal Park last night. Tonight the Reed Oilers, with Boots Klupping on the mound, will play the Raab Tailors in Rand stadium, 1900 E. 75th street.

ZALE EASES UP IN TRAINING FOR SOOSE MATCH

Tony Zale showed symptoms of becoming stale in a four round workout yesterday in Trafton's gymnasium against Jake Carter and Willie Ross. As a result, the recently crowned middleweight champion will be given a rest tomorrow, his first since starting drills two weeks ago for a 10 round nontitle bout against Billy Soose of Scanton, Pa., in Mills stadium Aug. 21. . . . Indian Jimmy Maddox, Terre Haute, Ind., lightweight, has been obtained for an eight round contest against Gene Ward in Marigold Gardens Monday. Additional matches of eight rounds bring together Mike Gamiere, Cleveland lightweight, and Chico Romo of Los Angeles, and Floyd Hagen, St. Paul, also a 135 pounder, and Johnny Pleasant. . . . There will be no show in the Marigold arena Sept. 2 because of the Labor day holiday.

Torsten Ahlbeck and Jack Woods scored five round victories last night in feature bouts of the amateur show at Parichy stadium. Ahlbeck beat Wendel White and Woods won from James Fargo. Other results:

Julius Irwin beat Glen Potter [3]; Frank Kidd stopped Enoch McClane [3]; Ernie Nordman beat Jim Rabford [3]; Charles Johnson stopped Morris Tucker [3]; Harry Oler stopped Bob Cox [2].

ALERT IV. TAKES LEAD IN LIPTON CUP YACHT RACES

Two dozen racing sloops of the Chicago, Sheridan Shore, and Columbia Yacht clubs, yesterday sailed the second series of races off Belmont harbor for the Lipton, Nutting, and Gehrmann trophies. The fleet raced over choppy waters, with a steady northeast by east wind.

Alert IV., Dr. T. J. Morris' R class sloop, won the race for Rs and gained the lead over seven other sloops for the Lipton cup. The Alert's winning time for the 12 mile course was 2:26:7. Yankee, Ed Schnabel's defender, was runner-up in 2:28:25, followed by the Vail-Morton yacht, Gossoon II., in 2:28:58.

Aquila Beats Deirdre.

Aquila, Hubert Ellis' S [Eagle] class sloop, won the second event for the Nutting cup by sailing 12 miles in 2:46:34 and leads the series with 7¼ points to Orn's 7. She showed her heels to the Eagle boats from the start of the windward-leeward race, Charles Ellason Jr.'s sloop, Deirdre, was second in 2:51:14. Orn, Dr. Adrein Van

FEDERAL LOANS ON COTTON TO BE HIGHER THIS YEAR

New Program Approved by Roosevelt.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 (AP).—The Commodity Credit corporation announced today that it would make loans to growers on 1940 cotton at a base rate of 8.51 cents a pound for middling ⅞ inch cotton. The comparable rate under a similar loan program last year was 8.3 cents.

Officials said that, taking into account differentials for location of the cotton with reference to principal markets, the 1940 loans were expected to average about 8.9 cents, compared with 8.7 under the 1939 program.

Approved by Roosevelt.

The $150,000,000 loan program was approved earlier in the day by President Roosevelt at Hyde Park.

The corporation announced that this year's loan schedule would use 15-16 inch middling cotton as the basis rather than ⅞ inch middling. This conforms with a change in cotton market practices. Thus, the base rate for 15-16 inch middling will be 9.16 cents.

The base rate will apply at the farthest point from principal terminals. It will range from 9.9 in the Carolina mill areas to 9.16 in west Texas and New Mexico. The rate at all gulf and Pacific ports will be 9.8.

56 Per Cent of Parity Price.

This year's rate, the corporation said would be about 56 per cent of the parity price on June 15.

At the same time it was announced the President had signed a bill increasing the resources of the Commodity Credit corporation from $900,000,000 to $1,400,000,000 to carry out the mandatory loan provisions of the 1939 AAA act on corn, cotton, and wheat.

The bill was designed to meet marketing emergencies arising from war abroad and to permit temporary advances to other divisions of the agriculture department as required by law for short-term seasonal needs.

Cement Firm's Refunding Program Is Approved

New York, Aug. 9 [Special].—Stockholders of the Pennsylvania-Dixie Cement corporation at a special meeting today approved a plan for the refunding of $6,059,000 outstanding 6 per cent first mortgage bonds of 1941. The company will create a new first mortgage of $4,250,000, of which $3,250,000 will be issued immediately to an insurance company in the form of 4½ per cent bonds due in 1953. Approval also was given to the borrowing of $2,250,000 at 3¾ per cent from banks, in one to five year notes.

NET OF REPUBLIC AVIATION SETS 6 MONTH RECORD

Western Union Has $1,519,625 Profit.

Republic Aviation corporation reported yesterday that its profits in the first half of 1940 were the highest for the first six months of any year in the history of the company. Among other companies reporting was Western Union Telegraph company, which earned $1,519,625, or $1.45 a share, in the six months, against a net loss of $223,388 in first half of 1939.

Roy B. White reports Western Union is earning more.

W. Wallace Kellett, Republic's president, reported the company had net profit of $842,161 in the first six months, before deduction for federal excess profits taxes, equal to 75 cents a common share. No 1939 interim statement was available, but the company had a net loss of $524,781 in calendar year 1939. The main plants are in Long Island, N. Y., where military planes for the United States government are manufactured.

Reports Gain In Revenues.

Western Union's earnings were reported by Roy B. White, president, who told stockholders revenues have continued at moderately higher levels since June 30.

"Because of the confused and rapidly changing world situation," he said, "it is difficult to predict the future trend of our revenues. Barring unforeseen developments, however, business is expected to show moderate improvement in the early fall and, if realized, our business should follow the general trend."

For the 12 months ended June 30, Western Union had net profit of $3,123,127, equal to $2.98 a share, compared with a net loss of $342,566 in the 12 months ended June 30, 1939.

Fairchild Earns More.

Fairchild Aviation corporation, Long Island, N. Y., manufacturer of navigation instruments, aerial cameras, and other equipment, reported net income of $318,946, or 95 cents a share, in the first half of 1940. This compared with $141,121, or 41 cents a share, in the first six months of 1939.

Unfilled orders on June 30 were $3,111,096 compared with $1,507,474 a year ago, President James S. Ogsbury said, adding that it is impossible to make any forecast on second half earnings because of the tax situation.

"We can say, however," Ogsbury stated, "that barring unforeseen developments the outlook for further improvement in earnings before taxes over those of the first six months is very promising."

First half earnings of W. B. Jarvis company were $297,715, or 99 cents a share, compared with $353,374, or $1.18 a share, in the first six months of 1939.

SEEK TO DELAY TRANSPORT BILL PENDING CHANGE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 (AP).—A group of house members decided today to oppose final action on general transportation legislation next week because of the omission of an amendment by Rep. Wadsworth [R., N. Y.], designed to protect waterways.

Wadsworth said that about 30 congressmen decided at a meeting to try to send a senate-house conference report back to the committee with instructions to reinstate the provision.

The section would permit all carriers to charge "compensatory rates"—which would permit waterways, brought under federal regulation like railroads, to reduce their rates to meet any competition.

Chase National Bank Sues on $4,786,000 Utility Notes

Portland, Ore., Aug. 8 (AP).—Chase National bank of New York filed suit in Federal District court today to collect $4,786,000 from the Portland General Electric company. The complaint accused the power company of defaulting last May in the payment of notes covering the sum, owed to the bank and to the Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago. Chase National asked foreclosure of a mortgage unless payment is made within 30 days.

Federal Red Tape Snarls Plane Output

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

The complicated mass of red tape encountered by aircraft manufacturers when working on government contracts is described by R. M. Woodham, an accounting expert for the Curtiss-Wright organization, maker of military planes.

The United States government drives a hard bargain and entangles manufacturers in a maze of reports, audit schedules, rules, documents, and expense analyses, in order to determine the cost of producing the airplanes, Woodham's study indicated. He is technical assistant to the treasurer of the Wright Aeronautical corporation, subsidiary of Curtiss-Wright corporation.

Government red tape and tight limit on profits on its contracts have been criticized in the aircraft industry as the causes for the delay in carrying out the defense program.

Face Many Problems.

Among the problems besetting the accounting department of an airplane manufacturer working on government orders is what allowance should be made for the depreciation of plant and machinery, how to allocate labor charges, overhead, costs of administration and selling, costs of research, engineering and development, and amortization of buildings and equipment purchased exclusively for government orders.

Woodham outlined in the current issue of the magazine Credit and Financial Management the numerous complicated steps which the manufacturer must complete to fulfill a government contract. These include:

1. Prepare the bid for the contract according to government requirements.

2. Design the airplane or other product to army or navy specifications—"not to mention the desires and prejudices of the particular government customer."

Use Federal Specifications.

3. Fabricate the airplane to government specifications on material, heat treating, plating, riveting, welding, cleaning, and finishing.

4. Purchase materials that must be inspected either at the source or approved by contractor upon receipt.

5. Maintain a special department for the inspection of the process and the product satisfactory to government representatives stationed at the plant.

6. The product must be tested and accepted by the contractor and by the laboratories of the military service. These tests are numerous and exacting and may involve several government agencies sometimes more than a year.

7. Ship the product on government bills of lading in containers specified by government regulations.

Comply with Wage Rules.

8. Comply with the Walsh-Healy act, which requires manufacturers working on government contracts to pay minimum prevailing wages determined by the labor department, and the wages and hours act. These require reports and classification of workers.

9. Comply with the Harter-Sheppard act of 1940, which authorizes the army and navy to award contracts for aircraft parts and accessories to the three lowest responsible bidders.

10. Comply with the air corps act of 1926, which classifies aircraft procurement under competitive bidding, negotiated contracts, or design competition.

11. Comply with the Davis-Bacon act of 1931, which specifies that prevailing wage rates be applied to contracts on public works.

12. Comply with the eight hour law of 1912.

13. Comply with the profit limitation rules of the Vinson act of 1934.

Profit Limit Reduced.

The Vinson act required that contractors return to the treasury all profits exceeding 10 per cent on construction of naval vessels and 12 per cent on aircraft. The act affects contracts of more than $10,000. The profit limit on both types of contract was reduced last June to 8 per cent.

"On equipment used for as rapidly changing an art as aviation, depreciation is a subject most difficult of accurate determination," said Woodham. "Regulations include a provision for 'depreciation and obsolescence of special equipment necessarily acquired primarily for the performance of the contract.'

"This simply means that special tools, dies, jigs, and fixtures purchased or fabricated for use on any one contract must then be scrapped if full costs are to be allowed.

"Obviously the contractor takes a licking on this item, for he will not ordinarily scrap tools and fixtures or tear down buildings for which there is any possibility of later use. So he puts these items in his normal capital assets and charges long term depreciation on them."

Another Troublesome Situation.

A situation which he described as troublesome to aircraft manufacturers is the accelerated depreciation of machinery and fixtures that occurs when a factory is operating two or three shifts a day.

In figuring costs on government orders, Woodham said, manufacturers are now permitted to include such expenses as dues and donations other than for ordinary and necessary business purposes, unusual expenses caused by strikes, cost of maintaining idle facilities, federal and state taxes, executive bonuses, losses on investments, interest charges, and bad debts.

In charging off engineering or development expenses, the aircraft manufacturers have no definite guide to follow and no precedent, according to Woodham. The regulations permit the entire cost of a development project to be charged on a contract only when there is no reasonable possibility that the product developed will be sold commercially in the future.

In other cases only a proportion of this cost is allowed on a government contract.

Finds Process to Refine U.S. Manganese

New York, Aug. 9 [Special].—Anaconda Copper Mining company today announced that it has developed an economical process for concentrating low grade manganese ore and has begun construction of a plant at Butte, Mont. The plant is to have a capacity of 100,000 long tons annually of concentrated manganese ores, officials stated at company offices here. It is to be completed in six to nine months, at a cost of about $1,000,000.

The Metals Reserves corporation, an organization recently formed by the United States government for the accumulation of strategic materials not now produced in this country in quantities sufficient for domestic requirements, has contracted for the purchase of 80,000 long tons annually of the concentrated ores from Anaconda. Anaconda officials said the government will have an option on that amount of ore for an additional three years.

Result of Long Research.

The new process is the result of several years of research. Thru the process, silver, zinc, copper, and other metals that may be found with the manganese ore will be recovered. It is considered a development that eventually may go a long way toward solving the problem of obtaining necessary manganese domestically for the steel industry.

Altho manganese ore is found in many sections of the United States, nearly all of it is of such low grade that it has been found impossible to use commercially. As a result the total domestic production last year amounted to only 31,360 tons. Imports totaled 736,751 tons. During the world war, however, domestic production reached about 300,000 tons yearly.

Russia Is Biggest Producer.

Russia is the world's largest producer of manganese ores, but since the outbreak of the European war last September, shipments from Russia to this country were reduced to a low level. Most United States imports now come from Cuba, the Gold Coast of Africa, India, and Brazil.

Imported manganese ores usually produce 48 to 52 per cent of the pure metal. Anaconda states that its concentrates will have a content of 58 to 60 per cent of manganese.

While the amount of manganese used in making steel varies with the quality desired, it required roughly 1 ton of manganese ore last year to produce 52 tons of steel and in 1938 1 ton for every 56 tons of steel.

CHICAGO LEADS 4 STATE AREA IN DEFENSE ORDERS

Chicago received the largest share of national defense contracts placed with enterprises in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan from June 24 to July 27, Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said yesterday.

Of the $6,556,314 in defense orders placed in Illinois, $5,715,430 went to Chicago companies, Lyon said. Michigan, who was second and far below Illinois in volume of orders, received $1,464,294. Indiana ranked third with orders amounting to $670,332, and Wisconsin next, with $606,288. These totals represent defense purchases by the army, navy, and coast guard and are based on figures collected by the federal department of labor, Lyon said.

Among the items ordered in the Chicago area were Diesel motors, trucks, chemicals, ponchos, blankets, handkerchiefs, field range parts, tractors, earth boring machines, shell cases, cartridges, steel tanks, refrigeration plants, radio equipment, target paper, glass buckets, iron and steel, metal tubing, telephone equipment, and milling machines.

Seven Months' Auto Sales 22% Above Year Ago

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 9 (AP).—The Automobile Manufacturers association estimated today that factory sales of passenger cars and trucks in the first seven months of 1940 totaled 2,776,740 units, an increase of 22 per cent over the corresponding period of 1939. Placing July factory sales at 237,300 units, the association survey said that while this volume was 9 per cent above the corresponding month a year ago, it was 35 per cent under that of June, reflecting the usual cessation of production during the model changeover period.

NEW YORK CENTRAL'S JUNE NET EARNINGS MOUNT TO $804,943

Earnings of the New York Central system in June increased $1,096,818 over June, 1939, the road reported yesterday. Net income for the month amounted to $804,943 compared with a deficit of $391,875 last year.

In the first half of 1940, the road reduced its net loss by $8,502,930 from the corresponding period last year. The net deficit after fixed charges for the first six months amounted to $576,136 against $9,079,066 a year ago.

Railway tax accruals in the six months declined $262,299 from a year ago. Some railroads reporting recently have boosted their reserves for taxes sharply in order to meet the new 1940 income taxes.

UTILITY SLUSH FUND SUBPENAS EXPECTED SOON

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 9 (AP).—Subpenas for the first witnesses in the federal government's grand jury investigation of an alleged political slush fund created by three utility companies may be issued next week, United States District Attorney Howard L. Doyle said today.

Doyle said subpenas had been withheld until after conferences next week with O. John Rogge, assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division, who will come from Washington to supervise the prosecution.

The justice department in Washington announced that grand juries in Springfield, St. Louis, and Des Moines would investigate "information" that the Illinois-Iowa Power company, Union Electric company, and Missouri Power and Light company used a secret slush fund "to make contributions to candidates for election to federal and state offices." The companies are subsidiaries of the big North American holding company system.

The 23 man grand jury will be impaneled here next Monday, but consideration of the utilities company case will not begin until Aug. 26, Doyle said.

JULY SHIPMENTS OF U. S. CURRENCY ABROAD SMALL

New York, Aug. 9 [Special].—Banks in the United States, chiefly those in Wall street, shipped a total of $1,600,000 in United States currency abroad in July, according to figures made available today by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. This represented the smallest monthly volume since the end of 1938, except for September, 1939, when the outbreak of war in Europe temporarily disorganized shipping facilities.

At present the blockades imposed by England and by the axis powers have made transportation of currency to Europe difficult and hazardous. Of the total shipments in July, only $550,000 went to Europe, all of it to Portugal where, presumably, it was redistributed. Other shipments abroad in July included $500,000 to Cuba, $300,000 to the Dominican republic, $100,000 to Canada. The balance was widely scattered, chiefly to South America.

WESTERN UNION LOSES FIGHT FOR EMPLOYE GROUP

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals ordered the dissolution today of the Association of Western Union employes, an independent union, on the ground that it was company-dominated, in violation of the national labor relations act.

Upholding a National Labor Relations board ruling to the same effect, the court said that the association and the company entered into an agreement which contained a stipulation that was practically a disclaimer of the employes' right to strike. The court said the labor board's finding was "supported by substantial evidence."

The American Communications association [C. I. O.] filed original charges with the N.L.R.B.

Plan 1,500 Mile Texas to N. Y. Gas Pipe Line

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 [Special.]—Application for permission to construct a pipe line, 1,500 miles long and costing 80 million dollars, to bring natural gas from Texas to New York was filed today with the federal power commission by the Reserve Gas Pipe Line company, of Dallas. Financing the undertaking has been arranged with Glore, Forgan & Co., of Chicago and New York, the company announced.

Starting at a point near the border of Texas and Louisiana, the proposed pipe line would pass thru Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolinia, Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey into New York. Natural gas could be distributed via the pipe line to 14,500,000 inhabitants of the north Atlantic seaboard.

Statement on Financing.

"The applicant proposes to finance the construction of the pipeline and other facilities, including compressor stations, thru the issuance and sale, either public or private, of such securities as may be requisite in such amounts as may hereafter be determined," according to the power commission.

As for reasons for granting the certificate applied for, the applicant states that the construction of the proposed facilities will materially aid in carrying forward the program of national defense; that for the first time the vast natural gas reserves of the state of Texas will be available to heavily populated areas on the Atlantic seaboard, and that ultimate consumers will be enabled to purchase natural gas at rates less than those prevailing for existing gas service in the territory to be served. The source of supply, it is stated, will be the gulf coast region of Texas.

Method of Distribution.

The applicant does not propose to sell gas from its pipeline system at retail. It will sell the gas to distribution companies for their own use and for resale to the public. Surplus gas would be marketed to consumers.

Rate schedules and forms of contract have not been finally determined. These details will be given to the commission, either by amendment to the application or thru testimony at a hearing on the application.

Rayonier Inc. Arranges Bank Loan of $6,500,000

New York, Aug. 9 [Special].—An agreement made on June 29 between Rayonier Inc. and the Chase National bank, Bank of the Manhattan company, and Wells Fargo bank and Union Trust company, San Francisco, for a loan of $6,500,000 bearing interest of 2½ to 2¾ per cent on a note maturing on Aug. 1, 1941, to Feb. 1, 1947, in semiannual installments, was disclosed today.

BUSINESS BOOKS

"Money and Banking, 1939-'40." Volume 1. Monetary Review. [League of Nations. $0.75.]

This year's review, published by the economic intelligence service of the league of nations, deals with the various government measures adopted since the outbreak of war last September to control exchanges and to mobilize foreign assets, to meet the abnormal demand for liquid resources in general, and to meet expanded loan requirements.

The study examines the influence of these factors on monetary supply and credit costs. The review opens with a survey of recent exchange rate movements and analyzes wartime restrictions on foreign payments and capital transfers. In connection with the problem of liquidity in war, the review discusses such subjects as stock exchange and banking regulations, moratoria and special credits, and new currency issues.

There is a chapter on war finance and the money market describing government borrowing in different countries. The resultant growth in the volume of currency and credit is presented, and significant movements in stock prices, discount rates, and bond yields are emphasized. Recent currency measures in Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Danzig are summarized in a supplement. A detailed appendix assembles international monetary statistics.

CROP ESTIMATE INDICATES VAST WHEAT SUPPLY

Corn Figure Cut 167 Million Bushels.

The United States and Canada will have a tremendous wheat supply of 1,758,000,000 bushels at the close of the current season, it was estimated yesterday on the basis of monthly crop forecasts by the department of agriculture and the Dominion bureau of statistics.

In announcing the August crop estimate, the department of agriculture also indicated that the United States corn crop has been cut 167,752,000 bushels thru drouth damage and other unfavorable conditions in the last month.

The estimate on the total of United States wheat was 760,623,000 bushels, or a gain of 31,979,000 bushels over the estimate made a month ago. The estimate for corn was 2,248,246,000 bushels, against a forecast of 2,415,998,000 bushels a month ago.

Canadian Prospects Reduced.

The Dominion statistics bureau reported that the condition of the Canadian spring wheat crop on Aug. 1 was 87 per cent of the long-time average yield per acre, compared with the 92 per cent indicated a month ago and 89 per cent last year. No forecast was made of the probable Canadian production, but Chicago grain statisticians said the figures indicated a yield of about 400,000,000 bushels in the three western provinces.

The indicated increase in the United States crop is augmented by a carryover which, according to department of agriculture estimates, will make a total United States supply of 1,045,000,000 bushels of wheat available for the 1940-'41 season, or 36,000,000 bushels more than last year. On the basis of these figures and supplemental reports, the statisticians predicted the huge store of wheat for North America.

The predicted available supply of 1,758,000,000 bushels is more than double the normal domestic requirements of the United States and Canada, and is a figure believed to have been equaled seldom, if at all. The wheat supply available in 1939-'40 season was 1,601,000,000 bushels.

Part of Market Cut Off.

The wheat requirements of importing nations normally total about 550,000,000 to 600,000,000 bushels a year, of which Great Britain takes about one-third. As a result of the war, however, North America was cut off from its European markets. Assuming the continuance of the war and the effectiveness of the British blockade, the United States and Canada will be faced with the serious problem of what to do with so much wheat, grain men said.

A recent survey disclosed that Canada's grain storage facilities were taxed to the limit and some was being stored in the United States. Some observers predict that United States storage space may prove inadequate unless an outlet is found.

The current United States wheat forecast compares with the 1939 yield of 754,971,000 bushels and an average production in the 1929-'38 ten year period of 754,685,000 bushels.

Winter Crop Gains Most.

The largest increase in the wheat forecast was in winter wheat, with an estimate of 555,839,000, compared with an estimate of 523,990,000 a month ago. The latest indication, however, is somewhat below last year's production and the 10 year average.

All spring wheat this year was figured by the department at 204,784,000 bushels, almost unchanged from a month ago, but higher than the 191,540,000 bushel crop of last year and the 183,619,000 bushel 10 year average. Durum wheat was estimated at 34,179,000 bushels, somewhat lower than last month's forecast.

Corn Figures Compared.

The new corn crop forecast of 2,248,246,000 bushels compared with a yield of 2,619,137,000 bushels last year and average 10 year production of 2,299,342,000 bushels. While the estimate indicates that this season's corn crop will be short of last year's yield, the decline would be partly offset by an expected increase of 100,000,000 bushels in the quantity that will be on hand by Oct. 1, the end of the crop year.

The government's forecast of oat production was 1,121,619,000 bushels, compared with 1,031,622,000 predicted last month and the 1939 yield of 937,215,000 bushels. A potato crop of 374,314,000 bushels was predicted. This compares with the July forecast of 371,263,000 and last year's crop of 364,016,000 bushels.

Indicated United States supplies of leading grain for the 1940-'41 season and the preceding year, as indicated by the department of agriculture in millions of bushels follow:

	Crop.	Carryover.	Total Supply '40-'41.	Total Supply '39-'40.
Wheat ..	761	284	1,045	1,009
Corn ...	2,248	650	2,898	3,192
Oats	1,122	147	1,269	1,130
Barley .	290	59	349	337

Soy Beans 79% of Normal.

The condition of the soy bean crop Aug. 1 was 79 per cent of normal but slightly above the 1929-'38 average of 76 per cent, the department reported.

Conditions were said to vary greatly, particularly in the north central states where prospects were generally much less favorable than a year ago.

The board said the crop was later than usual in much of the north central region because of wet weather at planting time, while in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois high temperatures and light precipitation the last half of July delayed growth and caused some crop damage.

AUTO INDUSTRY IS MONTH EARLY ON ITS NEW MODELS

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The automobile industry is getting into production on its new models a month earlier than in 1939. Invitations have been issued by several manufacturers for trade previews of 1941 models to be held in the next two or three weeks.

The government's defense program is responsible for moving up the start of the 1941 production year. Manufacturers placed orders for steel and other supplies early to avoid possible conflict with "must" orders from the government later on in the year. Orders from the automobile manufacturers will be an increasingly important factor in steel mill operations in the next few weeks. It now appears certain that the usual seasonal decline in steel operations will not occur this summer.

The cars that will be shown at the trade previews in the next two weeks will be off the regular assembly line, not specially assembled jobs for show purposes.

Well launched on production of its 1941 line, the industry expects to be in a position to meet any demands that may be made upon it under the defense program without disrupting its normal operations.

The most important assignment to an automobile manufacturer under the defense program to date was the Rolls-Royce engine contract that went to Packard.

The Chevrolet and Oldsmobile divisions of General Motors will swing into production Monday on 1941 models. Within 10 days Chevrolet expects to be working two full shifts. Some of the workers in the motor assembly plants are back on the job and others will be added rapidly.

This week's output of automobiles in American and Canadian factories is expected to mark the low point of the year. Output is estimated by the Ward agency at less than 12,000 vehicles. In the corresponding week last year output exceeded 26,000 units, the low point of production not being reached until later in August.

The Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company is prepared to go into mass production of military tanks when and if it gets the signal from the government. Pullman-Standard is the largest manufacturer of railroad cars in the country. It has the equipment necessary to go into production of tanks on short notice. The largest tank order so far awarded went to the American Car and Foundry company, a competitor of Pullman.

The $7,750,000 freight car order announced by the Southern Pacific is the most recent of a number of large railroad equipment orders that have come out in the last few weeks. For the sum appropriated Southern Pacific will get 2,350 new freight cars. It will build 190 of these cars in its own shops and get the others from outside manufacturers. The latest purchase brings to $12,000,000 the amount that the road has spent or appropriated for new equipment since Jan. 1. Equipment manufacturers believe that more railroad orders are on the way.

STORES' SALES GAIN IN WEEK IN CHICAGO AREA

Department store trade in the seventh [Chicago] federal reserve district expanded more than 15 per cent last week over the preceding week and was the best since the last week in June, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday. The gain was described as seasonal.

Sales in the district increased 6.4 per cent over the corresponding week last year. Chicago sales were up only 0.9 per cent but other cities in the district showed sizeable gains. Indianapolis sales increased 15.4 per cent, Detroit 13.1 per cent and Milwaukee 8.3 per cent above the corresponding week in 1939. Sales in the entire United States increased 5 per cent.

Sales expanded 7.7 per cent in the last four weeks as compared with the corresponding period last year, while Chicago trade increased 6 per cent. For the calendar month of July, district sales increased 8.6 per cent. Sales in the first seven months of 1940 rose 6.4 per cent above a year ago.

BRITAIN REPORTS ALL STEEL MILLS ON 7 DAY BASIS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 [Special].—Every steel plant in the United Kingdom is working seven days a week with working hours lengthened to expedite orders, a report from London to the department of commerce stated today.

The British government's system of steel allocation is working smoothly, eliminating misdirection of supply, the report said, altho Germany's conquest of the continent has cut by approximately one-half the normal iron ore imports. Supplies were said to be still arriving from North Africa and Sierra Leone, West Africa, to complement shipments from other sources.

British authorities said that if all foreign sources are cut off the deficiencies could be made up by imports of finished steel from the United States. American deliveries are coming in good volume now, they said, and are helping to make up for the loss of Belgian supplies.

Egg Futures at Highest Price Level in 2 Weeks

Egg futures advanced 0.15 to 0.20 cent a dozen yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange with closing prices the highest in the last two weeks, Octobers finished at 18.80 cents.

FIRST NATIONAL VOTES DIVIDEND IN UTILITY STOCK

Middle West Shares to Be Distributed.

Directors of the First National bank of Chicago yesterday ordered the disbursement of a special dividend to the stockholders in the form of one share of the Middle West corporation for each share of First National stock held. Middle West's stock closed yesterday at $6 a share—up 12½ cents from Thursday's close—so the distribution on a basis of yesterday's value would total $1,800,000.

Edward E. Brown.

The special dividend is payable Sept. 3 to stockholders of record at the close of business on Aug. 23.

Edward E. Brown, president of the bank, said that the stock to be distributed is a part of a total holding of 506,978 shares of Middle West now owned by the bank. Almost the entire holding was acquired in settlement of claims against the old Middle West Utilities company—one of the major units in the former Samuel Insull utility empire—at the time of its reorganization. The rest was acquired in satisfaction of other debts due the bank.

Cause of Distribution.

Under the public utility holding company act of 1935, Brown said, the holder of more than 10 per cent of the stock of a utility company is defined as a holding company subject to the jurisdiction of the Securities and Exchange commission. As the utility company has 3,308,355 shares of common stock outstanding the bank's holding would be well in excess of 10 per cent.

Altho the commission has in the past granted exemptions from the holding company provisions in the cases of banks which, like the First National, acquired their stock in settlement of debts, the First National's directors believed it desirable that its holdings of Middle West stock be reduced. The holding company act provides for certain penalties with respect to corporate relationships which the commission might enforce against a bank occupying the position of a holding company.

Sale Up To Stockholders.

Brown said that in view of the position of the security markets, which makes it impossible at this time, in the opinion of the bank, to sell such a large block of shares at its intrinsic value, the directors decided to declare the special dividend. The stockholders will decide for themselves whether they wish to hold the stock or sell it at the market.

On a basis of yesterday's close the value of the rest of the stock remaining in the bank's hands is $1,241,868.

Brown said that the bank's surplus and undivided profits will not be affected by this dividend because an amount, equivalent to the cost to the bank of the 300,000 shares, has been transferred from reserves to undivided profits.

AMEND IMPORT CONTROL RULES ON SECURITIES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 [Special].—The treasury department's import control restrictions on securities have been amended to permit imported securities to be forwarded to commercial banks pending identification of their owners. The securities will remain blocked in the commercial banks at least until ownership is established.

Heretofore, all imported securities were held in federal reserve banks pending a positive showing that no interest in them was held in any European country whose American accounts have been frozen.

Treasury officials explained that there has been a heavy accumulation of these securities in federal reserve bank vaults and that the amended order will permit the securities to be forwarded to the commercial bank of destination for safekeeping and servicing altho the status of the securities will not be changed.

The treasury amended its regulations so that Americans now in invaded countries may use any wealth they have in the United States, provided they come home. Under previous orders such wealth was "frozen."

19 Oil Companies, Trade Association Are Fined

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 9 (AP).—Nineteen independent oil companies and a trade association entered pleas of no contest in United States district court today to charges of violating the antitrust act. Judge Paul J. McCormick imposed fines of $1,000 or $1,500 on each of the companies and a fine of $4,500 on the Independent Refiners' Association of California. The concerns were indicted on charges of violating the antitrust act by fixing gasoline prices on the Pacific coast.

U. S. Engineer Office 816 U. S. Court House & Custom House, St. Louis, Mo. Sealed bids for placing about 230,000 cu. yds. of earthwork in rebuilding levees in the East Side Levee & Sanitary District, Madison and St. Clair Counties, Ill., on the Mississippi River, received until 10:30 A. M., August 13, 1940. Further information on application.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—The stock market managed a selective rally today after failing to make any progress in the five preceding sessions.

Steels led an advance in the forenoon. Motors, aircrafts, and specialties then stepped out in front. Many morning climbers slipped after midday but a small assortment finished near the top. Volume was the largest in the first hour, dwindling substantially thereafter as prices of some issues wavered. Activity again picked up a little on the final lap.

Because Allied Chemical and Eastman Kodak jumped 4 points each on a small turnover, the Associated Press average of 60 issues was up 0.4 of a point at 42.8. Advances, on the whole, ranged from fractions to around a point. Transfers of 308,390 shares compared with 206,390 the day before.

The day's upward movement was attributed by brokers mainly to the idea held by some traders that the market was due for a comeback because of the substantial drying up of offerings.

Motors exhibited strength despite a sharp drop in this week's output of new cars as a result of shutdowns for model changeovers. Reports of sustained automobile sales and predictions production would begin to mount soon helped prop this group. Steels, utilities, rails, oils, coppers, and mail orders showed only moderate advances at the close.

Baldwin Locomotive and American Car and Foundry came to life on reports these companies were in line for sizable armament contracts besides larger orders for railway equipment. Both retained fractional gains.

In front at the last were Chrysler, General Motors, Allis-Chalmers, United Aircraft, Curtiss-Wright common and "A," du Pont, Johns-Manville, Texas corporation, International Paper and Power common and preferred, Union Carbide, Anaconda, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, Santa Fe, and Western Union.

New York Bonds.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—A long list of rail and industrial bonds today advanced fractions to more than two points in turnover that topped the preceding session by more than $500,000, face value.

Best gains among the carriers were made in the lower priced group as buyers heard talk of expanding traffic possibilities.

Utilities appeared upset by a 4¼ point drop in Portland General Electric 4½s at 65½. Brisk turnover forced the price down in the wake of news that payment of more than $4,500,000 had been asked of the company by a New York bank which claimed a default on note payments due last May.

In the foreign dollar list Belgium 6s bounced 14 points to 54 on sale of a single bond. Others higher were Finland 6s, Italy 7s, Japan 6½s, Milan 6½s, Brazil 6½s, and Argentine February 4s of '72.

United States government loans were quiet at declines ranging to 9-32d point.

Chicago Stocks.

Volume and prices both moved upward on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. The turnover was 15,000 shares. Mickelberry's Food Products established a new high price for the year, closing at 4½, up ¼. Aviation and Transportation, the volume leader, finished unchanged at 2½.

Bank Stocks.

First National shares advanced 5 points yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Chicago Title and City National gained a point each. Other leading issues were unchanged.

MAJESTIC RADIO TO START WORK ON 1941 MODELS

Reorganization Decree Is Signed by Judge.

Work on four new 1941 radio models will be started immediately by the Majestic Radio and Television corporation, it was announced yesterday after Federal Judge William H. Holly signed the final decree in the company's reorganization.

With $100,000 of new working capital obtained thru the sale of debentures and with a substantial part of its old inventory sold during court trusteeship, the reorganized corporation is "looking forward to a profitable year," Leo T. Norville, the company's attorney, said.

Assets of the company were formally turned over to the new president, Walter Glen Scott, by Claude A. Roth, the trustee who had been appointed by the court last October. Scott was a former director of the old company and at one time was an engineer for the National Union Radio corporation. The trustee was discharged.

Upton Is Secretary-Treasurer.

Elmer C. Upton, assistant secretary-treasurer of the Balaban & Katz corporation, is the secretary-treasurer of the new Majestic enterprise.

The voluntary reorganization of the radio company was instituted last Oct. 24 when it was unable to obtain adequate working capital. The action was precipitated when Walter P. Chrysler Jr. of the automobile family and Allied International Investing corporation failed to purchase 300,000 shares of Majestic stock under options.

Of more than $1,270,000 in debts at the time, the company repaid $380,000 to a bank and a finance company. The rest of the creditors received stock in the new company.

Authorized Capitalization.

Authorized capitalization of the new company consists of 80,000 shares of no par preferred stock, 1,500,000 shares of 1 cent par common stock and $165,000 in 5 per cent debentures maturing in ten years. The debentures have been underwritten by Allied International, Automatic Products corporation, and Allen B. Dumont Laboratories, Inc., for a combined fee of 82,500 shares.

The company's factory and offices are at 2600 West 50th street.

EXEMPTION CASE PARTICULARS ARE REFUSED BY SEC

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission rejected a request of six New York investment houses today for a "bill of particulars" in proceedings to determine whether they should be declared holding companies. It ordered the hearings to proceed.

The commission contends that the companies exercise such controling influence over the $850,000,000 Standard Power and Light corporation system that they should be made subject to the holding company act.

The commission houses were Blair & Co., Inc.; Schroder, Rockefeller & Co., Inc.; Emanuel & Co.; A. C. Allyn & Co., Inc.; W. C. Langley & Co., and Granbery, Marache & Lord.

They asserted that a tentative commission order declaring them subject to the act was too vague and indefinite and that failure to give a bill of particulars would be denial of due process.

ILLINOIS GENERAL REVENUE FUND SURPLUS LARGER

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 9 (AP).—The state's general revenue fund surplus was boosted to $13,359,280 during July by seasonal increases in collection of insurance fees and liquor taxes, State Treasurer Louie E. Lewis reported today. The fund increased $3,965,831 over the June balance of $9,393,457.

Finance department officials said the balance probably would decline this month, but said they expected the surplus to remain until the legislature meets in January, when additional funds may have to be appropriated.

WOLOCK & BAUER STOCK, FIXTURES WILL BE SOLD

Creditors of Wolock & Bauer, operator of two loop women's shoe stores, have appointed a trustee who will open bids today from Chicago department stores for the purchase of the stock. Fixtures owned by the 27 year old firm will be sold at auction.

M. J. Rosman, the trustee, said bidders will be notified of the results and given a chance to raise their bids. The two stores were at 2 North Michigan avenue and 8 East Randolph street.

States and Cities to Offer $11,769,206 of New Loans

New York, Aug. 9 [Special].—New issues of bonds and notes aggregating $11,769,206 will be offered for sale next week thru competitive sealed bidding by 45 states and municipalities thruout the country. Four Texas local housing authorities will consider bids Tuesday on temporary loan notes aggregating $7,800,000. The largest of which is an issue of $5,350,000 for the San Antonio Housing authority.

Investing Firm's Asset Value Higher in July

The Railway and Light Securities company, Boston investing company, reported yesterday that its assets as of July 31 were equal to $16.33 per common share compared with $15.02 on June 30, 1940, and $19.45 July 31, 1939. On the preferred shares asset value was said to be $226.08 on July 31, compared with $215.95 on June 30 and $250.12 on July 31, 1939.

1,000 SHIPS CARRYING SUPPLIES TO BRITISH, SAYS PURCHASING AID

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—England still has plenty of shipping to transport war purchases from the United States despite intensified German air and sea attacks on her supply lines, a spokesman for the British purchasing commission said today.

More than 1,000 vessels, he said, are carrying supplies from North America to the British Isles.

Observing that England took over many ships from the Norwegian, French, Danish, and Netherlands merchant marines after the invasion of those countries, the spokesman asserted the British carrying fleet is larger than at the outset of the war.

He estimated British war orders, together with contracts taken over from the French in the United States, now total between 2 and 2½ billion dollars, with aircraft purchases accounting for half the total.

Out of some 11,000 airplanes ordered in America, he revealed, approximately 2,900 have been delivered for shipment to England.

25 CENT SPECIAL DIVIDEND VOTED BY DRUG CHAIN

Arrears on Preferred Cut by Thermoid.

Peoples Drug Stores, Inc., which operates a chain in the east, yesterday declared a special dividend of 25 cents and an interim dividend of 25 cents on common stock. Both are payable Oct. 1 to holders of record Sept. 9. The company paid an initial 25 cent dividend and a special of the same amount on the new $5 par stock, July 1.

Reducing the arrears 25 cents to $1.75, Thermoid company authorized a dividend of $1 on the $3 convertible preferred stock, payable Sept. 16 to holders of record Aug. 30. The company is one of the largest manufacturers of automobile brake lining.

Votes Four Dividends.

Directors of the Telephone Bond and Share company, a holding company, announced a dividend of 56 cents a share on the 7 per cent first preferred stock and 24 cents on the $3 first preferred. Both, which will apply on accumulations, are payable Aug. 21 to holders of record Aug. 8.

The board also declared another dividend of 28 cents on the 7 per cent preferred and one of 12 cents on the $3 preferred, payable Sept. 14 to stock of record Aug. 31. The arrears July 15, 1940, amounted to $51.52 and $28.08, respectively.

An interim dividend of 60 cents was announced by the Standard Oil Company of Kansas, payable Sept. 16 to holders of record Sept. 6. The company paid the same amount May 4 and June 26.

1939 Tax Anticipation Warrants to Be Redeemed

R. B. Upham, city controler, yesterday called for payment Aug. 15 of Chicago tax anticipation warrants of the 1939 levy totaling $220,000. The numbers called are public library—L 709 and 710, $50,000; Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium — M 37A1 to 38A1, $50,000, and relief fund—R 546 to 569, $120,000.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Top grades of hogs and light cuts of pork continued to rise at the stock yards yesterday. Best light loins soared to $20 a hundred pounds, a new high point for the season, while the $6.85 top for hogs, up 10 cents for the day, was within 15 cents of the 1940 peak. Only two days in the last 11 months had a higher hog top.

Advances in the hog market, however, were confined to top grades. These ruled strong to 10 cents higher, while other were draggy and weak to 10 cents lower. The day's average remained unchanged, at $6.20.

Slaughtering of hogs continued small thruout the nation as farmers further reduced their shipments to market yesterday.

Lamb prices soared 25 to 40 cents as buyers scrambled for the scant supply.

Only 1,000 cattle arrived. A few steers and yearlings in the run sold quickly at firm rates. Steady prices were paid for most beef cows, heifers, and calves.

[All prices are in dollars per 100 pounds.]

ORDNANCE BUYING SINCE JULY 1ST IS 268 MILLIONS

Truck Manufacturers Get Big Orders.

Contracts let for ordnance since the start of the federal fiscal year on July 1 have totaled $268,370,676, the war department announced yesterday. This amount for rearmament is being pumped into industries in all parts of the nation.

Among the industries getting immediate benefit from the defense program, according to the war department, have been the motor truck manufacturers which in the last two weeks have received orders for 29,550 units costing a total of more than $41,000,000.

Chicago Company Gets Order.

One Chicago company, the Diamond T Truck company, received an order for 666 four ton trucks. Others sharing in the orders have been Fargo Motor corporation, Detroit, [a Chrysler division] 13,556 trucks of half ton capacity; Chevrolet division of General Motors, 7,883 trucks of 1½ ton capacity; Yellow Truck and Manufacturing, Pontiac, 7,031 units of 2½ ton capacity, and the Corbitt company, Anderson, North Carolina, 202 units of 6 ton capacity.

The first of the trucks are scheduled to be delivered early in September.

Among the various war department orders announced yesterday were the following: International Shoe company, St. Louis, service shoes, $1,121,049, and General Machinery corporation, Hamilton, O., lathes, $172,500.

The national defense advisory commission announced that it had cleared a contract to the Western Electric company, Kearney, N. J., for communications equipment, totaling $6,328,624.

Other Industrial Contracts.

Among the civilian industrial contracts was one let by the Magnolia Petroleum company to the Williams Brothers corporation, Tulsa, for a 200 mile 4½ inch welded gasoline pipeline from Magnolia's Fort Worth refinery to Oklahoma City.

John Morrell & Co., Ottumwa, Ia., packer, let a contract to the Stark Building company, Cedar Rapids, for the construction of a six story manufacturing building equipped with railroad and truck loading docks at its Ottumwa plant. The new building will be used for meat processing, sausage manufacture, hanging of smoked meat, storage, and shipping.

The J. G. Brill company has received an order from the Honolulu Rapid Transit company for 60 new 44 passenger trolley coaches.

NEW YORK CLEARING HOUSE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP).—The weekly statement of the New York Clearing house today showed: Total surplus and undivided profits unchanged at $932,664,800. Total net demand deposits [average] decreased $136,805,000. Time deposits [average] increased $10,378,000. Clearings week ending today, $2,743,819,112. Clearings week ending Aug. 2, $2,959,647,689.

OPTICAL GOODS.

I saw the report that Bausch & Lomb has received an army order for fire control instruments. I would like some financial data on the company and its stock.—H. L. F.

Answer: Bausch & Lomb Optical company holds a prominent position as a manufacturer of optical goods and scientific instruments. Among the company's 3,000 different types of optical instruments are microscopes, binoculars, telescopes, range finders, and other instruments for naval and military use.

The company has a small funded debt of $10,000. Capital stock comprises 49,940 shares of 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock of $100 par value, and 410,240 shares of $10 par common stock.

Consolidated net income, earnings per common share, and dividends per common share in recent years follow:

	Net income	Earned per com. share	Dividends per com. share
1937	$1,087,992	$2.04	$8.00
1938	482,784	0.57	*0.50
1939	1,387,357	2.77	1.50

*After 6 for 1 split in December, 1937.

Quarterly dividends of 25 cents each were paid April and July 1 this year on the common stock. Regular quarterly dividends are being distributed on the preferred stock.

Net income in the first half of 1940 was $767,285, equal after preferred dividends to $1.55 a common share. Net income in the first quarter of 1939 was $554,743 or $1.05 a share.

ATLAS BREWING.

Is the Atlas Brewing company still operating or is it bankrupt? If it is still a going concern what have been its earnings?—J. S.

Answer: Atlas Brewing company was reorganized early in 1939 as a result of federal bankruptcy proceedings started in 1937. The company operates a large brewery in Chicago with a capacity of 300,000 barrels of beer a year.

The company has outstanding 311,650 shares of $3 par capital stock and funded debt of $199,485. No dividend has been paid on the stock since 1933 and none can be paid until $159,485 in debentures is retired.

Earnings statements were omitted while the company was in reorganization. The company reported that for 1939 net sales amounted to $1,368,611 and net income to $146,240 or 47 cents a share.

PUBLIC SALES OF NEW LOANS GAIN IN WEEK

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—Public offerings of new securities increased during the week ended yesterday to $39,562,031 from $30,676,079 in the preceding week, Poor's Publishing company reported today. The total, however, was far below offerings of $171,138,500 in the corresponding period a year ago.

Of the week's new issues, 86 per cent represented funds for new capital purposes, a relatively large percentage, but almost all of the offerings were municipal securities. Corporate financing was at a low ebb for the third successive week. Comparisons follow:

	This week.	Prev. week.	Year ago.
Munic.	$36,190,031	$17,896,080	$ 2,165,500
Pub U.	.....	.....	142,475,000

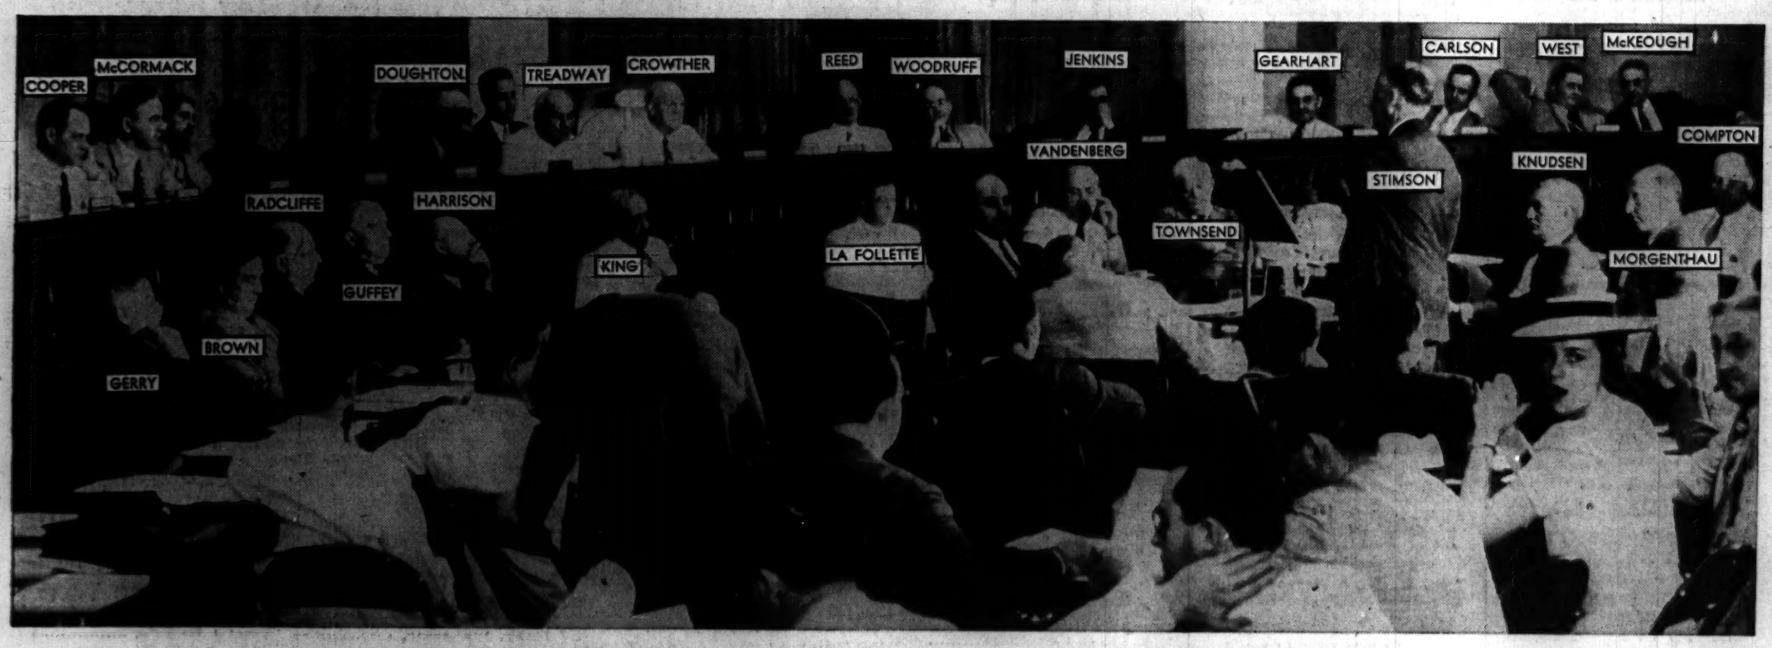
Stimson Says Army Plane Buying Program Has Bogged Down—Court Officer Sees Boy in "I Am" Custody Suit



Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson testifying before joint congressional tax hearing in Washington yesterday. In background are members of house ways and means committee. In front of rostrum are members of senate finance committee. Others who appeared were William S. Knudsen, production co-ordinator on national defense commission; Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, and Assistant Secretary of Navy Lewis Compton.
